Talking Points About Our Partnership With WSFS Bank

Announcement

We announced that we ve signed a definitive agreement to merge Penn Liberty Bank into WSFS Bank.

As two financial institutions with strong footholds in the Delaware Valley, this partnership will strengthen our collective ability to serve our communities.

WSFS Bank is both the oldest and the largest bank and trust company headquartered in the Delaware Valley. WSFS is the seventh oldest bank in the United States continuously operating under the same name. Since 1832, WSFS has kept its tradition of helping citizens safeguard and increase their savings, along with providing families and businesses with a wide range of banking services.

WSFS provides comprehensive financial services including commercial banking, retail banking and trust and wealth management.

Transaction Notes of Interest

Based on WSFS Bank s current Pennsylvania presence, we are in the process of evaluating all locations to determine if there is any overlap in our branch network. Following the merger, our Customers will have access to 70 locations in Delaware and Pennsylvania.

Upon completion of the merger, Patrick Ward, Chairman and CEO of Penn Liberty Bank will join the WSFS Financial Corporation Board of Directors and assume the role of Executive Vice President and Pennsylvania Market President. Brian Zwaan, President, Chief Operating Officer and Chief Lending Officer of Penn Liberty Bank will also join the WSFS Senior Management team as Senior Vice President, Pennsylvania Commercial Banking. Both will provide great leadership for our Pennsylvania expansion plans. Transactions like this often have overlapping positions and there will be some displacements. All Human Capital decisions will be communicated by the end of Q1, 2016. We are working with our partners at WSFS Bank to make those determinations over the next several months. Everyone will be given opportunities throughout WSFS's 70 locations, as well as at their other offices and divisions. For those ultimately displaced, WSFS Bank will work closely with those individuals; severance and outplacement assistance will be provided up to six months based on years of service.

Timing and Approvals

The transaction is subject to normal conditions and approvals including regulatory approvals.

The transaction will likely close in the 3rd Quarter, 2016.

We will be working together over that period to further cultivate our partnership and mutually forge the path ahead.

Why is this good?

We share a culture of commitment to our Customers, Communities, and Associates.

WSFS Associates voted WSFS Bank a Top workplace in Delaware for 10 consecutive years. WSFS was also voted #1 Top Bank in Delaware five years in a row by the readers of The News Journal.

We will be providing more options to help Customers manage and grow their money, with cash management tools, wealth management services, commercial banking services, robust online and mobile banking products, and a vast regional network of over 450 WSFS branded surcharge-free ATMs across the region.

Career opportunities and personal growth.

WSFS offers a 401(k) matching program.

For all employees that stay, your Penn Liberty Bank years of service will carry over.

Integration of Penn Liberty Bank and WSFS Bank

We will work together for a smooth integration. Given the fact that WSFS has done this before successfully, we are confident it will be a seamless process, but we will need your patience and assistance to make sure we do it well.
