Item 8.01. Other Events

Last year, the Company announced that it was responding to a Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) informal investigation initiated on January 14, 2004 concerning certain 2003 year-end accounting entries made by employees of one of the its debt collection agency subsidiaries. The Company has cooperated with the SEC and, separately, conducted investigations by its Audit Committee and management. As a result, the Company has learned that on three occasions in 2003, the senior managers of one of its debt collection agency subsidiaries intentionally recorded revenue associated with loan payments made or scheduled to be made in the first few days of a month in the prior month. The Company concluded that these payments were recorded improperly in an attempt to achieve business performance goals and to earn certain bonus compensation. Although the Company determined that the amounts in question were immaterial from a financial point of view, representing revenue of less than $75,000 of the Company s 2003 revenues, the practices involved were inconsistent with Company policies and violated generally accepted accounting principles. In response to the findings of the investigations, the Company took a number of actions, including denying the relevant bonus compensation to the managers involved, requiring the repayment of the majority of a separate bonus paid to the president and chief operating officer of the subsidiary, reversing a planned decision to award certain common stock options to managers of the subsidiary, terminating the chief financial officer of the subsidiary, demoting another manager of the subsidiary, and reprimanding all managers who were involved. In addition, the Company has strengthened the financial controls for the subsidiary and instituted a compliance training program for all employees at newly acquired subsidiaries, which has augmented the Company s other compliance training programs. The SEC staff indicated that it would not recommend any enforcement action against the Company or the subsidiary managers involved.
