Johnson Controls and Tyco to merge

Dear Colleagues,

This morning we announced some exciting news: We have entered into a definitive merger agreement with global fire and security provider, Tyco, under which Johnson Controls and Tyco will combine to become the global leader in building products and technology, integrated solutions and energy storage. For reference, the full press release is available here.

The combination of Johnson Controls and Tyco's buildings platform creates immediate opportunities for near-term growth by bringing together best-in-class product, installation and service capabilities across the energy storage, fire, security, controls and HVAC markets. It also accelerates our innovation strategy and ability to capture opportunities in a fast-growing market for smart buildings, campuses and cities so we can prepare for the connected and digitized world of the future.

Edgar Filing: JOHNSON CONTROLS INC - Form 425

This is an exciting time for Johnson Controls, and I look forward to sharing more information about this transaction specifically with you at a special global town hall meeting tomorrow, Tuesday, Jan. 26 at 8 a.m. CST. We will also hold a town hall for Building Efficiency employees from 10 a.m. - 11 am CST the same day. You can access dial-in information for the global townhall on myJCI's homepage. Please come with questions, and we will do our best to provide you with answers.

I'd also like to thank everyone for your contributions and engagement as we've successfully managed a tremendous amount of change over the past few years and continue to position Johnson Controls for global growth as a multi-industrial leader. I'm excited about this new journey we are about to embark on, and I hope you are too. I truly believe we have an exciting future ahead of us.

Sincerely,

/s/ Alex Molinaroli
