- b) $338,016 of the convertible loans and advances are due to related parties.

The fair value of the convertible notes and advances at March 31, 2005, and December 31, 2004 is not determinable due to uncertainties relating to the timing and nature of eventual settlement.

c) Emerging Issues Task Force Release Nos. 98-5 and 00-27 state that any embedded beneficial conversion features present in convertible securities should be valued separately at issuance. The embedded beneficial conversion feature should be recognized and measured by allocating a portion of the proceeds equal to the intrinsic value of that feature to additional paid-in capital. That amount should be calculated at the commitment date as the difference between the effective conversion price and the fair value of the common stock or other securities into which the security is convertible, multiplied by the number of shares into which the security is convertible. The Emerging Issues Task Force observed that in certain circumstances, the intrinsic value of the beneficial conversion feature may be greater than the proceeds allocated to the convertible instrument. In those situations, the amount of the discount assigned to the beneficial conversion feature is limited to the amount of the proceeds allocated to the convertible instrument. For convertible instruments that have a stated redemption date (such as term debt) the discount resulting from recording a beneficial conversion option should be accreted from the date of issuance to the stated redemption date of the convertible instrument. In the event of early conversion or default, the remaining discount would be recognized as interest expense during the period in which such early conversion or default occurs.

During the period ending March 31, 2005, the Company recorded a discount on a convertible debenture in the amount of $81,250. This amount has been accreted to interest expense.

In order to finance its acquisitions and/or venture developments the Company may use its preferred or common stock to finance the acquisition or venture development or to raise the necessary capital for acquisition or venture development.

We also may fund our acquisitions or venture developments through the selling of a minority interest in the new acquisitions or venture developments through the sale of up to 49% of the equity or through limited partnerships under a direct investments strategy. This minority interest is hoped to be sold to either individual investors who wish to invest directly into one of our businesses. The Company hopes to establish an internal corporate finance department and external network or syndicate of investment advisors, investment bankers and broker dealers that will raise capital via the direct investments strategy. It is planned that investors under this strategy are planned to receive cash dividends and possibly some capital stock or warrants in the Company.

We believe that this direct investments strategy may enable us to achieve our goals with a hope over the long-term of reducing the potential dilution to our existing shareholders. By raising capital directly in each business we may not have to dilute the existing shareholders of JUPITER to any great extent to grow the business. As our cash producing businesses grow due to the planned implementation and hopeful success of this direct investments strategy we plan to utilize the available cash to pay for operations without having to use stock to pay for large and important operational items item such as staff and consultants.

The result of this is, that as our cash flow may grow as our dilution may slow. More specifically, we have developed comprehensive business and financial plans that result in our development of our businesses that should operate on a cash positive basis and without incurring substantial dilution to stockholders such that the Company can possibly increase its overall valuation substantially. This possible increase in the Company's overall valuation may be accomplished by using the positive cash flow to buy back the Company's common stock from the public float. There is no current plans to implement a stock buy back program, although one is intended over the long-term and will only be implemented based on the success of the foregoing and solely of the discretion of the Company's management and board of directors.

In addition to the above we plan we plan to invite direct investments into the Company to provide funds for general corporate purposes.

CAPITAL REQUIREMENTS

We believe that the Promo Staffing acquisition will require approximately a minimum of $600,000 for the acquisition, plus approximately $100,000 in legal, accounting and administrative expenses. In addition, our the VOXBOX venture development will require a minimum of another $500,000 plus approximately $100,000 in legal, accounting and administrative expenses.. This is a minimum total of approximately $1,300,000 that will be required in the next quarter. In the following two quarters, we plan to execute one or two additional acquisitions or venture developments. We believe that the cost of a second and third acquisition or development project will be approximately a minimum of $1,000,000 each and that approximately another $100,000 minimum each will be required for the same purposes as listed above for the first acquisition or development and for working capital and general corporate purposes. The Company believes it will require approximately $1,000,000 to continue productive development of its live events business unit, including the cost of live event acquisitions or development and their subsequent integration throughout the year of 2005. Thus, we anticipate needing a minimum of $4,500,000 of investment capital during the balance of the fiscal year.

CAPITAL ACQUIRING PLANS

Management plans on initiating a series of securities offerings to raise the investment capital needed to meet our acquisition and development plans. Although we will make efforts to minimize dilution to current shareholders, we may not be able to avoid significant dilution due to many factors, including but not limited to, the closing of financing at lower than the desired market price of the Company's common stock.

JUPITER hopes to secure the financing to satisfy the capital needs for each phase of its implementation plan through the execution of various funding methods, primarily financing through its direct investment strategy, private placement investments or debt financing. JUPITER hopes to achieve this by securing relationships with accredited individual investors, investment bankers, venture capitalists, and/or finance investment advisors that have the experience and relationships to aid JUPITER with its capital raising efforts. The source of the capital may be comprised of a mix of principal shareholders, private investors and venture capital companies.

If needed capital investment for our acquisitions or developments is not available, in whole or in part, we intend to delay the implementation plan regarding our acquisitions or development plans until sufficient investment capital becomes available. We cannot give any assurances that we will raise sufficient investment capital to meet the business plan. In addition to delays to the implementation plan regarding our acquisition or development plans due to insufficiency of investment capital, we may suffer other consequences, including but not limited to the following: We may have to significantly alter the scope of our business plan and subsequent capital requirements; We may have to suspend or discontinue operations of one or more of our business units or; we may have to suspend or discontinue operations of the Company if we become insolvent as a result.

Until planned acquisitions (current and future) and new venture developments begin to produce significant revenues and subsequent positive cash flow, we will be reliant on capital received from private placements, loans, and the exercise of options and warrants. Due to the depressed market for our securities, we may not be able avoid significant dilution to current shareholders. In addition, we expect to continue to retain certain management, staff and consultants, such as legal counsel, and may need to compensate these individuals through the issuance of our common stock as compensation. These stock based compensations may result in significant dilution to current shareholders due to the depressed market for our securities. We also continue to reduce or prevent collection of outstanding vendor debts and accounts with creditors, such as suppliers and consultants, which could result in litigation against the Company. There can be no guarantee that all of these negotiations will be successful and the outcome of these negotiations may include settlements in cash and/or issuance of common stock. These stock based settlements may result in significant dilution to current shareholders due to the depressed market for our securities. We plan on continuing to meet certain of our expenses through the issuance of our shares of common stock, which may cause additional and significant dilution to existing shareholders due to the depressed market for our securities.
