GIANT ONLINE'S OPEN BETA LAUNCH

ACHIEVES PCU OF OVER 237,000

SHANGHAI, PRC March 31, 2008 Giant Interactive Group Inc. (NYSE: GA) (Giant or the Company), one of China's leading online game developers and operators, announced that the peak concurrent users (PCU) for its new game Giant Online reached 237,686 at 8:18PM (Beijing Time) on March 28, 2008.

Mr. Yuzhu Shi, Giant's Chairman and CEO, commented, I am very excited by the performance of Giant Online on the launch of its open beta testing phase. Our first self-developed massively multiplayer online role playing game, ZT Online, reached 200,000 PCU in open beta testing in April 2006 and went on to become one of the most successful online games in China. The achievement of Giant Online during this stage surpasses that of ZT Online.

The success of both games can be attributed to our focused strategy and Gamer First ideology. Our strength lies in our commitment to listen to and analyze gamers' feedback, and our R&D team's ability to continuously enhance our games to keep players engaged. Since initiating testing of Giant Online last year, we have been constantly enhancing the game based on players' preferences. Our focus on this task has led us to release revised versions of the game almost every day. The open beta test results reinforce the effectiveness of our strategy, and we believe that Giant Online will go on to achieve the success that ZT Online is still enjoying today.
