EXPLANATORY NOTE

Citrix Systems, Inc. (the "Company") is filing this Amendment No. 1 to its Form 10-Q for the quarter ended June 30, 2004 (the "2004 Second Quarter 10-Q"), which was originally filed on August 6, 2004, to restate its condensed consolidated balance sheets for the period ended June 30, 2004 and December 31, 2003, its condensed consolidated statements of cash flows for the six months ended June 30, 2004 and 2003 and the related disclosures.

This Amendment No. 1 is being filed to address comments from the staff (the "Staff") of the Securities and Exchange Commission (the "SEC") in connection with the Staff's normal periodic review of the Company's filings. As a result of the review, the Company is restating the accompanying June 30, 2004 and December 31, 2003 condensed consolidated balance sheets to correct an error in the classification of the portion of the Company's cash equivalents and investments that are pledged as collateral under the Company's synthetic lease arrangement, credit default contracts, and interest rate swaps to classify such assets separately as restricted cash equivalents and investments. In its filings with the SEC, the Company has disclosed in narrative form the specific amounts pledged under its synthetic lease arrangement, credit default contracts and interest rate swaps from the inception of each arrangement and is now separately classifying the aggregate amounts pledged as long-term restricted cash equivalents and investments in its condensed consolidated balance sheets. Please refer to Note 1 to the accompanying condensed consolidated financial statements for additional information.

The Company has also made certain balance sheet, income statement and cash flow reclassifications. The Company reclassified investments in auction rate securities that were previously classified as cash equivalents in the accompanying June 30, 2004 and December 31, 2003 condensed consolidated balance sheets to short-term investments. The condensed consolidated statements of cash flows for the six months ended June 30, 2004 and 2003 were adjusted to reflect the impact of the reclassification. The Company also reclassified the amortization of core and product technology previously classified as an operating expense to a component of cost of revenues in the accompanying condensed consolidated income statements. The condensed consolidated statements of income for the three months and six months ended June 30, 2004 and 2003 were adjusted to reflect the impact of this change in classification. Additionally, the Company reclassified certain items in its condensed consolidated statement of cash flows to separately present investing cash flows for available-for-sale investments and held-to-maturity investments and to separately present investing cash flows from sales of investments and maturities of investments. Please refer to Note 1 to the accompanying condensed consolidated financial statements for additional information on the reclassifications.

This Amendment No. 1 does not result in a change in the Company's previously reported revenues, net income, earnings per share, cash flow from operations, total assets, or total cash and investments shown in its condensed consolidated financial statements. Further, except as discussed above, the Company has not modified or updated disclosures presented in the 2004 Second Quarter 10-Q in this Form 10-Q/A, except as required to reflect the effects of the items discussed above. For the convenience of the reader, this Form 10-Q/A, sets forth the complete text of the originally filed 2004 Second Quarter 10-Q rather than just the amended portions thereof. Accordingly, this Form 10-Q/A does not reflect events occurring after the filing of the 2004 Second Quarter 10-Q or modify or update those disclosures affected by subsequent events. Information not affected by these restatements and reclassifications are unchanged and reflects the disclosures made at the time of the original filing of the 2004 Second Quarter 10-Q on August 6, 2004. Events occurring after the filing of the 2004 Second Quarter 10-Q or other disclosures necessary to reflect subsequent events have been or will be addressed in the Company's original Quarterly Reports on Form 10-Q for the quarterly period ending September 30, 2004 or amended Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q/A for such quarterly period which is being filed concurrently with the filing of this Form 10-Q/A and any reports filed with the SEC subsequent to the date of this filing.

This Form 10-Q/A should be read in conjunction with the Company's filings made with the SEC subsequent to the filing of the 2004 Second Quarter 10-Q, including any amendments to those filings. The following items have been amended as a result of the restatements and reclassifications described above:

Notes to Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements (As restated)

(Unaudited)

June 30, 2004

1. BASIS OF PRESENTATION

The Company recently reviewed its financial statement presentation and disclosure in response to comments received from the staff of the Securities and Exchange Commission (the "SEC") in a normal periodic review of the Company's filings. As a result, the Company is restating the accompanying June 30, 2004 and December 31, 2003 condensed consolidated balance sheets to correct an error in the classification of the portion of the Company's cash equivalents and investments pledged as collateral under the Company's synthetic lease arrangement, credit default contracts and interest rate swaps to classify such assets separately as restricted cash equivalents and investments. In its filings with the SEC, the Company has disclosed in narrative form the specific amounts pledged under its synthetic lease arrangement, credit default contracts and interest rate swaps and is now separately classifying the aggregate amounts pledged as long-term restricted cash equivalents and investments in its condensed consolidated balance sheets. The condensed consolidated statements of cash flows for the six months ended June 30, 2004 and 2003 were restated to reflect the impact of the change.

In addition, certain reclassifications of items in the prior periods' financial statements have been made to conform to the current period's presentation. The Company reclassified investments in auction rate securities previously classified as cash equivalents to short-term investments. Also in accordance with Statement of Financial Accounting Standards ("SFAS") No. 95, Statement of Cash Flows, the Company reclassified certain items in its condensed consolidated statements of cash flows to separately present investing cash flows for available-for-sale investments and held-to-maturity investments and to separately present investing cash flows from sales of investments and maturities of investments. The accompanying condensed consolidated balance sheets and statements of cash flows for all periods presented were adjusted to reflect the reclassification of these items.

The Company also reclassified the amortization of core and product technology previously classified as an operating expense to a component of cost of revenues in the accompanying condensed consolidated statements of income.

The changes to the Company's presentation described above do not change the Company's total cash and investments and have no impact on operating cash flows, total assets, net revenues or net income. All such changes have been consistently applied to all periods presented and a comparison of the amounts previously reported to the adjusted amounts presented in this Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q/A (in thousands):

The accompanying unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements have been prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States for interim financial information and with the instructions to Form 10-Q and Rule 10-01 of Regulation S-X. Accordingly, they do not include all of the information and footnotes required by accounting principles generally accepted in the United States for complete financial statements. All adjustments, which, in the opinion of management, are considered necessary for a fair presentation of the results of operations for the periods shown, are of a normal recurring nature and have been reflected in the unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements. The results of operations for the periods presented are not necessarily indicative of the results expected for the full year or for any future period. The information included in these unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements should be read in conjunction with Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations contained in this report and the consolidated financial statements and accompanying notes included in the Citrix Systems, Inc. (the Company) to Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2003, as amended.

2. Significant Accounting Policies

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the amounts reported in the condensed consolidated financial statements and accompanying notes. While the Company believes that such estimates are fair when considered in conjunction with the condensed consolidated financial position and results of operations taken as a whole, the actual amount of such estimates, when known, will vary from these estimates.

Restricted Cash Equivalents and Investments

Restricted cash equivalents and investments at June 30, 2004 and December 31, 2003 include approximately $62.8 million in investment securities and cash equivalents that were pledged as collateral for specified obligations under the Company's synthetic lease arrangement. In addition, at June 30, 2004 and December 31, 2003 approximately $80.3 million and $83.6 million, respectively, in investment securities were pledged as collateral for certain of the Company's credit default contracts and interest rate swaps. The Company maintains the ability to manage the composition of the restricted investments within certain limits and to withdraw and use excess investment earnings from the restricted collateral for operating purposes. For further information, see Notes 8 and 13.

Revenue Recognition

The Company markets and licenses software products primarily through value-added resellers, channel distributors, system integrators and independent software vendors. The Company also separately sells software license updates and services, which include product training, technical support and consulting services, as well as Web-based desktop access services. The Company's software licenses are generally perpetual, and are delivered by means of packaged products and electronically.

The Company's packaged products are typically purchased by medium and small-sized businesses with a minimal number of locations. In these cases, the software license is delivered with the packaged product. Electronic license arrangements are used with more complex multiserver environments typically found in larger business enterprises that deploy the Company's products on a department or enterprise-wide basis, which could require differences in product features and functionality at various customer locations. Once the Company receives a software license agreement and purchase order, the enterprise customer licenses are electronically delivered to the customer with software activation keys that enable the feature configuration ordered by the end-user. Software may be delivered indirectly by a channel distributor, via download from the Company's website or directly to the end-user by the Company.

Revenue is recognized when it is earned. The Company's revenue recognition policies are in compliance with Statement of Position (SOP) 97-2 (as amended by SOP 98-4 and SOP 98-9) and related interpretations, Software Revenue Recognition. In addition, the Company's Online Division recognizes revenue in accordance with Emerging Issues Task Force (EITF) No. 00-3, Application of AICPA Statement of Position 97-2 to Arrangements That Include the Right to Use Software Stored on Another Entity's Hardware. The Company recognizes revenue when all of the following criteria are met: persuasive evidence of the arrangement exists; delivery has occurred and the Company has no remaining obligations; the fee is fixed or determinable; and collectibility is probable. The Company defines these four criteria as follows:

Persuasive evidence of the arrangement exists. The Company recognizes revenue on packaged product upon shipment to distributors and resellers. For packaged product sales, it is the Company's customary practice to require a purchase order from distributors and resellers who have previously negotiated a master packaged product distribution or resale agreement. For enterprise customer license arrangements involving software licenses and software license updates, the Company typically requires a purchase order from the distributor or reseller and an executed software license agreement from the end-user. For Web-based desktop access services, the Company requires the customer or reseller to electronically accept the terms of the on-line service agreement or execute a contract and also submit a purchase order. The Company requires a purchase order and agreement for technical support, product training and consulting services.

Edgar Filing: CITRIX SYSTEMS INC - Form 10-Q/A

Delivery has occurred and the Company has no remaining obligations. The Company's standard delivery method is free-on-board shipping point. Consequently, it considers delivery of packaged product to have occurred when the products are shipped to distributors pursuant to an agreement and purchase order. The Company considers delivery of licenses under electronic licensing agreements to have occurred when the related products are shipped and the end-user has been electronically provided with the licenses that include the activation keys that allow the end-user to take immediate possession of the software. For product training and consulting services, the Company fulfills its obligation when the services are performed. For software license updates, technical support and Web-based desktop access services, the Company assumes that the obligations are satisfied ratably over the respective terms of the agreements, which are typically 12 to 24 months.

The fee is fixed or determinable. In the normal course of business, the Company does not provide customers the right to a refund of any portion of their license fees or extended payment terms. The Company sells software license updates, and services, which includes technical support, product training and consulting services, separately and it determines vendor specific objective evidence ( VSOE ) of fair value by the price charged for each product when sold separately or applicable renewal rates.

Collectibility is probable. The Company determines collectibility on a customer-by-customer basis and generally does not require collateral. The Company typically sells to distributors or resellers for whom there are histories of successful collection. New customers are subject to a credit review process that evaluates the customers' financial position and ultimately their ability to pay. Customers are subject to an ongoing credit review process. If the Company determines from the outset of an arrangement that collectibility is not probable, revenue recognition is deferred until customer payment is received and the other parameters of revenue recognition described above have been achieved. Management's judgment is required in assessing the probability of collection, which is generally based on evaluation of customer specific information, historical experience and economic market conditions.

Net revenues include the following categories: Software Licenses, Software License Updates and Services. Software Licenses primarily represents fees related to the licensing of the MetaFrame products, additional user licenses and management products (such as MetaFrame Presentation Server and MetaFrame Access Suite). These revenues are reflected net of sales allowances and provisions for stock balancing return rights. Software License Updates consists of fees related to the Subscription Advantage program (the Company's terminology for post contract support) that are recognized ratably over the term of the contract, which is typically 12-24 months. Subscription Advantage is an annual renewable program that provides subscribers with automatic delivery of software upgrades, enhancements and maintenance releases when and if they become available during the term of subscription. Services consist primarily of technical support services and Web-based desktop access services revenue recognized ratably over the contract term, revenue from product training and certification, and consulting services revenue related to implementation of the Company's software products, which is recognized as the services are provided.

The Company sells most of its software products bundled with an initial subscription for software license updates that provides the end-user with free enhancements and upgrades to the licensed product on a when and if available basis. Customers may also elect to purchase technical support, product training or consulting services. The Company allocates revenue to software license updates and any other undelivered elements of the arrangement based on VSOE of fair value of each element and such amounts are deferred until the applicable delivery criteria and other revenue recognition criteria described above have been met. The balance of the revenue, net of any discounts inherent in the arrangement, is allocated to the delivered software product using the residual method and recognized at the outset of the arrangement as the software licenses are delivered. If management cannot objectively determine the fair value of each undelivered element based on VSOE, revenue recognition is deferred until all elements are delivered, all services have been performed, or until fair value can be objectively determined.

In the normal course of business, the Company does not permit product returns, but it does provide most of its distributors and value added resellers with stock balancing and price protection rights. Stock balancing rights permit distributors to return products to the Company by the forty-fifth day of the fiscal quarter, subject to ordering an equal dollar amount of the Company's other products prior to the last day of the same fiscal quarter. Price protection rights require that the Company grant retroactive price adjustments for inventories of products held by distributors or resellers if it lowers prices for such products. The Company establishes provisions for estimated returns for stock balancing and price protection rights, as well as other sales allowances, concurrently with the recognition of revenue. The provisions are established based upon consideration of a variety of factors, including, among other things, recent and historical return rates for specific products and distributors, estimated distributor inventory levels by product, the impact of any new product releases and projected economic conditions. Actual product returns for stock balancing and price protection provisions incurred are, however, dependent upon future events, including the amount of stock balancing activity by distributors and the level of distributor inventories at the time of any price adjustments. The Company continually monitors the factors that influence the pricing of its products and distributor inventory levels and makes adjustments to these provisions when it believes actual returns and other allowances could differ from established reserves. The Company's ability to recognize revenue upon shipment to distributors is predicated on its ability to reliably estimate future stock balancing returns. If actual experience or changes in market condition impairs the Company's ability to estimate returns, it would be required to defer the recognition of revenue until the delivery of the product to the end-user. Allowances for estimated product returns amounted to approximately $2.0 million at June 30, 2004 and $3.0 million at December 31, 2003. The Company has not reduced and has no current plans to reduce its prices for inventory currently held by distributors or resellers.

Edgar Filing: CITRIX SYSTEMS INC - Form 10-Q/A

Accordingly, there were no reserves required for price protection at June 30, 2004 or December 31, 2003. The Company records estimated reductions to revenue for customer programs and incentive offerings including volume-based incentives. If market conditions were to decline, the Company could take actions to increase its customer incentive offerings, which could result in an incremental reduction to revenue at the time the incentive is offered.

Accounting for Stock-Based Compensation

The Company's stock-based compensation program is a broad based, long-term retention program that is intended to attract and reward talented employees and align stockholder and employee interest. At June 30, 2004, the Company had four stock-based employee compensation plans. The number and frequency of stock option grants are based on competitive practices, operating results of the Company, the number of options available for grant under the Company's shareholder approved plans, and other factors. All employees are eligible to participate in the stock option program.

June 30, 2004

SFAS No. 123, Accounting for Stock-Based Compensation, as amended by SFAS No. 148, Accounting for Stock-Based Compensation Transition and Disclosure, defines a fair value method of accounting for issuance of stock options and other equity instruments. Under the fair value method, compensation cost is measured at the grant date based on the fair value of the award and is recognized over the service period, which is usually the vesting period. Pursuant to SFAS No. 123, companies are not required to adopt the fair value method of accounting for employee stock-based transactions. Companies are permitted to account for such transactions by applying the intrinsic value method of accounting under Accounting Principles Board ( APB ) Opinion No. 25, Accounting for Stock Issued to Employees, but are required to disclose in a note to the consolidated financial statements pro forma net income and per share amounts as if a company had applied the methods prescribed by SFAS No. 123.

The Company applies APB Opinion No. 25 and related interpretations in accounting for its plans, stock options granted to employees and non-employee directors and has complied with the disclosure requirements of SFAS No. 148, Accounting for Stock-Based Compensation Transition and Disclosure. Except for non-employee directors, the Company has not granted any options to non-employees. The Company has elected to follow APB Opinion No. 25 because the alternative fair value accounting provided for under SFAS No. 123 requires use of option valuation models, including the Black-Scholes model, that were developed for use with traded options that have no vesting restrictions and are fully transferable, as opposed to employee stock options, which are typically non-transferable and last up to ten years. Currently, management believes there is not one agreed upon option valuation method that is comparable among all reporting companies. Specifically, the Black-Scholes model requires the input of highly subjective assumptions, including assumptions related to the expected stock price volatility over the expected life of the option. Because the Company's stock-based awards to employees have characteristics significantly different from those of traded options and because changes in the subjective input assumptions can materially affect the fair value estimate, in management's opinion, the existing pricing models do not necessarily provide a reliable single measure of the fair value of its stock-based awards to employees. Because the Black-Scholes model is based on statistical expectations, the calculation can result in substantial earnings volatility that may not agree, as to timing or amount, with the actual gain or loss accrued or realized by the option holder.

Had compensation cost for the Company's four stock-based compensation plans been determined based on the fair value on the grant dates for grants under those plans consistent with SFAS No. 123, the Company's cash flows would have remained unchanged, however net income and earnings per share would have been reduced to the pro forma amounts indicated below (in thousands, except per share information):

Basic earnings per share is calculated by dividing income available to shareholders by the weighted-average number of common shares outstanding during each period. Diluted earnings per share is computed using the weighted average number of common and dilutive common share equivalents outstanding during the period. Dilutive common share equivalents consist of shares issuable upon the exercise of stock options (calculated using the treasury stock method). Certain shares under the Company's stock-based compensation programs, and common stock potentially issuable upon conversion of the Company's convertible subordinated debentures were excluded from the computation of diluted earnings per share due to their anti-dilutive effect for the respective periods.

The following table sets forth the computation of basic and diluted earnings per share (in thousands, except per share information):

	Three Months Ended		Six Months Ended

Anti-dilutive weighted shares	32,689	45,083	31,564	46,819

The decrease in anti-dilutive weighted shares for the three and six months ended June 30, 2004 compared to the three and six months ended June 30, 2003 is due to the redemption of the Company's convertible subordinated debentures during March 2004.

4. Acquisition

On February 27, 2004, the Company acquired all of the issued and outstanding capital stock of Expertcity.com, Inc. ( Expertcity ), a market leader in Web-based desktop access, as well as a leader in Web-based training and customer assistance products.

The consideration for this transaction was approximately $230.6 million, comprised of approximately $112.6 million in cash and approximately 5.6 million shares of the Company's common stock valued at approximately $118.0 million. In addition to the purchase price, there were direct transaction costs associated with the merger of approximately $4.4 million. The merger agreement provides for additional purchase price consideration of up to approximately 0.6 million shares of Citrix common stock to be issued to the Expertcity stockholders in the event certain revenue and other financial milestones are achieved by the Expertcity business in 2004. The fair value of the shares issued as additional purchase price consideration, if any, will be based on the market value of the Company's common stock at the date that the shares are earned. Additional purchase price consideration, if any, is expected to be recorded as goodwill.

The results of operations of Expertcity are included in the Company's results of operations beginning after February 27, 2004 and is the Company's new segment, the Citrix Online Division. The following unaudited pro forma information combines the consolidated results of operations of the Company and Expertcity as if the acquisition had occurred at the beginning of fiscal year 2003 (in thousands, except per share data):

Under the purchase method of accounting, the purchase price was allocated to Expertcity's net tangible and intangible assets based on their estimated fair values as of the date of the completion of the acquisition. Independent valuation specialists conducted a valuation in order to assist the Company in determining the fair values of a significant portion of Expertcity's net assets. The work performed by the independent valuation specialists was considered in management's allocation of the purchase price summarized below (in thousands):

	Purchase Price	Asset
	Allocation	Life
Current assets	$ 26,085
Property and equipment	1,998	Various
In-process research and development	18,700
Intangible assets	50,800	3-7 years
Goodwill	161,221	Indefinite
Assets acquired	258,804
Current liabilities	14,019
Deferred tax liability	9,796
Total liabilities assumed	23,815
Net assets acquired, including direct transaction costs	$ 234,989

Current assets and liabilities acquired from Expertcity consisted mainly of cash and investments, accounts receivable, deferred revenues and other current liabilities.

The fair values used in determining the purchase price allocation for certain intangible assets were based on estimated discounted future cash flows, royalty rates and historical data, among other information. Purchased in-process research and development ( IPR&D ) of approximately $18.7 million was expensed immediately upon closing of the merger in accordance with Financial Accounting Standards Board Interpretation No. 4, Applicability of FASB Statement No. 2 to Business Combinations Accounted for by the Purchase Method due to the fact that it pertains to technology that was not currently technologically feasible, meaning it had not reached the working model stage, did not contain all of the major functions planned for the product, was not ready for initial customer testing and had no alternative future use. The fair value assigned to in-process research and development was determined using the income approach, which includes estimating the revenue and expenses associated with a project's sales cycle and by estimating the amount of after-tax cash flows attributable to the projects. The future cash flows were discounted to present value utilizing an appropriate risk-adjusted rate of return, which ranged from 17% to 20%. The rate of return included a factor that takes into account the uncertainty surrounding the successful development of the IPR&D.

5. Goodwill and Other Intangible Assets

Goodwill. As a result of the Expertcity acquisition during the six months ended June 30, 2004, the Company recorded approximately $161.2 million of goodwill reflected in its new segment, the Citrix Online Division.

Intangible Assets. Intangible assets are recorded at cost, less accumulated amortization. Amortization is computed over the estimated useful lives of the respective assets, generally one to seven years. Intangible assets consist of the following (in thousands):

	June 30, 2004		December 31, 2003
	Gross Carrying Amount	Accumulated Amortization	Gross Carrying Amount	Accumulated Amortization
Amortized intangible assets:

Table of Contents*Citrix Systems, Inc.Notes to Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements (As restated)(Unaudited)*June 30, 2004

Amortization expense for the three and six months ended June 30, 2004 was $5.5 million and $9.2 million, respectively, and $2.7 million and $5.7 million for the three and six months ended June 30, 2003, respectively. Estimated future amortization expense is as follows (in thousands):

Year ending December 31,
2004	$ 19,745
2005	20,867
2006	15,720
2007	10,126
2008	7,754
Thereafter	7,459

6. Convertible Subordinated Debentures

In March 1999, the Company sold $850 million principal amount at maturity of its zero coupon convertible subordinated debentures (the Debentures) due March 22, 2019, in a private placement. On March 22, 2004, the Company redeemed all of the outstanding Debentures for a redemption price of approximately $355.7 million. The Company used the proceeds from its held-to-maturity investments that matured on March 22, 2004 and cash on hand to fund the aggregate redemption price. At the date of redemption, the Company incurred a charge for the associated deferred debt issuance costs of approximately $7.2 million.

7. Segment Information

The Company operates in a single market consisting of the design, development, marketing, sales and support of access infrastructure software and services for enterprise applications, as well as Web-based desktop access. The Company's revenues are derived from MetaFrame Access Suite sales and related services in the Americas, Europe, the Middle East and Africa (EMEA) and Asia-Pacific regions and from Web-based desktop access services sold by its Citrix Online Division. These three geographic regions and the Citrix Online Division constitute the Company's four reportable segments.

The Company does not engage in intercompany revenue transfers between segments. The Company's management evaluates performance based primarily on revenues in the geographic locations in which the Company operates and separately evaluates revenues from the Citrix Online Division. Segment profit for each segment includes certain sales, marketing, research and development, general and administrative expenses directly attributable to the segment and excludes certain expenses that are managed outside the reportable segments. Costs excluded from segment profit primarily consist of research and development costs associated with the MetaFrame Access Suite products, amortization of core and product technology, amortization of other intangible assets, interest, corporate expenses and income taxes, as well as, non-recurring charges for in-process research and development. Corporate expenses are comprised primarily of corporate marketing costs, operations and certain general and administrative expenses, which are separately managed. Accounting policies of the segments are the same as the Company's consolidated accounting policies.

8. Derivative Financial Instruments

Cash Flow Hedges. At June 30, 2004 and December 31, 2003, the Company had in place foreign currency forward sale contracts with a notional amount of $41.9 million and $37.2 million, respectively, and foreign currency forward purchase contracts with a notional amount of $145.9 million and $160.9 million, respectively. The fair values of these contracts at June 30, 2004 and December 31, 2003 were assets of $4.0 million and $12.8 million, respectively, and liabilities of $3.0 million and $4.9 million, respectively. A substantial portion of the Company's anticipated overseas expense will be transacted in local currencies. To protect against fluctuations in operating expenses and the volatility of future cash flows caused by changes in currency exchange rates, the Company has established a program that uses forward foreign exchange contracts to reduce its exposure to these potential changes. The terms of these instruments, and the hedging transactions to which they relate, generally do not exceed 12 months. Currencies hedged are Euros, British pounds sterling, Australian dollars, Swiss francs and Japanese yen. There was no material ine
