HYPERFEED TECHNOLOGIES, INC.
NOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS (Unaudited)

(1) BASIS OF PRESENTATION

PRINCIPLES OF CONSOLIDATION: The accompanying interim consolidated financial statements include the accounts of HyperFeed Technologies, Inc. (HyperFeed or the Company) and its subsidiary, PCQuote.com, Inc. (PCQuote), and have been prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America for interim financial information and in conjunction with the rules and regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission. Accordingly, they do not include all of the information and footnotes required by accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America for complete financial statements. The consolidated interim financial statements include all adjustments, including the elimination of all significant intercompany transactions in consolidation, which, in the opinion of management, are necessary in order to make the financial statements not misleading. The amounts indicated as "audited" have been extracted from the Company's December 31, 2000 annual report. For further information, refer to the financial statements and footnotes included in HyperFeed s annual report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2000.

SOFTWARE DEVELOPMENT COSTS: The Company's continuing investment in software development consists primarily of enhancements to its existing Windows-based private network and Internet services, development of new data analysis software and programmer tools designed to afford easy access to its data-feed for data retrieval and analysis purposes, and application of new technology to increase the data volume and delivery speed of its distribution system and network.

Costs associated with the planning and design phase of software development, including coding and testing activities necessary to establish technological feasibility of computer software products to be licensed or otherwise marketed, are charged to research and development as incurred. Once technological feasibility has been determined, costs incurred in the construction phase of software development including coding, testing, and product quality assurance are capitalized.

Amortization commences at the time of capitalization or, in the case of a new service offering, at the time the service becomes available for use. Unamortized capitalized costs determined to be in excess of the net realizable value of the product are expensed at the date of such determination. The accumulated amortization and related software development costs are removed from the respective accounts in the year following full amortization.

The Company's policy is to amortize capitalized software costs by the greater of (a) the ratio that current gross revenue for a product bear to the total of current and anticipated future gross revenue for that product or (b) the straight line method over the remaining estimated economic life of the product including the period being reported on, principally three to five years. The Company assesses the recoverability of its software development costs against estimated future undiscounted cash flows. Given the highly competitive environment and technological changes, it is reasonably possible that those estimates of anticipated future gross revenue, the remaining estimated economic life of the product, or both may be reduced significantly.

Edgar Filing: HYPERFEED TECHNOLOGIES INC - Form 10-Q

FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS: The Company has no financial instruments for which the carrying value materially differs from fair value.

INCOME TAXES: Income taxes are accounted for under the asset and liability method whereby deferred tax assets are recognized for deductible temporary differences and operating loss and tax credit carryforwards and deferred tax liabilities are recognized for taxable temporary differences. Temporary differences are the differences between the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and their tax bases. Deferred tax assets are reduced by a valuation allowance when, in the opinion of management, it is more likely than not that some portion or all of the deferred tax assets will not be realized. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are adjusted for the effects of changes in tax laws and rates on the date of enactment.

REVENUE RECOGNITION: The Company principally derives its revenue from service contracts for the provision of market data only (HyperFeed® license fees), service contracts for the provision of market data together with analytical software (Analytics license fees), and the sale of advertising on its Web site, www.pcquote.com. Revenue from service contracts is recognized ratably over the contract term as the contracted services are rendered. Revenue from the sale of advertising is recognized as the advertising is displayed on the Web site. HyperFeed license fees and Analytics license fees for satellite and landline services are generally billed one month in advance with 30-day payment terms. License fees for Analytics on the Internet are generally paid by credit card within five days prior to the month of service. These and other payments received prior to services being rendered are classified as unearned revenue on the balance sheet. Revenue and the related receivable for advance billings are not reflected in the financial statements. Customers' deposits on service contracts are classified as either current unearned revenue, if the contract expires in one year or less, or non-current unearned revenue, if the contract expiration date is greater than one year.

HyperFeed services primarily consist of the provision of HyperFeed market data and HyperFeed market data with analytics to the business-to-business marketplace, while PCQuote services primarily consist of analytics service, powered by the HyperFeed datafeed, to the consumer marketplace. In addition, PCQuote sells advertising on its Web site. Web advertising revenues are recognized in the period in which the advertising is displayed.

The Company applies the provisions of Statement of Position 97-2, Software Revenue Recognition, , as amended, which specifies the following four criteria that must be met prior to recognizing revenue: (1) persuasive evidence of the existence of an arrangement, (2) delivery, (3) fixed or determinable fee, and (4) probable collection. In addition, revenue earned on software arrangements involving multiple elements is allocated to each element based on the relative fair value of the elements. When applicable, revenue allocated to the Company's software products (including specified upgrades/enhancements) is recognized upon delivery of the products. Revenue allocated to post contract customer support is recognized ratably over the term of the support and revenue allocated to service elements (such as training and installation) is recognized as the services are performed.

(2) NOTES PAYABLE

The Company has a $1,500,000 term loan with a bank, payable in monthly installments of $25,000 plus interest at prime (8.0% at March 31, 2001). The loan is collateralized by substantially all assets of the Company. At March 31, 2001, the outstanding balance was $124,634.

On September 3, 1999, our subsidiary, PCQuote.com, Inc., borrowed $2.0 million from Motorola, Inc. The promissory note bears interest at the prime rate from time to time as announced in the Wall Street Journal (8.0% at March 31, 2001). Payments are due in eight equal installments on a quarterly basis commencing June 30, 2000 through March 31, 2002, subject to early repayment upon the closing of an initial public offering of PCQuote's common stock. At March 31, 2001, the outstanding balance was $1.0 million.

(3) INCOME TAXES

At December 31, 2000, the Company had federal income tax net operating loss carryforwards of approximately $28,175,000 for federal income tax purposes and approximately $26,519,000 for the alternative minimum tax. Approximately $1,058,000 of these net operating losses relates to the exercise of incentive employee stock options and will be credited directly to stockholders' equity when realized. The Company also had research and development credits of $106,000 which will expire in years 2010 to 2011 if not previously utilized. The future utilization of these net operating losses and research and development credits will be limited due to changes in Company ownership. The net operating loss carryforwards will expire, if not previously utilized, as follows: 2001: $1,539,000; 2002: $560,000; 2003: $79,000; 2004: $576,000; 2005: $1,557,000; 2006 $301,000 and thereafter $23,563,000.

(4) SEGMENT INFORMATION

While the Company operates in one industry, financial services, in applying SFAS No. 131, Disclosures about Segments of an Enterprise and Related Information, the Company has identified two segments within which it operates. The parent Company's services are principally in the business-to-business sector, while its subsidiary, PCQuote, operates in the business-to-consumer marketplace. The Company evaluates performance and allocates resources based on operating profitability and growth potential. The accounting policies of the reportable segments are the same as those described in Note 1. Financial information relating to segments for the quarters ended March 31, 2001 and March 31, 2000

PCQuote Introduces Mercenary(TM), a Revolutionary Day-of-Trade-Execution Weapon

On February 28, 2001, PCQuote and HyperFeed announced the release of Mercenary, a real-time, tick-by-tick technical indicator designed for the U.S. equity markets. A technical analysis tool that monitors stock activity, Mercenary identifies trading opportunities and visually depicts a selected equity's momentum. Investors can input a selection of stocks (up to 50 ticker symbols per screen), and at a glance decide whether to buy or sell, or just keep a pulse on a market segment or specific issue's condition.

Mercenary utilizes two modules, Hawkeye and Sniper, to monitor a host of momentum metrics such as price rotation, buy/sell imbalance and money flow. Hawkeye gives an overview of the general health of a list of stocks while Sniper allows the trader to zero in on a specific issue. The two work together to give the user a clear picture of the direction of a stock's momentum and insight on possible trading opportunities.

Edgar Filing: HYPERFEED TECHNOLOGIES INC - Form 10-Q

A Microsoft Windows-based desktop application, Mercenary is powered by real-time HyperFeed market data. Exclusively available to online investors through PCQuote, Mercenary is also available to financial institutions, Web portals and businesses through HyperFeed.

RESULTS OF OPERATIONS:

FOR THE THREE MONTHS ENDED MARCH 31, 2001 AND 2000

Total revenue decreased 10.1% for the first three months of 2001 to $9.8 million from $10.9 million for the comparable period in 2000. Our HyperFeed services posted an increase for the first quarter of 2001 over 2000, however, our PCQuote services posted a decrease for the same period. HyperFeed service revenue increased $2.0 million, or 41.5%, from $4.9 million in 2000 to $6.9 million in 2001. Revenue growth was achieved through increases in analytics subscriptions and datafeed license fees to new and existing customers. Revenue from our PCQuote services decreased $3.1 million, or 51.8%, to $2.9 million for the first three months of 2001 from $6.0 million for the same period in 2000. This decline is principally due to the transition of AB Watley, formerly our largest client, from a private-label version of third-party software through PCQuote to a HyperFeed datafeed only customer.

Direct costs of services decreased 26.3% to $5.5 million for the first quarter of 2001 from $7.5 million in 2000. Principal components of the decrease were royalties and payments to providers of market data, principally attributable to the transition of AB Watley from PCQuote to HyperFeed. Amortization of software development costs decreased 28.0% for the quarter from $652,000 in 2000 to $469,000 in 2001. Gross margin increased 26.0% to $4.2 million for the quarter from $3.4 million for the prior year quarter.

Direct costs associated with HyperFeed services increased from $3.0 million for the quarter ended March 31, 2000 to $3.3 million for the March 31, 2001 quarter, an 8.4% increase. Increases in datafeed operations, directly attributable to the increase in revenue, were offset by decreases in license and exchange fees related to the September 1, 2000 reduction of the fees charged by Nasdaq NMS for professional subscriptions to their data. Amortization of software development costs decreased 7.8% to $348,000 for the 2001 quarter from $377,000 for the 2000 quarter. The resulting gross margin for the first quarter increased to $3.6 million in 2001 from $1.8 million in 2000.

Direct costs associated with PCQuote services decreased to $2.2 million for the 2001 quarter from $4.5 million in the comparable 2000 quarter, a 49.9% decrease. The transfer of AB Watley from PCQuote's private-labeled third-party software to a HyperFeed datafeed client substantially reduced royalty and exchange fees, the principal component of direct costs. Software amortization decreased 55.8% from $274,000 for the 2000 quarter to $121,000 for the 2001 quarter.

Total operating expenses increased slightly to $3.6 million for the first quarter of 2001 from $3.5 million for the comparable 2000 period, a 2.8% increase. Increases in product and market development costs related to the new product marketing campaign were offset by reductions in sales costs and in depreciation and amortization.

Sales costs decreased 14.9% to $918,000 for the first quarter of 2001 as compared to $1.1 million for the same 2000 period. The decrease in sales costs was principally due to lower commission expense, resulting, in part, from a new retail sales commission structure adopted in the third quarter of 2000.

General and administrative expenses remained relatively unchanged at $1.2 million in the first three months of 2001 and 2000.

Product and market development costs increased $284,000, or 34.7%, to $1.1 million for the 2001 quarter from $819,000 for the 2000 quarter. The increase was due to an expansion of our development and marketing efforts for our existing and new services and markets.

LIQUIDITY AND CAPITAL RESOURCES:

Net cash and cash equivalents increased $750,000 from year-end 2000 to $3.3 million at the end of the first quarter of 2001. Expenditures for new equipment were $710,000 for the first three months of 2001 versus $422,000 for the same period in 2000. The increase in expenditures was to support growth in our business, as well as to enhance our existing communications and market data processing infrastructures. Capitalized software costs of $396,000 for the quarter ended March 31, 2001 were $107,000, or 36.8%, higher than the $289,000 recorded for the same period in 2000, principally due to the development of new applications and services to be introduced this year. There were no new direct borrowings during the period, and we repaid $75,000 of the principal balance on our bank term loan and $250,000 on the note payable to Motorola. We received approximately $57,000 in net proceeds from the sale of shares of common stock to employees pursuant to our Employee Stock Purchase Plan and the sale of shares of common stock to employees who exercised options previously granted to them under our 1999 Combined Incentive and Non-Statutory Stock Option Plan.

Working capital (current assets less current liabilities) increased approximately $415,000 to $936,000 for the first quarter of 2001 from $521,000 for the same period in 2000. Earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortization (EBITDA) increased to $1.9 million for the first quarter of 2001 from $1.4 million for the comparable 2000 quarter. We believe our existing capital resources, our ability to access external capital, if necessary, and cash generated from continuing operations are sufficient for working capital purposes.

As we have previously reported, we have explored multiple alternatives that may be available for the purpose of enhancing stockholder value, including a merger, a spin-off or sale of part of our business, a strategic relationship or joint venture with another technology or financial services firm and equity financing. We continue to explore opportunities to enhance stockholder value.
