Item 2.06. Material Impairments.

In connection with a review of the potential impact on the carrying values of its long-lived assets within its Services segment from, among other things, the recent trading values of its stock, market conditions and business trends within that segment, on August 7, 2012, Hewlett-Packard Company ( HP ) reached a preliminary conclusion that it expects to record a pre-tax charge for the impairment of goodwill within its Services segment of approximately $8.0 billion in the third quarter of its 2012 fiscal year. HP does not expect the estimated impairment charge to result in any future cash expenditures.

Item 7.01. Regulation FD Disclosure.

On August 8, 2012, HP issued a press release announcing the expected impairment charge discussed under Item 2.06 above, the departure of an executive officer discussed under Item 8.01 below, an updated estimate of the amount of the restructuring charge it expects to record in its third fiscal quarter in connection with the restructuring announced on May 23, 2012, and updates to its earnings per share outlook for that third fiscal quarter. The text of this press release is furnished herewith as Exhibit 99.1. The information in Exhibit 99.1 shall not be deemed filed for purposes of Section 18 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, and shall not be deemed incorporated by reference into any filing under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended.

To supplement HP's historical and forecasted financial results presented on a GAAP basis, HP provides non-GAAP diluted earnings per share. Non-GAAP diluted earnings per share is defined to exclude the effects of any amortization or impairment of purchased intangible assets, impairment of goodwill, restructuring charges and acquisition-related charges recorded during the relevant period. In addition, non-GAAP diluted earnings per share is adjusted by the amount of additional taxes or tax benefit associated with each non-GAAP item. HP's management uses non-GAAP diluted earnings per share for purposes of evaluating and forecasting HP's financial performance. HP believes that providing non-GAAP diluted earnings per share to investors in addition to the related GAAP measure provides investors with greater transparency to the information used by HP's management in its financial and operational decision-making and allows investors to see HP's results through the eyes of management. Non-GAAP diluted earnings per share may have limitations as an analytical tool, and this additional non-GAAP financial information is not meant to be considered in isolation or as a substitute for diluted earnings per share prepared in accordance with GAAP.

Item 8.01. Other Events.

On August 8, 2012, HP announced that Giovanni G. Visentin had ceased serving as HP's Executive Vice President and General Manager, Enterprise Services.
