In this Annual Report on Form 20-F (this Annual Report), references to the Bank or Bladex are to Banco Latinoamericano de Exportaciones, S.A., a specialized supranational bank incorporated under the laws of the Republic of Panama (Panama) and its subsidiaries. References to dollars or $ are to United States dollars. The Bank accepts deposits and raises funds principally in United States dollars, grants loans mostly in United States dollars and publishes its consolidated financial statements in United States dollars. The numbers and percentages set out in this Annual Report have been rounded and, accordingly, may not total exactly.

Upon written or oral request, the Bank will provide without charge to each person to whom this Annual Report is delivered, a copy of any or all of the documents listed as exhibits to this Annual Report (other than exhibits to those documents, unless the exhibits are specifically incorporated by reference in the documents). Written requests for copies should be directed to the attention of Carlos Yap, Chief Financial Officer, Bladex, as follows: (1) if by regular mail, to P.O. Box 0819-08730, Panama City, Republic of Panama, and (2) if by courier, to Calle 50 y Aquilino de la Guardia, Panama City, Republic of Panama.

This Annual Report contains forward-looking statements within the meaning of Section 27A of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended (the Securities Act), and Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (the Exchange Act). Forward-looking statements include statements regarding:

- the anticipated growth of the Bank's credit portfolio, including its trade finance portfolio;
- the Bank's ability to increase the number of corporate clients;
- the continuation of the Bank's preferred creditor status;
- the effects of increased interest rates on the Bank's financial condition;
- the implementation of the Bank's strategies and initiatives, including its revenue diversification strategy;
- anticipated operating income in future periods;
- the adequacy of the Bank's allowance for credit losses;
- the necessity of making additional provisions for credit losses;
- the Bank's ability to maintain its investment-grade credit ratings;
- the availability and cost of future funding sources for the Bank's lending operations; and
- the adequacy of the Bank's sources of liquidity to cover large deposit withdrawals.

In addition, the statements included under the headings Strategy and Trends are forward-looking statements. Forward-looking statements involve risks and uncertainties, and actual results may differ materially from those discussed in any such statement. Factors that could cause actual results to differ materially from these forward-looking statements include the risks described in the section titled Risk Factors. All forward-looking statements in this Annual Report are made as of the date hereof, based on information available to the Bank as of the date hereof, and the Bank assumes no obligation to update any forward-looking statement.

Terms Relating to the Bank's Credit Portfolio

As used in this Annual Report, the following terms relating to the Bank's credit portfolio have the meanings set forth below, unless otherwise indicated:

Credit portfolio consists of loans, securities purchased under agreements to resell, selected securities held to maturity and available for sale (presented at their estimated fair value) and contingencies. Certain investment securities (selected investment securities) are considered part of the Bank's credit portfolio when the acquisition of these such securities is subject to the same lending policies, including credit approval criteria, as the rest of the credit portfolio.

Contingencies consist of financial instruments with off-balance sheet credit risk, including letters of credit, reimbursement undertakings, guarantees, credit commitments, and customers' liabilities under acceptances.

References to provision for credit losses are to additions to the allowance for credit losses in a particular period that are charged to income. References to allowance for credit losses are to the aggregate allowance for credit losses shown as of a particular date as a balance sheet item.

Total loans includes total performing loans and total impaired loans. Total impaired loans includes only principal. For a description of the Bank's policies regarding the classification of loans as impaired, see Information on the Company Asset Quality.

Total loans, net refers to total loans less allowance for loan losses and unearned income.

D. Risk Factors

Risks Relating to the Region

The Bank's credit portfolio is concentrated in Latin America and the Caribbean and adverse economic changes in those countries, could affect adversely the Bank's growth, asset quality, prospects, profitability and financial condition.

The Bank's lending activities and, as a result, the credit portfolio is concentrated in Central and South America and the Caribbean (the Region). Historically, economies of countries in the Region have sometimes experienced significant volatility characterized, in some cases, by political uncertainty, slow growth or recession, declining investments, government and private sector debt default and restructurings, significant inflation and/or devaluation. Global economic changes, including oil prices, the U.S. dollar interest rates and exchange rate, and slower economic growth in developed countries, could have a significant adverse effect on the economic condition of countries in the Region. In turn, adverse changes affecting the economies of countries in the Region could have a significant adverse impact on the Bank's credit portfolio, including increased loan loss provisions, debt restructurings, and loan losses and, as a result, on the Bank's growth, asset quality, prospects, profitability and financial condition.

Bladex's lending activities are concentrated in a relatively small number of countries and clients, exacerbating the possible effect that adverse economic changes in such countries could have on the Bank.

The Bank's lending activities are concentrated in a relatively small number of countries, which could have an adverse impact on the Bank's credit portfolio and, as a result, its financial condition, growth, prospects, cash flows and results of operations if one or more of those countries encounter economic difficulties. At December 31, 2005, approximately 62% of the Bank's credit portfolio was outstanding to borrowers in the following four countries: Brazil ($1,453 million, or 40%); Chile ($315 million, or 9%); Colombia ($261 million, or 7%); and Peru ($230 million, or 6%).

In addition, at December 31, 2005, 20% of the Bank's total credits were to five borrowers in Brazil and 7% of total credits were to two borrowers in Chile. A significant deterioration of the financial condition of any of these borrowers could require the Bank to create additional allowances for credit losses, or suffer further credit losses with the effect being accentuated because of this concentration.

Local country foreign exchange controls or currency devaluation may harm the Bank's borrowers' ability to pay U.S. dollar-denominated obligations.

The Bank makes mostly U.S. dollar-denominated loans. As a result, the Bank faces the risk that local country foreign exchange controls will restrict the ability of the Bank's borrowers, even if they are exporters, to acquire dollars to repay loans on a timely basis, and/or that significant currency devaluation will occur, which could increase the cost, in local currency terms, to the Bank's borrowers of acquiring dollars to repay loans.

The performance of financial markets, including fluctuations in interest rates, may cause changes in the value of the Bank's investment securities portfolio and in the amount of revenues generated from these assets.

Increased risk perception in countries in the Region where the Bank has large credit exposure could affect adversely the Bank's credit ratings, funding activities and funding costs.

As a result of the Argentine crisis in 2002 the major credit rating agencies downgraded the Bank's credit ratings due to its large Argentine credit exposure and the increasing risk of default among Argentine borrowers. The downgrades also reflected the Bank's large exposure in Brazil, where political and economic uncertainty created concerns at that time. One of the Bank's funding sources for short-term loans is interbank deposits received principally from central banks in the Region. During 2002, these central banks withdrew a substantial portion of their deposits from the Bank, in large part because of the deterioration in the Bank's financial condition and the credit ratings downgrades. In addition, the dramatic increase in the risk perception of Latin America resulted in a significant decline in the availability of credit lines to the Region. The Bank maintained an adequate liquidity position throughout this period.

The occurrence of similar events in any countries in the Region where the Bank has large exposures could trigger downgrades to the Bank's credit ratings. A credit rating downgrade would likely increase the Bank's funding costs, and reduce its deposit base and access to the debt capital markets. In that case, the Bank's ability to obtain the necessary funding to carry on trade finance activities in Latin America at meaningful levels could be severely hampered.

Risks Relating to the Bank's Business

The Bank's allowances for credit losses could prove inadequate to cover credit losses related to its loans and contingencies.

Determining the appropriate level of allowances for credit losses necessarily requires the Bank's Board's and management's judgment, including assumptions and estimates made in the context of changing political and economic conditions in the Region. Consequently, the Bank's allowances could be inadequate to cover losses in its credit portfolio, which in turn, could have a material adverse effect on the Bank's financial condition, results of operations, and business.

The Bank's businesses are subject to market risk.

Market risk generally represents the risk that values of assets and liabilities or revenues will be adversely affected by changes in market conditions. Market risk is inherent in the financial instruments associated with many of the Bank's operations and activities, including loans, deposits, investment securities, short-term borrowings, long-term debt and derivatives. As many other market conditions that may shift from time to time, thereby exposing the Bank to market risk, are fluctuations in interest and currency exchange rates, changes in the implied volatility of interest rates, changes in foreign exchange rates and changes in securities prices, due to changes in either market perception or actual credit quality of either the issuer or its country of origin. Accordingly, depending on the instruments or activities impacted, market risks can have wide ranging, complex adverse effects on the Bank's financial condition, results of operations, and business.

Bladex faces liquidity risk, and its failure to adequately manage this risk could produce a liquidity shortage, which could affect adversely its financial condition and results of operations.

Bladex faces liquidity risk, or the risk of not being able to maintain adequate cash flow to repay its deposits and borrowings required to fund its credit portfolio on a timely basis. Failure to adequately manage its liquidity risk could produce a liquidity shortage in which the Bank would not be able to repay these obligations as they become due.

As a U.S. dollar based economy, Panama does not have a central bank in the traditional sense, and there is no lender of last resort to the banking system in Panama. In addition, the central banks of other Latin American countries would not be obligated to act as lenders of last resort if Bladex were to face a liquidity shortage. Accordingly, if the Bank faced a liquidity shortage, it would have to rely on commercial liquidity sources.

Operational problems or errors can have a material adverse impact on the Bank's business, financial condition and results of operations.

Bladex, like all financial institutions, is exposed to operational risks, including the risk of fraud by employees and outsiders, failure to obtain proper internal authorizations, failure to properly document transactions, equipment failures, and errors by employees. Although the Bank maintains a system of internal controls, there can be no assurance that operational problems or errors will not occur, and that their occurrence will not have a material adverse impact on the Bank's business, financial condition and results of operations.

The Bank's credit portfolio may not continue to grow at the same or similar rate.

No assurance can be given that, in the future, the Bank's credit portfolio, including the Bank's foreign trade portfolio, will continue to grow at historical rates. A reversal in the rate of growth of the Region's economy and trade volumes could adversely affect the rate of growth of the Bank's credit portfolio.

Increased competition and industry consolidation in some Latin American countries could increase competition and limit the Bank's ability to grow in those markets and reduce its profitability, which may adversely affect results of operations.

Most of the competition the Bank faces in the trade finance area comes from international banks, mostly European and North American, which provide similar financing services to those the Bank provides within the markets the Bank serves. These international banks have substantially greater resources and access to less expensive funding than the Bank does, which puts the Bank at a competitive disadvantage. There can be no assurance that increased competition will not affect adversely the Bank's growth prospects and results of operations.

Although some of these international banks compete directly with the Bank, in many cases they also provide funding for the Bank and represent a source of business. If these international banks ceased providing funding to the Bank, the Bank would be required to seek funding from other sources, which may not be available, or if available, may only be at higher interest costs.

Changes in the business and in the markets of the Region could potentially place the Bank at a competitive disadvantage with respect to scale, resources, and its ability to develop and diversify its income sources.

A substantial consolidation of the banking business in Latin America has occurred and is continuing. This has reduced the number of local banks in the Region, which historically have been the Bank's primary customers for trade finance loans.

The Bank may pursue a capital management strategy that differs from that expected by some of its stockholders or others in the market.

The Board's opinion regarding the Bank's capital adequacy and needs might differ from that of some of its stockholders or other market participants. If so, the Bank's capital management actions and the timing of such actions might not correspond with the expectations of the Bank's stockholders or other market participants. The Bank's Board of Directors (the Board) may choose to pursue any of several capital management options, or a combination of strategies, including growth, investments, declaring dividends to stockholders, or repurchasing shares under a stock repurchase program. The Board is not required to declare dividends (or increase dividends) or effect stock repurchases pursuant to its stock repurchase program, and could use the capital for other purposes, which may not coincide with the preferences of some of the Bank's stockholders. To the extent that the capital management strategy elected by the Bank's Board differs from expectations of investors or other market participants, it could result in negative market perceptions of the Bank. Dissatisfaction of some of the Bank's stockholders or a negative market perception of the Bank with regard to the use of capital could adversely affect the Bank's stock price.

Any delays or failure to implement business initiatives that the Bank may undertake could prevent the Bank from realizing the anticipated revenues and benefits of the initiatives, divert the attention of its management, cause additional expenses, or cause other negative repercussions for the Bank.

Part of the Bank's strategy is to diversify income sources through business initiatives that, in some cases, involve partnerships or strategic alliances with specialists, expanding into new markets, targeting new clients and developing new products and services. These initiatives may not be fully implemented within the time frame the Bank expects, or at all. In addition, even if such initiatives are fully implemented, they may not generate revenues as expected. Any delays in securing necessary regulatory approvals, in reaching agreement with strategic partners, or otherwise implementing the Bank's strategic initiatives, could divert the attention of the Bank's management, result in additional expense, prevent the Bank from pursuing other initiatives or ultimately, prevent the Bank from realizing the anticipated benefits of the initiatives, which could adversely affect the Bank's business, results of operations and financial condition.

Item 4. Information on the Company

A. History and Development of the Company

The Bank, headquartered in Panama City, Panama, is a specialized supranational bank originally established by central banks of Latin American and Caribbean countries to promote trade finance in the Region. The Bank was established pursuant to a May 1975 proposal of the XX Assembly of Governors of central banks in the Region, which recommended the creation of a multinational organization to increase the Region's foreign trade financing capacity. The Bank was constituted in 1978 as a corporation pursuant to the laws of the Republic of Panama as Banco Latinoamericano de Exportaciones, S.A. and commenced operations in January 1979. The Bank operates under the commercial name of Bladex. Panama was selected as the location of the Bank's headquarters because of the country's importance as a banking center, the benefits of a fully U.S. dollar-based economy, the absence of foreign exchange controls, its geographic location and the quality of its communications facilities. Under special legislation enacted in 1978, the Bank was granted certain privileges by the government of Panama, including an exemption from payment of income taxes in Panama.

The Bank's mission is to provide seamless support to Latin America's foreign trade, while creating value for its stockholders. The Bank is principally engaged in providing short-term trade financing to selected commercial banks in the Region, which, in turn, lend to businesses primarily active in foreign trade and to state and private corporations. The majority of the Bank's loans are extended in connection with specific foreign trade transactions that have been identified.

The Bank's lending activities are funded by interbank deposits, primarily from central banks and financial institutions in the Region, by borrowings from international commercial banks and, to a lesser extent, by sales of debt securities (placements) made with financial institutions and investors in Japan, Europe and North America. The Bank does not provide retail-banking services to the general public, such as retail savings accounts or checking accounts, and does not take retail deposits.

Bladex offers its services through the Bank's head office in Panama City, its agency in New York City (the New York Agency), its subsidiary in Brazil, its representative offices in Mexico City and Buenos Aires and a worldwide network of correspondent banks. In addition, the Bank has obtained regulatory approval to open a representative office in Miami, Florida. See Organizational Structure and Note 1 to the Consolidated Financial Statements.

B. Business Overview

Overview

Bladex is a supranational bank originally established by the central banks of Latin American and Caribbean countries to promote trade finance in the Region. The Bank's mission is to provide seamless support to Latin America's foreign trade, while creating value for its stockholders. The Bank offers trade finance services, primarily providing short-term financing. More recently, through its revenue diversification strategy, the Bank has introduced a broader range of products, services and solutions associated with foreign trade, including co-financing arrangements, syndicated loans, bilateral credits and vendor financing.

Historically, trade finance generally has not been negatively affected by Latin American debt restructurings. This has been due, in part, to the perceived importance that governments and borrowers in the Region attach to maintaining their access to trade finance. In the case of Bladex, the Bank generally has enjoyed preferred creditor status in several countries in the Region, which has strengthened its position in respect of debt restructurings. The Bank believes that its preferred creditor status is partially attributable to its relationship with its Class A stockholders consisting of central banks or governmental financial institutions from 23 countries in the Region. The Bank, due in part to its preferred creditor status, generally has been allowed to negotiate directly with the governments of these countries concerning its loans, as opposed to negotiating indirectly as a member of a group of creditors in debt restructuring proceedings. In addition, the Bank's preferred creditor status has generally exempted it from convertibility and transfer limitations of U.S. dollars for payment of external obligations.

Developments During 2004

The Bank's net income for 2004 was a record $142 million, representing an increase of 27% as compared to 2003. These results reflected increased reversal of provisions for possible credit losses and recoveries on impairment losses mostly related to the reduction in the Bank's exposure in Argentina. The 2004 net income figure produced a return on equity of 22.8%. Other indicators of note included a 25% growth in the Bank's trade finance portfolio, and a 23% increase in its deposit base.

The Bank's business activity during 2004 reflected prevailing financial market conditions. For 2004, Gross Domestic Product growth in the Region is estimated to have reached 5.5%, a significant increase over 2003. This trend was driven by improved terms of exchange, low inflation, and increasingly effective fiscal policies. As a result, risk levels generally improved during the year, with major rating agencies upgrading eight countries in the Region. Along with high levels of liquidity, reduced risk levels drove loan margins to historically low levels. The trade finance business in the Region resumed growth, spurred by several factors, among others, the Free Trade Agreements signed with the United States, an increase in intra-regional trade, and the worldwide surge in commodity prices which was in large part stimulated by the demands of the Chinese economy.

During 2004, the Bank's efforts were focused on strengthening its role as a leading supranational bank supporting trade in Latin America by:

- maximizing the value of the Bank's Argentine portfolio;
- increasing the Bank's trade finance balances and diversifying its credit portfolio;
- taking proactive capital management actions;
- diversifying revenue; and
- further strengthening the Bladex brand.

Developments During 2005

During 2005, the Bank substantially improved the composition and magnitude of its operating income. The Bank also resolved its impaired Argentine portfolio, which has been collected nearly in full. Lastly, the Bank made significant progress on the execution of a business model that seeks to expand the Bank's client base and broaden its financial service offering.

For 2005, the Bank reported net income of $80 million, implying a return on equity of 12.9%. These results reflected a $61 million year-over-year reduction in the amount of reversals of provisions for possible credit losses and impairment losses on securities, which largely explain the lower net income in 2005 when compared to the $142 million reported in 2004. Excluding the impact of provision reversals and net revenues from the non-accrual portfolio, the Bank's net income increased 42% during the year.

Throughout 2005, the Bank continued to be a key institution in supporting the trade finance business in Latin America, despite a highly competitive environment with new players, an abundance of funding, and historically low margins.

The Bank continued to analyze the Bank's capital management, seeking a proper balance between its capitalization ratio, growth potential, investment opportunities, and the return to its stockholders. During the year, the Bank paid a common dividend equivalent to $0.60 per share, along with an extraordinary dividend of $2.00 per share. Furthermore, after the close of 2005, the Bank declared an additional extraordinary dividend of $1.00 per share, as well as a 25% increase in the common quarterly dividend.

During 2005, the Bank initiated a project aimed at transforming and modernizing its technology platform, an undertaking that is expected to be completed during the second half of 2006. The Bank's management believes that the new technological capabilities will provide the Bank with greater flexibility, agility, effectiveness and efficiency in providing quality client service, and in the deployment of new products.

Strategy for 2006

Since its inception, one of the Bank's key objectives has been to contribute to the development and prosperity of Latin America. Another target of equal importance has been the creation of value for and the rewarding of its stockholders. The combination of these two goals reflects the commercial strategy deployed by the Bank throughout its history. In 2006, the Bank looks forward to building on the momentum gained in 2005 through the implementation of its long-term strategy that seeks to expand the Bank's client base, particularly the corporate portion, and broaden its financial services offering. The Bank will continue to leverage its brand and reputation in the Region with a commitment to providing high quality, value-added services and solutions to the Bank's expanded target customer base, and will continue developing the Bank's Treasury Area as a source of revenue, including a new asset distribution desk and a fixed income desk. The asset distribution desk is designed to intermediate Latin American loan instruments with regional and international investors, and the fixed income desk is expected to bring to the Bank professional proprietary portfolio management capabilities in the Latin American debt capital markets.

Lending Policies

Imports and exports financed by the Bank are destined for buyers/sellers in countries both inside and outside the Region. Historically, it has been Bank operating policy to extend credit directly mostly to banks and state-owned export organizations within the Region, as well as to non-bank private entities. At December 31, 2005, excluding the non-accruing portfolio, total loans and contingencies outstanding to non-bank private entities constituted 16% of the Bank's total loans and contingencies. The Bank analyzes credit requests from eligible borrowers in the light of credit risk criteria, including economic and market conditions. The Bank maintains a consistent lending policy and applies the same credit criteria to all types of potential borrowers in evaluating creditworthiness.

At December 31, 2005, the Bank had 39 officers across its offices responsible for marketing the Bank's financial products and services to existing and potential customers.

The Bank finances import and export transactions for all goods and products, with the exception of articles such as weapons, ammunition, military equipment, hallucinogenic drugs or narcotics not utilized for medical purposes.

The Bank's loans generally are unsecured. However, in certain instances, based upon its credit review of the borrower and the economic and political situation and trends in the borrower's home country, the Bank has determined that the level of risk involved requires that a loan be secured by pledged deposits.

Country Credit Limits

The Credit Policy and Risk Assessment Committee of the Board (the Board Credit Committee) establishes country limits annually and more often if required. The Board Credit Committee also reviews country usage in both nominal terms and in terms of capital requirements quarterly. All transactions must comply fully with Board approved country limits and other conditions. The Board approves all country credit limits based on management recommendations, along with targeted customer and risk profiles as regarding the tenor and type of risk to be undertaken in a particular country.

Borrower Lending Limits

Generally the Bank establishes lines of credit for each borrower in line with its risk analysis and business prospects; however, the Bank is not required to lend under these lines of credit. The Bank does not, as a general rule, publish or communicate its lending limits for countries in which it lends or its borrowers but uses these limits internally as a credit risk management tool. Once a line of credit has been established, credit generally is extended after receipt of a request from the borrower for financing usually related to foreign trade. Loan pricing is determined in accordance with prevailing market conditions and the borrower's creditworthiness.

For existing borrowers, the Bank's management has authority to approve credit lines up to the legal lending limit prescribed by Panamanian law (see Regulation Panamanian Law), provided that the credit lines comply fully with the country credit limits and conditions for the borrower's country of domicile set by the Board. Approved borrower lending limits are reported to the Board Credit Committee quarterly. As of December 31, 2005, the legal lending limit prescribed by Panamanian law for any one borrower amounted to approximately $185 million. The head of the Commercial Area or Treasury Area, or their designees, depending on the facility type, recommend proposed credit lines. Approval from the head of Risk Management Area is required for all credit approvals, and approval from the Chief Executive Officer also is required for all new clients and for exposures exceeding $30 million. Certain credit lines require approval by the Board Credit Committee. The Board Credit Committee also reviews the entire impaired portfolio, along with certain non-impaired credits quarterly.

Edgar Filing: LATIN AMERICAN EXPORT BANK - Form 20-F

Panamanian Banking Law prescribes certain concentration limits, which are strictly adhered to by the Bank, including a 30% limit, applicable to the Bank, as a percentage of capital and reserves for any one borrower and borrower group. At December 31, 2005, the Bank was in full compliance with all regulatory limits. See Regulation Panamanian Law .

Credit Portfolio

The Bank's credit portfolio, which consists of loans, selected investment securities held to maturity and available for sale, securities purchased under agreements to resell, letters of credit, customers' liabilities under acceptances, reimbursement undertakings, guarantees covering commercial and country risks and credit commitments, increased from $2,847 million at December 31, 2003, to $2,944 million at December 31, 2004 and to $3,616 million at December 31, 2005.

At December 31, 2005, $757 million or 21% of the Bank's total credit portfolio (excluding the non-accruing portfolio and investment securities) represented non-trade related credits. At December 31, 2005 there were no past due loans of these non-trade credits. At December 31, 2005, the geographic composition of the Bank's credit portfolio by client type and transaction type was as follows:

Investment Securities

Investment securities are considered part of the Bank's credit portfolio when the acquisition of such securities is subject to the same lending policies, including credit approval criteria, as the rest of the credit portfolio. At December 31, 2005, all of the Bank's investment securities were considered part of its credit portfolio.

The Bank's investment securities consist mostly of debt securities held to maturity and securities available for sale. The following table sets forth information regarding the carrying value of the Bank's investment securities portfolio at December 31 each year. See Note 4 to the Consolidated Financial Statements.

In the normal course of business, the Bank utilizes interest rate swaps for hedging purposes in its assets and liabilities management activities, including investment securities.

At December 31, 2005, the Bank's investment securities portfolio totaled $209 million, of which 77% consisted of investments with banks and sovereign borrowers, and the Bank's total portfolio had a weighted average interest rate of 5.63% per annum.

Total Outstandings by Country

The following table sets forth the aggregate amount of the Bank's cross-border outstandings, consisting of cash and due from banks, interest-earning deposits in other banks, selected investment securities net of impairment loss on securities, estimated unrealized gain (loss) on impaired securities, premiums and discounts (which were purchased as part of its credit portfolio activity), securities purchased under agreements to resell and loans, but not including contingencies (collectively cross-border outstandings) at December 31 of each year:

In allocating country risk limits, the Bank takes into consideration several factors, including the Bank's perception of country risk levels, business opportunities, and economic and political analysis, applying a portfolio management approach.

Cross-border outstandings in countries outside the Region correspond mostly to cash and due from banks and interest bearing deposits with banks.

The following table sets forth the amount of the Bank's cross-border outstandings by type of institution at December 31 of each year:

Contingencies

The Bank considers contingencies part of the credit portfolio because it applies the same credit policies used in its lending process to its evaluation of these instruments. At December 31, 2005, total contingencies amounted to $794 million, representing 22% of the Bank's total credit portfolio.

The Bank, on behalf of its institutional client base, advises and confirms letters of credit to facilitate foreign trade transactions. The Bank also issues stand-by letters of credit and guarantees to provide coverage for country risk arising from the risk of convertibility and transferability of local currency of countries in the Region into hard currency and to provide coverage for country risk arising from political risks, such as expropriation, nationalization, war and/or civil disturbances. At December 31, 2005, total stand-by letters of credit and guarantees representing country risk coverage amounted to $150 million. The Bank also enters into credit commitments (defined as a combination of either non-binding or legal agreements to lend to a customer) in order to meet the financial needs of customers. See Note 16 to the Consolidated Financial Statements.

Asset Quality

The Bank believes that its asset quality is linked to the composition of its client base, the importance that governments and borrowers in the Region attach to maintaining continued access to trade financing, its preferred creditor status, and the Bank's strict adherence to commercial criteria in its credit activities. The Bank has developed knowledge of, and relationship with, its client base throughout its 27 years of operations in the Region, which allows it to continue to further enhance its risk management process.

The Bank's management and the Board Credit Committee periodically review a report of all loan delinquencies. The Bank's collection policies include rapid internal notification of any delinquency and prompt initiation of collection efforts, usually involving senior management.

Impaired Assets and Contingencies

The Bank's impaired assets consist of impaired loans and impaired securities. Loans are identified as impaired and placed on non-accrual status when any principal or interest payment is over 90 days past due or if the Bank's management determines that the ultimate collection of principal or interest is doubtful. In all cases, if a borrower has more than one outstanding loan under its line of credit with the Bank and any of its individual loans is placed on non-accrual status, the Bank places all outstanding loans to that borrower on non-accrual status. Similarly, if a single note of a loan is placed on non-accrual status, the remaining notes under that loan are placed on non-accrual status as well. Securities that experience a decline in value, which is deemed other than temporary, are classified as impaired. Contingencies are identified as impaired and placed on non-accrual status when any payment of fees or commissions relating thereto is over 90 days past due or if the Bank's management determines that the item may become payable by the Bank and ultimate collection of principal or interest is doubtful.

Loans are charged off when they are deemed uncollectible, after considering factors such as the customer's financial condition and underlying collateral and guarantees, as well as general and industry economic conditions.

The following table sets forth information regarding the Bank's impaired assets and contingencies at December 31 of each year:

Edgar Filing: LATIN AMERICAN EXPORT BANK - Form 20-F

At December 31, 2005, impaired loans and contingencies consisted of $37 million to borrowers in Argentina and $6 million to a corporation in Brazil. Other than these, management does not believe that there is a material amount of loans and contingencies with respect to which it has serious doubts as to the ability of the obligors to comply with the present terms there under.

During 2005, the Bank charged-off an Argentine investment security with par value of $5 million (fair value of $1 million), bringing the outstanding balance of impaired securities to $0.

Allowance for Credit Losses

The allowance for credit losses (which includes the allowance for loan losses and the reserve for losses on off-balance sheet credit risk) covers the credit risk on loans and contingencies. For additional information regarding allowance for credit losses, see Note 6 to the Consolidated Financial Statements.

The following table sets forth information regarding the Bank's allowance for credit losses with respect to total credits outstanding at December 31 of each year:

¹ Other consists of net revenues per country in which net revenues did not exceed $1 million for any of the periods indicated above.

² Starting in 2005, derivatives & hedging activities are included as part of net revenues, as the Treasury Area became one of the Bank's revenue centers.

The $33 million decline in net revenues for 2004 compared to 2003, was primarily due to:

lower gains on the sale of Argentine impaired securities; a decline in the accruing loan portfolio average lending spread from 1.90 in 2003 to 0.99% in 2004; and the collection of part of the richly priced restructured Argentine credit portfolio.

The $3 million increase in net revenues for 2005 compared to 2004, was primarily due to:

the positive effect of higher interest rates on the Bank's interest-earning assets;
the positive effect of an increase in the average credit portfolio from $2,705 million in 2004 to 3,081 million in 2005; and revenues from gains on hedging activities.
These factors were offset by the impact of lower interest collections on the Bank's decreasing and richly priced non-accruing portfolio, as well as lower net lending margins and lower gains on the sale of Argentine impaired securities.

Competition

The Bank operates in a highly competitive environment in most of its markets. Management recognizes that the Bank needs to continue to invest and adapt to remain competitive. The Bank faces strong competition principally from regional and international banks in making loans, attracting deposits, and providing fee-generating services. Financial disintermediation by the local and international securities markets and the growth of specialized finance companies is another factor that results in increased competition. Whenever economic conditions and risk perception improve in the largest countries of the Region, competition from commercial banks, the securities markets and other new participants tend to increase. Competition may have the effect of reducing the spreads of the Bank's lending rates over its funding costs and constraining the Bank's profitability. The Bank competes in its lending and deposit taking activities with other banks and international financial institutions, many of which have greater financial resources and offer sophisticated banking services.

The Bank believes that most of the competition it faces in the trade financing area and within the markets served by the Bank is from international banks, mostly European and North American, which provide similar services. Although international banks compete with the Bank, they also provide funding for the Bank and represent a source of business for the Bank.

The Bank believes that competition also comes from investment banks and the local and international securities markets, which provide liquidity to the financial systems in certain countries in the Region, as well as non-bank specialized financial institutions. The Bank competes primarily on the basis of pricing in financing trade-related transactions, providing a stable supply of credit to its clients and the quality of its service. The Bank believes that it possesses a competitive advantage in that it enables its customer banks to meet their clients' financing needs, but does not compete directly with these banks for the business of their clients. Moreover, the Bank has developed customer loyalty because it has been a consistent source of trade-related financing. The Bank also believes that its operating efficiencies, commitment to the Region, preferred creditor status, market knowledge, and business focus constitute important competitive advantages in certain markets.

The trade finance business also is subject to change. Increased open account exports and new financing requirements from multinational corporations are putting more pressure on the way banks traditionally intermediate foreign trade financing. The Bank cannot predict with certainty the changes that may occur and how these may affect the competitiveness of its businesses. Although the Bank has undertaken several initiatives to adapt to, and benefit from, these changes, it is possible that competition with the Bank's products will, in the future, reduce demand for the Bank's services. If this were to occur, the Bank may be required to take additional steps in order to adapt to the changing competitive environment.

Consolidation in the banking systems within the markets in which the Bank operates could potentially affect the competitive environment. Consolidation process in most countries of the Region has reduced the number of client banks that the Bank can work with. The acquisition of local banks by large international banks in the local markets of the Region also has changed the competitive environment. The Bank cannot predict with certainty the extent to which these changes in the banking industry may occur or the success that they may achieve. These changes in the business and in the markets of this Region could potentially place the Bank at a competitive disadvantage with respect to scale, resources and its ability to develop and diversify its sources of income.

Regulation

General

The Superintendency of Banks in Panama (the Superintendency of Banks) regulates, supervises and examines Bladex. In addition, the New York Agency is regulated, supervised and examined by the New York Banking Department and the Federal Reserve Board. The regulation of the Bank by relevant Panamanian authorities differs from the regulation generally imposed on banks, including foreign banks, in the United States by U.S. federal and state regulatory authorities.

As of October 5, 2004, the Superintendency of Banks entered into an arrangement for the sharing of supervisory information with various U.S. regulators, including the Federal Reserve Board, the Office of the Comptroller of Currency and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (the Statement of Cooperation). The Statement of Cooperation promotes cooperation between U.S. and Panamanian banking regulators and demonstrates the commitment of the U.S. regulators and the Superintendency of Banks to the principles of comprehensive consolidated supervision.

Panamanian Law

On February 26, 1998, Panama adopted Decree-Law No. 9 (the Banking Law), which is a comprehensive revision and restatement of the banking legislation in Panama. The Banking Law took effect on June 12, 1998.

The Bank operates in Panama under a General Banking License issued by the National Banking Commission, predecessor of the Superintendency of Banks, and is subject to supervision and examination by the Superintendency of Banks. Banks operating under a General Banking License (General License Banks) may engage in all aspects of the banking business in Panama, including accepting local and offshore deposits, as well as entering into banking transactions in Panama that may have an economic impact outside of Panama.

General License Banks must have a paid-in capital of not less than $10 million. Additionally, General License Banks must maintain minimum capital of 8% of their total risk-weighted assets. The capital adequacy standards used by the Superintendency of Banks are based on the Basel Capital Accord. The Superintendency of Banks is authorized to increase the minimum capital requirement percentage in Panama in the event that generally accepted international capitalization standards as set forth in the Basel Capital Accord become more stringent.

General License Banks are required to maintain 30% of their global deposits in liquid assets (which include short-term loans to other banks and other liquid assets) of the type prescribed by the Superintendency of Banks. Under the Banking Law, deposits from central banks and other similar depositories of the international reserves of sovereign states are immune from attachment or seizure proceedings.

Pursuant to the Banking Law, the Bank cannot make loans or issue guarantees or any other obligation to any one person or a group of related persons in excess of thirty percent (30%) of its capital.

Under the Banking Law, a bank may not grant loans or issue guarantees or any other obligation to related parties that exceed (1) 5% of its total capital, in the case of unsecured transactions, (2) 10% of its total capital, in the case of collateralized transactions (other than loans secured by deposits in the bank), and (3) 25% of its total capital, in the case of total loans and credit facilities granted to Related Parties and indebtedness title investments issued by Related Parties. For these purposes a related party is (a) any one or more of the bank's directors, (b) any stockholder of the bank who directly or indirectly owns 5% or more of the outstanding and issued capital stock of the bank, (c) any company of which one or more of the bank's directors is a director or officer or where one or more of the bank's directors is a guarantor of the loan or credit facility, (d) any company or entity in which the bank or any one of its directors or officers can exercise a controlling influence, (e) any company or entity in which the bank or any one of its directors or officers owns 20% or more of the outstanding and issued capital stock of such company or entity and (f) managers, officers and employees of the bank, or their respective spouses (other than home mortgage loans or guaranteed personal loans under general programs approved by the bank for employees). The Superintendency of Banks may authorize the total or partial exclusion of loans or credits from the computation of these limitations in cases of unsecured loans and other credits granted by mixed-capital banks with headquarters in Panama whose principal business is the granting of loans to other banks, which is the case of the Bank. This authorization is contingent on the following conditions: (i) the ownership of shares in the debtor bank directly or indirectly by the shared director or shared officer, may not exceed five-percent (5%) of the said bank's capital, or may not amount to any sum that would ensure his or her majority control over the decisions of this bank; (ii) the ownership of shares in the creditor bank directly or indirectly by the debtor bank represented in any manner by the shared director or shared officer, may not exceed five-percent (5%) of the shares outstanding of the creditor bank, or may not amount to any sum that would ensure his or her majority control over the decisions of this bank; (iii) the shared director or shared officer must abstain from participating in the deliberations and in the voting sessions held by the creditor bank regarding the loan or credit request under this article, and (iv) the loan or credit must strictly comply with customary standards of discretion set by the grantor bank's credit policy. The Superintendency of Banks shall determine the amount of the exclusion in the case of each loan or credit submitted for its consideration.

The Banking Law contains additional limitations and restrictions with respect to loans and credit facilities to parties related to the lending banks. For instance, under the Banking Law, all loans made to managers, officers, employees or stockholders who are owners of 5% or more of the lending Bank's outstanding and issued capital stock shall be made on terms and conditions similar to those given by the bank to its clients in arm's-length transactions and which reflect market conditions. In addition, shares of a bank cannot be pledged or offered as security for loans or credit facilities issued by such bank.

In addition to the foregoing requirements, there are certain other restrictions applicable to General License Banks, including (1) a requirement that a bank must notify the Superintendency of Banks before opening or closing a branch or office in Panama and obtain approval from the Superintendency of Banks before opening or closing a branch or subsidiary outside Panama and (2) a requirement that a bank obtain approval from the Superintendency of Banks before it liquidates its operations, merges or consolidates with another bank or sells all or substantially all of its assets. The subsidiaries of Panamanian banks established in foreign jurisdictions must observe the legal and regulatory provisions applicable in Panama regarding the sufficiency of capital, as prescribed under the Banking Law.

The Banking Law provides that banks in Panama are subject to inspection by the Superintendency of Banks, which must take place at least once every two years. These supervisory powers of the Superintendency of Banks also extend to a bank's subsidiaries and branches. The Superintendency of Banks last inspected the Bank during April and May of 2006. Even though the results of this inspection have not been received, the Bank's management believes that the results will be fully satisfactory. Prior to this inspection, the Superintendency of Banks inspected the Bank in 2004, and the results of this inspection were fully satisfactory.

The Superintendency of Banks is empowered to request from any bank or any company that belongs to the economic group of which a bank in Panama is a member, the documents and reports pertaining to its operations and activities. Banks are required to file with the Superintendency of Banks monthly, quarterly and annually information, including financial statements, analysis of their credit facilities and any other information, requested by the Superintendency of Banks. In addition, banks are required to make available for inspection any reports or documents that are necessary for the Superintendency of Banks to ensure compliance with Panamanian banking laws and regulations. Banks subject to supervision may be fined by the Superintendency of Banks for violations of Panamanian banking laws and regulations.

Panamanian Anti Money Laundering laws and regulations. In Panama, all banks and all trust corporations must take measures necessary to prevent their operations and/or transactions from being used to commit the felony of money laundering, terrorism financing and any other illicit activity contemplated in the laws and regulations addressing this matter.

Money laundering is a criminal offense pursuant to Chapter VI, entitled Capital Laundering of title XII, Book II of the Panamanian Penal Code, articles 389, 390, 391, 392 and 393. In addition, there are specific laws and regulations for Anti Money Laundering: Decree -Law No. 42-2000 (October 2, 2000), and the Agreement No. 12-2005 (December 2005). The breach or contempt of the instructions given by the Superintendency of Banks regarding the anti money laundering may be sanctioned with a fine to the bank or the trust corporation of up to Ten thousand United States Dollars (USD10,000) per day according to the gravity of the offense or the degree of recidivism. Acts or omissions of an employee, director, officer, administrator or legal representative of a bank or trust corporation can be attributed to such entities.

United States Law

Bladex operates a New York state-licensed agency in New York, New York and maintains a wholly-owned non-banking subsidiary in Delaware that is not engaged in activities other than holding 0.001% interest in an affiliated company. On January 12, 2005, Bladex, after receiving approval from the Superintendency of Banks, applied to the Federal Reserve Board and the Florida Department of Financial Services to establish a representative office in Miami, Florida, United States. The Bank has received approval from the Florida Office of Financial Regulation and the Federal Reserve Board to establish an office in Miami.

New York State Law. The New York Agency, established in 1989, is licensed by the Superintendent of Banks of the State of New York (the Superintendent) under the New York Banking Law. The New York Agency maintains an international banking facility that also is regulated by the Superintendent and the Federal Reserve Board. The New York Agency is examined by the New York State Banking Department and is subject to banking laws and regulations applicable to a foreign bank that operates a New York agency. New York agencies of foreign banks are regulated substantially the same as, and have similar powers to, New York state-chartered banks, except with respect to capital requirements and deposit-taking activities.

The Superintendent is empowered by law to require any branch or agency of a foreign bank to maintain in New York specified assets equal to a percentage of the branch or agency's liabilities, as the Superintendent may designate. Under the current requirement, the New York Agency is required to maintain a pledge of 1% of its total third-party liabilities, subject to a minimum of $2 million. At December 31, 2005, the New York Agency maintained a pledge of $5 million, representing the minimum required amount.

In addition, the Superintendent retains the authority to impose specific asset maintenance requirements upon individual agencies of foreign banks on a case-by-case basis. No special requirement has been prescribed for the New York Agency.

The Superintendent is authorized to take possession of the business and property of a New York agency of a foreign bank whenever an event occurs that would permit the Superintendent to take possession of the business and property of a state-chartered bank. These events include the violation of any law, unsafe business practices, an impairment of capital, and the suspension of payments of obligations. In liquidating or dealing with an agency's business after taking possession of the agency, the New York Banking Law provides that the claims of creditors which arose out of transactions with the agency may be granted a priority with respect to the agency's assets over other creditors of the foreign bank.

Federal Law. In addition to being subject to New York State laws and regulations, the New York Agency is subject to federal regulations, primarily under the International Banking Act of 1978 (the IBA) and is subject to examination and supervision by the Federal Reserve. The IBA generally extends federal banking supervision and regulation to the United States offices of foreign banks and to the foreign bank itself. Under the IBA, the United States branches and agencies of foreign banks, including the New York Agency, are subject to reserve requirements on certain deposits. At present, the New York Agency has no deposits subject to such requirements. The New York Agency also is subject to reporting and examination requirements imposed by the Federal Reserve Board similar to those imposed on domestic banks that are members of the Federal Reserve System. The Foreign Bank Supervision Enhancement Act of 1991 (the FBSEA) has amended the IBA to enhance the authority of the Federal Reserve Board to supervise the operations of foreign banks in the United States. In particular, the FBSEA has expanded the Board's authority to regulate the entry of foreign banks into the United States, supervise their ongoing operations, conduct and coordinate examinations of their U.S. offices with state banking authorities, and terminate their activities in the United States for violations of law or for unsafe or unsound banking practices.

In addition, under the FBSEA, state-licensed branches and agencies of foreign banks may not engage in any activity that is not permissible for a federal branch (i.e., a branch of a foreign bank licensed by the federal government through the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency of the Treasury Department (OCC), rather than by a state), unless the Federal Reserve Board has determined that such activity is consistent with sound banking practices.

The New York Agency does not engage in retail deposit-taking in the United States, and deposits with the New York Agency are not insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC). Under the FBSEA, the New York Agency may not obtain FDIC insurance and generally may not accept deposits of less than $100,000.

The IBA also restricts the ability of a foreign bank with a branch or agency in the United States to engage in nonbanking activities in the United States, to the same extent as a United States bank holding company. Bladex is subject to certain provisions of the Federal Bank Holding Company Act of 1956 (the BHCA) because it maintains an agency in the United States. Generally, any nonbanking activity engaged in by Bladex directly or through a subsidiary in the United States is subject to certain limitations under the BHCA. Under the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Financial Modernization Act of 1999 (the GLB Act), a foreign bank with a branch or agency in the United States may engage in a broader range of non-banking financial activities, provided it is qualified and has filed a declaration with the Federal Reserve Board to be a financial holding company (FHC). As of the date hereof, Bladex has not filed such declaration with the Federal Reserve Board. At present, Bladex has one subsidiary in the United States, Bladex Holdings Inc. (Bladex Holdings), that is incorporated under Delaware law. That subsidiary is not engaged in any activity, other than owning 0.001% of a Brazilian limited liability company that serves as Bladex s Brazilian representative office.

The USA PATRIOT Act of 2001 (the PATRIOT Act) substantially broadened the scope of U.S. anti-money laundering laws and regulations by imposing significantly new compliance and due diligence obligations, creating new crimes and penalties and expanding the extraterritorial jurisdiction of the United States. Failure of a financial institution to comply with the PATRIOT Act s requirements could have serious legal and reputational consequences for an institution. The New York Agency is a financial institution within the meaning of the PATRIOT Act.

C. Organizational Structure

Banco Latinoamericano de Exportaciones, S.A. (in its individual capacity, Bladex Panama) has the following subsidiaries:

Bladex Representação Ltda., which was incorporated under the laws of Brazil on January 7, 2000 and continues to exist thereunder, and was established to operate our representative office in Brazil.

Bladex Holdings Inc., a wholly owned subsidiary, which was incorporated under the laws of the State of Delaware on May 30, 2000 and continues to exist thereunder.

Bladex Offshore Feeder Fund, which is a wholly owned subsidiary of the Bank, and was incorporated under the laws of the Cayman Islands on February 21, 2006, and in turn is the sole owner of Bladex Capital Growth Fund, which was also incorporated under the laws of the Cayman Islands on February 21, 2006. Both are investment funds that were established to operate a proprietary fixed income desk for the Bank.

Bladex Asset Management, Inc. a wholly owned subsidiary of Bladex Holdings Inc., which in turn is a wholly owned subsidiary of the Bank, was incorporated under the laws of the State of Delaware on May 24, 2006. The company will serve as investment manager for Bladex Offshore Feeder Fund and Bladex Capital Growth Fund.

Clavex, S.A., which is a wholly owned subsidiary, was incorporated under the laws of Panama on May 18, 2006 to offer from Panama financial and technology advisory services and solutions to facilitate trade and electronic banking in Latin America.

Bladex Leasing Latinoamericana, S.A., which is a wholly owned subsidiary, was incorporated under the laws of Panama on May 24, 2006 to engage in the domestic and international leasing business.

Clavex, LLC, a wholly owned subsidiary of Bladex Holdings Inc., which in turn is a wholly owned subsidiary of the Bank, was incorporated under the laws of the State of Delaware on June 15, 2006. The new subsidiary will offer from the United States solutions for the use of digital identification to facilitate trade and electronic banking in Latin America.

Banco Latinoamericano de Exportaciones, Limited, was a wholly owned subsidiary incorporated under the laws of the Cayman Islands (B.W.I.) on September 8, 1987. This subsidiary ceased all banking business and surrendered its banking license in December 2004 and was dissolved effective December 29, 2005.

The Bank established an agency in the State of New York, which began operations on March 27, 1989. The New York Agency is principally engaged in providing foreign trade financing. Since March 13, 2006, the Bank's operations in New York City have been located at 600 Lexington Avenue, 12th Floor, New York, New York 10022. The Bank also has representative offices in Buenos Aires, Argentina, and in Mexico City, Mexico.

At the end of 2004, the Bank received approval from the Superintendency of Banks to open a representative office in Miami, Florida, U.S.A.. The Bank has received approval from the Florida Office of Financial Regulation and, thereafter received approval from the Federal Reserve Board, to establish an office in Miami. The Bank plans to open this representative office during the third quarter of 2006.

The Bank commenced operations with stockholders' equity of $25 million paid by 186 stockholders and, at December 31, 2005, had stockholders' equity of $617 million. The Bank has three classes of common shares as follows:

Class A shares: Central banks or governmental financial institutions from 23 countries in the Region, own all of the Bank's Class A shares, which at December 31, 2005 comprised 17% of the Bank's common stock.

Class B shares: 125 commercial banks, mostly from the Region, own the Bank's Class B shares, which at December 31, 2005 comprised 8% of the Bank's common stock.

Class E shares: the Bank's Class E shares are listed on the New York Stock Exchange and at December 31, 2005 comprised 75% of its common stock.

As of December 31, 2005, the Board was comprised of three directors representing holders of the Class A common shares, five directors representing holders of the Class E common shares, and two directors representing all classes of common shares. On January 2, 2004, the Bank's Class B stockholders forfeited to the Class E stockholders their right to elect two directors, due to the percentage of Class B share ownership as of that date. For additional information regarding stockholders' voting rights see Articles of Incorporation.

D. Property, Plants and Equipment

The Bank owns its principal offices located at Calle 50 y Aquilino de La Guardia in Panama City, which was completed in 1983. The building, with office space of 3,457 square meters, is used solely by the Bank and is located on a 2,672 square meter site. As of the date hereof, the Bank also leases 136 square meters of office space in a nearby building. In addition, the Bank leases the following office space: (1) 150 square meters for its Buenos Aires Representative Office at Ave. Corrientes 617, 9^o Piso, Buenos Aires, Argentina, (2) 149 square meters for Bladex Representação Ltda. at Rua Leopoldo Couto de Magalhães Junior 110, 9^o Andar, Sao Paulo, SP, Brazil, (3) 130 square meters for its Mexico City Representative Office at Ruben Dario 281, Oficina No 1203, Colonia Bosque de Chapultepec, Mexico City, Mexico; and (4) 750 square meters of office space at 600 Lexington Avenue, 12th Floor, New York, NY 10022 for its New York Agency. See also Note 7 to Consolidated Financial Statements.

Item 5. Operating and Financial Review and Prospects

The following discussion should be read in conjunction with the Bank's Consolidated Financial Statements and the Notes thereto included elsewhere in this Annual Report.

Nature of Earnings

The Bank derives income principally from net interest income and, to a lesser extent, from fee income. Net interest income, or the difference between the interest income the Bank receives on its interest-earning assets and the interest it pays on interest-bearing liabilities, is generated principally by the Bank's lending activities. The Bank generates fee income mainly through the issuance, confirmation and negotiation of letters of credit and guarantees covering commercial and country risk, loan origination and sales.

A. Operating Results

The following table summarizes changes in components of the Bank's net income and performance at and for the periods indicated.

Net Income

The Bank's net income for the last three years reflected the effect of sales, payments and prepayments of the Bank's Argentine restructured portfolio. The $62 million net income reduction during 2005 was driven by lower net reversals of both, credit provisions and impairment losses, which amounted to $51 million, as compared to $112 million in 2004, resulting from the $247 million reduction in the non-accruing credit portfolio in Argentina and Brazil. Excluding the impact of the reversals of credit provisions and impairment losses, and net revenues from the non-accruing portfolio, net income for 2005 grew by 42%.

The $30 million net income increase during 2004 was mainly driven by higher net reversals of credit provisions, which amounted to $112 million, as compared to $59 million in 2003, resulting from the collection of $168 million in payments, and prepayments of principal on its Argentine portfolio. These higher reversals of credit provisions were partially offset by lower gains on sale of securities available for sale related to the Argentine portfolio.

Net Interest Income and Margins

The following table sets forth information regarding net interest income, the Bank's net interest margin (the net interest income divided by the average balance of interest-earning assets), and the net interest spread (the average yield earned on interest-earning assets, less the average yield paid on interest-bearing liabilities) for the periods indicated.

	For the Year Ended December 31,
	2003	2004	2005
	(in $ millions, except percentages)
Interest Income
Accruing assets	$73	$57	$108
Non-accruing assets	26	19	9
Total interest income	98	76	117
Interest expense	(44)	(34)	(72)
Net interest income	$54	$42	$45
Net interest margin	1.87%	1.65%	1.70%
Net interest spread	1.23%	0.98%	0.67%

The $3 million increase in net interest income and the increase in net interest margin in 2005, as compared to 2004, were mainly due to the positive effect of higher market interest rates on the Bank's interest earning assets. This factor offset the impact of lower interest collections on the Bank's decreasing non-accruing portfolio, which resulted in the decline in net interest spread.

Net interest income for 2004 declined $12 million compared to 2003 primarily due to lower operating net interest income, mostly related to:

- lower net lending spreads on the Bank's accruing loan portfolio, resulting from the generally improved risk perception in the Bank's markets and generally improved U.S. dollar liquidity; and
- lower interest collections on the non-accruing credit portfolio, resulting from principal reduction in the Bank's Argentine portfolio, as well as the reduction in the stock of non-trade credit portfolio, both of which yield a higher spread.

Distribution of Assets, Liabilities and Stockholders' Equity; Interest Rates and Differentials

The following table presents the distribution of consolidated average assets, liabilities and stockholders' equity, as well as the total dollar amounts of interest income from average interest-earning assets and the resulting yields, and the dollar amounts of interest expense and average interest-bearing liabilities, and corresponding information regarding rates. All impaired loans are on non-accruing status, and interest on these loans is accounted for on a cash basis. Average balances have been computed on the basis of consolidated daily average balance sheets.

Changes in Net Interest Income - Volume and Rate Analysis

Net interest income is affected by changes in volume and changes in interest rates. Volume changes are caused by differences in the level of interest-earning assets and interest-bearing liabilities. Rate changes result from differences in yields earned on interest-earning assets and rates paid on interest-bearing liabilities. The following table sets forth a summary of the Bank's changes in net interest income of the Bank resulting from changes in average interest-earning asset and interest-bearing liability balances (volume) and changes in average interest rates for 2003 compared to 2004 and 2004 compared to 2005. Volume and rate variances have been calculated based on movements in average balances over the period and changes in interest rates on average interest-earning assets and average interest-bearing liabilities. Variances caused by changes in both volume and rates have been allocated equally to volume and rate.

Reversal of Provision for Loan Losses

The Bank's $54 million reversal of provision for loan losses during 2005 was mainly due to the net effect of:

- a $61 million reversal related to the decrease in restructured loans, reflecting payments and prepayments during the year;
- a $3 million reversal due to recoveries from loans charged-off in previous years;
- $16 million in generic provision charges, due to increased loan exposure; and
- a $6 million reversal due to the change in the credit loss reserve methodology during 2005.

The $111 million provision reversal during 2004 was mainly due to provision reversals related to Argentina, including:

- $92 million in payments and prepayments on restructured loans,
- $6 million in loan recoveries, and
- $6 million in sales of loans.

In addition, during 2004, the Bank decreased $8 million in generic reserves assigned to certain countries mainly due to improved risk levels, and reversed $2 million in specific reserves related to a non-accruing loan in Brazil due to payments received. These reversals were partially offset by a $4 million increase in specific reserves assigned to a loan in Brazil placed on non-accrual status during the fourth quarter of 2004.

Of the reversal amount for 2003, $63 million resulted from the sale of impaired loans of six Argentine borrowers during the year. The $7 million balance related to a $15 million reduction in allowances for loan losses mostly related to Brazil, as a result of that country's improved economic situation, and an $8 million net increase in specific allowances for loan losses allocated to Argentine borrowers.

Commission Income

We generate commission income primarily from originating letters of credit confirmation, guarantees, country risk coverage, and loans. The following table shows the components of the Bank's commission income for the periods indicated.

	For the Year Ended December 31,
	2003	2004	2005
		(in $ thousands)
Letters of credit	$4,242	$3,894	$3,396
Guarantees:
Other guarantees	936	462	945
Country risk coverage business	1,251	1,078	1,066
Loans and other	1,460	603	464
Total Commission Income	$7,889	$6,037	$5,872

The decline of $165 thousand in commission income for 2005, compared to 2004, resulted mainly from lower pricing in the letter of credit business.

The decline of $2 million in commission income for 2004, compared to 2003, resulted mainly from a decline in loans and other commission income related to the Bank's decision to reduce loan commitments not related to foreign trade transactions; and a decrease in the average volume of letters of credit and guarantees.

Reversal (provision) for Losses on Off-Balance Sheet Credit Risk

The $16 million provision for losses on off-balance sheet credit risk in 2005 was mainly related to the effect of a change in the credit loss reserve methodology during 2005. The $1 million reversal during 2004 was mainly due to exposure reductions in certain countries.

Derivatives and Hedging Activities

During 2005, the Bank recorded income of $2 million mostly related to the unwinding of interest rate swaps associated with the sale of securities available for sale. During 2004, the Bank did not enter into new foreign exchange forward contracts or interest rate swaps transactions. The $8 million loss during 2003 was mostly related to the Bank's decision to unwind interest rate swaps associated with certain high yield fixed-rate securities.

Impairment Loss on Securities

During 2005, the Bank collected Argentine impaired securities for $11 million which had been written-off and charged to earnings in prior years. Also, during the year, an impaired security with a net carrying value of $469 thousand was written-off and charged to earnings. During 2004, the Bank did not identify any impairment loss on securities. During 2003, impairment losses on securities amounted to $1 million.

Gain on the Sale of Securities Available for Sale

From time to time, the Bank purchases debt instruments as part of its Treasury activity with the intention of selling them prior to maturity. These debt instruments are classified as securities available for sale and are included as part of the Bank's credit portfolio. During 2005, 2004 and 2003, the Bank had gains on the sale of securities available for sale for $206 thousand, $3 million and $22 million, respectively, mostly related to the sale of impaired Argentine securities.

Operating Expenses

The following table shows a breakdown of the components of total operating expenses for the periods indicated.

	For the Year Ended December 31,
	2003	2004	2005
	(in $ thousands)
Salaries and other employee expenses	$11,390	$10,335	$13,073
Depreciation	1,512	1,298	869

Other operating expenses	5,346	5,941	6,295
Total Operating Expenses	$22,561	$21,352	$24,691

The $3 million, or 16%, increase in operating expenses for 2005 compared to 2004, was mostly due to increased expenses associated with the strengthening of the Bank's sales team, the adoption of FAS 123R related stock-based compensation expense, and legal and consulting fees related to new product development and business initiatives.

The $1 million, or 5%, decline in operating expenses for 2004 compared to 2003, was mostly due to lower salaries and other employee expenses related to lower severance costs, restructuring reserves and performance bonuses, which were partially offset by higher insurance premiums, expenses related to new product development and branding, and increased business promotion efforts.

¹ SFAS 150 which required the inclusion of redeemable preferred stock as part of the other liability line item was effective as of July 1, 2003.

Edgar Filing: LATIN AMERICAN EXPORT BANK - Form 20-F

The $168 million increase in loans during 2005 was mainly attributable to the increase in the Bank's non-trade lending, which offset the reduction in the Bank's non-accruing portfolio.

The $167 million increase in loans during 2004 was mainly attributable to growth of the Bank's trade finance loan portfolio, which offset the decline in the Bank's non-accruing loans and the stock of non-trade medium-term loan portfolio.

Allowance for Loan Losses

During 2005, the allowance for loan losses decreased by $67 million to $39 million, primarily as a result of $48 million reversals of provision for loan losses mostly related to payments and pre-payments of non-accrual loans, the $12 million effect of a change in the credit loss reserve methodology, a $3 million recovery mostly related to a previously charged-off loan to a Mexican corporation, and $9 million in charge-offs related to the sale of an Argentine non-accruing loan and a loan to a Brazilian bank that ceased operations.

During 2004, the allowance for loan losses decreased by $118 million to $106 million, primarily as a result of reversal of provisions related to scheduled payments and pre-payments of Argentine restructured loans, as well as Argentine loan sales and recoveries. In addition, the Bank decreased generic reserves assigned to certain countries due to improved risk perception as reflected in country credit ratings (primarily Brazil) and due to the reduction of credit exposure in some countries in the Region, such as the Dominican Republic, Venezuela and Nicaragua.

Critical Accounting Policies

General

The Bank prepares its Consolidated Financial Statements in conformity with U.S. GAAP. As such, the Bank is required to use methods, make estimates, judgments and assumptions in applying its accounting policies that have a significant impact on the results it reports in its Consolidated Financial Statements. Some of the Bank's accounting policies require management to make difficult and subjective judgments, often as a result of the need to make estimates of matters that are inherently uncertain. The Bank's management bases its estimates on historical experience and on various other assumptions that it believes to be reasonable under the circumstances. Actual results may differ from the estimates.

The Bank's most critical accounting estimates include the assessment of allowance for credit losses, impairments on the value of securities that are other than temporary, and the fair value of financial instruments. For information regarding the Bank's most critical accounting policies see Note 2, Note 6 and Note 19 to the Consolidated Financial Statements.

B. Liquidity and Capital Resources

Liquidity

Liquidity refers to the Bank's ability to maintain adequate cash flows to fund operations and meet obligations and other commitments on a timely basis. The Bank maintains its liquid assets in demand deposits, overnight funds and time deposits with well-known international banks. These liquid assets are adequate to cover 24-hour deposits from customers, which theoretically could be withdrawn on the same day. At December 31, 2005, the Bank's 24-hour deposits from customers (overnight deposits, demand deposit accounts and call deposits) amounted to $28 million, representing 2.7% of the Bank's total deposits. In addition, the Bank had approximately $40 million to $45 million of time deposits maturing daily. The liquidity requirement resulting from these maturities is met by the Bank's liquid assets, which at December 31, 2005, were $225 million (representing 21% of total deposits), and by daily maturities of approximately $134 million to $186 million in the Bank's loan portfolio.

The Bank's overall objective is to have a minimum of 50% of its liquidity position represented by demand, call accounts and time deposits with maturities of less than one week, invested in overnight deposits, with the balance invested in short-term time deposits with maturities of up to six months in the inter-bank market. Inter-bank deposits are placed with reputable international banks that have A1, P1, or F1 ratings by two of the major rating agencies, and are located outside of the Region. These banks must have a correspondent relationship with the Bank and be approved by the Board on an annual basis. In addition, the Bank's liquidity policy allows for investing in negotiable money market instruments, such as Euro certificates of deposit, commercial paper, bankers' acceptances and other liquid instruments with maturities of up to 180 days. These instruments must be of investment grade quality (carrying two of the following ratings: A-1, P-1 or F-1 from Standard & Poor's, Moody's or Fitch, respectively) and must have a liquid secondary market.

The primary objectives for the investment of the Bank's liquidity funds are security and convertibility and the secondary objective is yield. The Bank reviews and monitors its liquidity position on a daily basis.

Edgar Filing: LATIN AMERICAN EXPORT BANK - Form 20-F

The following table shows the Bank's liquid assets, which consist of short-term funds deposited with other banks broken down by principal geographic area:

	At December 31,
	2003	2004	2005
	(in $ millions)
Europe	$206	$104	$189
United States	36	1	1
Other O.E.C.D.	10	45	35
Total	$253	$151	$225

While the Bank's liabilities generally mature over shorter periods than its assets, requiring the Bank to renew or create new liabilities at current interest rates, the associated risk is diminished by the short-term nature of the loan portfolio. At December 31, 2005, the average original term to maturity of the Bank's short-term loan portfolio was approximately 95 days.

At December 31, 2005, the Bank's cumulative maturity gap for the subsequent twelve-month period was positive. This means that the Bank has sufficient asset maturities in the next twelve months to cover the maturity of its liabilities.

Funding Sources

The Bank's principal sources of funds are deposits, borrowed funds and floating and fixed rate placements. While these sources are expected to continue to provide the majority of the funds needed by the Bank in the future, their mix, as well as the possible use of other sources of funds, will depend upon future economic and market conditions. The following table shows the Bank's funding distribution:

	At December 31,
	2003	2004	2005
	(in percentages)
Inter-bank deposits	35.6%	41.6%	41.2%
Short- and medium-term borrowings and placements	59.3%	53.3%	50.9%
Other liabilities.	5.1%	5.1%	7.9%
Total liabilities	100.0%	100.0%	100.0%

Short- and medium-term borrowings and placements are important funding sources for the Bank's loan portfolio because they permit the Bank to diversify its funding sources outside the Region, and because the Bank uses these borrowings and placements, which generally have longer maturities than deposits, to manage its asset and liability positions. See Asset/Liability Management.

Deposits

The Bank obtains deposits principally from central and commercial banks in the Region. At December 31, 2005, approximately 46% of the deposits held by the Bank were deposits made by central banks of countries in the Region. Many of these banks deposit a portion of their dollar reserves with the Bank. The average term remaining to maturity of deposits from central banks of countries in the Region at December 31, 2005 and 2004 was 39 days. The bulk of the Bank's remaining deposits is obtained primarily from commercial banks located in the Region. At December 31, 2005, 100% of the Bank's deposits are scheduled to mature within 12 months. At December 31, 2005, deposits from the Bank's five largest depositors, of which two were central banks in the Region, represented 59% of the Bank's total deposits.

Management believes that the 21% and 23% increase in deposits during 2005 and 2004, respectively, reflects the market's positive perception of Bladex and its investment grade credit risk ratings.

Short-Term Borrowings and Placements

The Bank's short-term borrowings consist of borrowings from banks and have maturities of up to 365 days. These borrowings are made available to the Bank on an uncommitted basis for the financing of trade-related loans. Approximately 55 European and North American banks provide these short-term borrowings from banks.

The average term remaining to maturity of short-term borrowings at December 31, 2005 was approximately 206 days. See Note 9 to the Consolidated Financial Statements.

The following table presents information regarding the amounts outstanding under, and interest rates on, the Bank's short-term borrowings at the dates and during the periods indicated.

Medium- and Long-Term Borrowings and Placements

Medium and long-term, borrowings and placements increased by $130 million during 2005 mostly due to a three-year revolving syndicated loan facility for $235 million which was oversubscribed, and several bilateral borrowings from international banks, with maturities of two and three years, and borrowings in the capital markets of up to five years. Medium and long-term obligations declined $82 million in 2004 mostly due to the reduction on the medium-term loan portfolio and low demand in debt markets for Latin American paper. The interest rates on most medium and long-term borrowings are adjusted semi-annually using six-month LIBOR plus a credit spread (which is based on several factors, including credit ratings, risk perception, and the maturity period). The Bank uses these funds to finance its medium-term loan portfolio. The average term remaining to maturity of the Bank's medium and long-term debt is 2.1 years.

The Bank's Euro Medium Term Note Program, or, EMTN Program, has a maximum limit of $2.3 billion. Notes issued under the EMTN Program are placed in Asia, Europe and North America, in either the Euro or Regulation S or 144A markets, and are general obligations of the Bank. The EMTN Program may be used to issue notes with maturities ranging from 90 days up to a maximum of 30 years, at fixed or floating interest rates and in various currencies. The sale of notes issued under the EMTN Program is generally made through one or more authorized financial institutions. The Bank has not actively used the EMTN Program in the past three years, since demand from our clients for medium term funding did not reach the expected levels. As of December 31, 2005, the total amount outstanding under this program with medium-term maturities was $44 million. The interest rate on all currently outstanding floating rate notes issued under the EMTN Program is adjusted quarterly or semi-annually using the applicable LIBOR rate. As part of its interest rate and currency risk management, the Bank has from time to time, entered into foreign exchange forward and cross currency contracts and interest rate swaps to hedge the risk associated with a portion of the notes issued under its EMTN Program. See Note 10 to the Consolidated Financial Statements and Quantitative and Qualitative Disclosure About Market Risk.

Dividends

In 2004, the Bank's Board re-instituted a policy of quarterly cash dividends on the Bank's common stock, and, from time to time has declared special dividends to its stockholders. During 2005, the Bank paid $23 million in quarterly dividends and $78 million in special dividend. Dividends are declared at the Bank Board's discretion. For additional information, please see Financial Information Dividends.

Asset/Liability Management

The Bank seeks to manage its assets and liabilities to reduce the potential adverse impact on net interest income that could result from interest rate changes. The Bank controls interest rate risk through systematic monitoring of maturity mismatches. The Bank's investment decision-making takes into account not only the rates of return and the respective underlying degree of risk, but also liquidity requirements, including minimum cash reserves, withdrawal and maturity of deposits and additional demand for funds.

Edgar Filing: LATIN AMERICAN EXPORT BANK - Form 20-F

For any given period, a matched pricing structure exists when an equal amount of assets and liabilities are repriced. An excess of assets or liabilities over these matched items results in a gap or mismatch, as shown in the table under Interest Rate Sensitivity below. A negative gap denotes liability sensitivity and normally means that a decline in interest rates would have a positive effect on net interest income, while an increase in interest rates would have a negative effect on net interest income. Substantially all of the Bank's assets and liabilities are denominated in dollars and, therefore, the Bank has no material foreign exchange risk.

Interest Rate Sensitivity

The following table presents the projected maturities and interest rate adjustment periods of the Bank's assets, liabilities and stockholders equity based upon the contractual maturities and adjustment dates at December 31, 2005. The Bank's interest-earning assets and interest-bearing liabilities and the related interest rate sensitivity gap shown in the following table may not reflect of positions in subsequent periods.

The Bank's interest rate risk arises from the Bank's liability sensitive short-term position, which means that the Bank's interest-bearing liabilities reprice more quickly than the Bank's interest-earning assets. As a result, there is a potential adverse impact on the Bank's net interest income that might result from interest rate increases.

The Bank's interest rate risk is managed by attempting to match the term and repricing characteristics of the Bank's interest rate sensitive assets and liabilities. The Bank's policy with respect to interest rate gaps also provides that the Bank is to match fund interest-earning assets over 365 days, depending on its interest rate basis. If it is floating rate, it is to be match funded at a 50% minimum, and if it is fixed rate, it is to be match funded at an 85% minimum. The Bank's policy with respect to interest rate gaps also provides that the Bank match fund interest-earning assets over 365 days. The Bank also has used interest rate swaps on a limited basis as part of its interest rate risk management. Interest rate swaps are made either in a single currency or cross-currency for a prescribed period to exchange a series of interest rate flows, which involve fixed for floating rate interest payments or vice versa. At December 31, 2005, the Bank had interest rate swaps for a notional amount of $115 million.

In view of the impact of the Argentine crisis on the Bank, Bladex developed a recapitalization plan, which was implemented during 2003. On June 27, 2003, the Bank completed the recapitalization process, raising $147 million at $6.68 per share, solely through a rights offering to existing common stockholders for the purchase of common stock. Following the recapitalization, the Bank's shareholding composition was 16% Class A shares, 10% Class B shares, and 74% Class E shares representing a total of 39 million shares.

The net increase in stockholders' equity during 2004 was mainly due to the following factors:

- Dividends paid to common stockholders for $59 million in 2004;
- The repurchase of $8 million Class E shares during 2004 pursuant to the Bank's stock repurchase program; and
- Net income of $142 million.

The net decrease in stockholders' equity during 2005 was mainly due to the following factors:

- Dividends paid to common stockholders for $101 million in 2005;
- The repurchase of $14 million Class E shares during 2005 pursuant to the Bank's stock repurchase program; and
- Net income for $80 million.

At December 31, 2005, the Bank had repurchased $21 million in Class E shares pursuant to the Bank's $50 million stock repurchase program, which was commenced in August 2004. See Dividends and Purchases of Equity Securities by the Issuer and Affiliated Purchasers for additional information.

Capital reserves are established by the Bank from retained earnings and are a form of retained earnings according to Panamanian banking regulations. Capital reserves are intended to strengthen the Bank's capital position. Reductions of these reserves, for example to pay dividends, require approval of the Board of the Bank and Panamanian banking authorities. Panamanian banking regulations do not require the Bank to maintain any particular level of capital reserves.

At December 31, 2005, the capital ratio of total stockholders' equity to total assets was 19.5%. Although the Bank is not subject to the capital adequacy requirements of the United States Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System (the Federal Reserve Board), if the Federal Reserve Board's fully phased-in risk-based capital guidelines applied to the Bank, the Bank's ratios would have exceeded all applicable capital adequacy requirements. At December 31, 2005, the Bank's Tier 1 and total capital ratios calculated according to these guidelines were 33.7% and 35.0%, respectively. The Banking Law (as defined under Information on the Company Business Overview Regulation) in Panama, which became effective on June 12, 1998, requires the Bank to maintain a minimum total capital to risk-weighted asset ratio of 8% (each, as defined in the Banking Law). At December 31, 2005, the Bank's total capital to risk-weighted asset ratio, calculated according to the guidelines of the Banking Law, was 21.0%. See Information on the Company Business Overview Regulation Panamanian Law.

D. Trend Information

The following are the most important trends, uncertainties and events that are reasonably likely to materially affect the Bank or that would cause the financial information disclosed herein not to be indicative of the Bank's future operating results or financial condition:

The effect that changes in global economic conditions including oil and other commodities prices, the U.S. dollar exchange rate, interest rates, and slower economic growth in developed countries and trading partners, and the effect that these changes may have on the economic condition of countries in the Region.

The effect that an economic slowdown or political events in large Latin American countries may have on the Bank's asset quality, results of operations and growth prospects.

Continued improvement in risk perception in the Bank's markets, increased competition and U.S. dollar liquidity could further pressure spreads over LIBOR on the Bank's accruing portfolio, which in turn, could reduce the Bank's net interest spreads.

A downturn in the capital markets or a downturn in investor confidence.

In addition, see Key Information - Risk Factors for a discussion of the risks the Bank faces, which could affect the business, results of operations or financial condition.

E. Off-Balance Sheet Arrangements

In the ordinary course of business, to meet the financing needs of its customers, the Bank enters into arrangements that are not recognized on its balance sheet. At December 31, 2005, the Bank's off-balance sheet arrangements included stand-by letters of credit, guarantees (commercial risk and country risk) reimbursement undertakings and credit commitments (including other commitments and unused commitments). See Note 16 to the Consolidated Financial Statements. These arrangements are kept off-balance sheet as long as the Bank does not incur an obligation from them or itself become entitled to an asset. A reserve for losses on off-balance sheet credit risk is recognized on the balance sheet, with the resulting loss recorded in the income statement. The amount recognized on the balance sheet does not represent the full potential loss inherent in such arrangements.

For 2005, commission income from off-balance sheet arrangements amounted to $6 million. For additional information see Results of Operations - Commission Income. The Bank's credit policy establishes the recognition of a reserve for estimated losses on off-balance sheet credit risk with the resulting charge to the income statement. During 2005 and 2004, the amounts provisioned in this reserve were $16 million and $(1) million, respectively.

During November 2003, the Bank made a commitment to invest $5 million in an equity investment fund, whose main objective is to invest in the Mexican export industry and its supply chain. At December 31, 2005 and 2004, the total investment was $3 million and $1 million, respectively.

No obligations have arisen from variable interest entities as defined in FIN 46.

The Bank has entered into agreements that contain indemnification provisions, such as indemnification agreements with its executive officers and directors, and provides indemnity insurance pursuant to which directors and officers are indemnified or insured against liability or loss under certain circumstances including liabilities or related losses arising under the Securities Act and the Exchange Act.

F. Contractual Obligations and Commercial Commitments

Purchase Agreements

The Bank has signed service agreements with certain vendors that provide services that are necessary for the ongoing operations of its business and mainly related to the implementation during 2005 and 2006, of a new technology platform and telecommunications services. The terms of these agreements are up to 8 years and some of these agreements can be re-negotiated for annual or semi-annual price adjustments, after the fifth year. These agreements also include maintenance and license payments, starting from 2007. During 2005 amounts paid under these agreements are $2 million. See Note 16 to the Consolidated Financial Statements.

B. Compensation

Cash Compensation

Executive Officers

The aggregate amount of cash compensation paid by the Bank during the year ended December 31, 2005 to the executive officers of the Bank as a group for services in all capacities was $2,633,036. During the fiscal year ended December 31, 2005, the Bank accrued, and in February 2006, paid performance-based bonuses to the Bank's executive officers in the aggregate amount of $847,000. At December 31, 2005, the total amount set aside or accrued by the Bank to provide pension, retirement or similar benefits for executive officers was approximately $554,276.

The Bank sponsors a defined contribution plan for its expatriate officers. The Bank's contributions are determined as a percentage of the eligible officer's annual salary, with each officer contributing an additional amount withheld from his salary and deposited in a savings account with the Bank, earning interest at market rates. During the years 2005, 2004, and 2003, the Bank charged to salaries expense $165,188, $178,626, $139,934, respectively, with respect to this plan. As of December 31, 2005 and 2004, the accumulated liability payable under this contribution plan amounted to $483,839 and $356,369, respectively.

2005 CEO Compensation

The 2005 compensation of the Bank's chief executive officer included a base salary of $300,000, a performance-based cash bonus of $235,000, a performance-based indexed stock option grant with a value of $231,000, a retirement plan that included a contribution from the Bank of $35,292 during 2005, and executive perquisites for $11,660. In addition, the CEO has a contractual severance payment in case of termination without cause of $300,000.

Board of Directors Compensation

The Board revised the compensation of the directors on July 19, 2003. As part of the revised compensation plan each non-employee director of the Bank is eligible to receive an annual amount of up to $30,000 for services as a director and an additional amount of $1,500 for each meeting of the Board and each meeting of stockholders attended, and $1,000 for each Board Committee meeting attended. The Chairman of the Board is eligible to receive an additional 50% of the compensation that other directors are eligible to receive. The Chairman of each Committee of the Board is eligible to receive an additional amount of $500 for each Board Committee meeting attended. The aggregate amount of cash compensation paid by the Bank during the year ended December 31, 2005 to the directors of the Bank as a group for their services as directors was $679,250.

Share Compensation and Ownership

Share Compensation

During 1995 and 1999, the Board approved two stock option plans for employees (the 1995 and 1999 Stock Option Plans). On July 19, 2003, the Board decided to discontinue these plans and consequently, no additional options were granted. As of December 31, 2005, 62,766 Class E shares had been purchased through the exercise of stock options granted under the 1995 and 1999 Stock Option Plans.

For additional information regarding the 1995 and 1999 Stock Option Plans, see Note 14 to the Consolidated Financial Statements.

In 1999, the Board approved the adoption of two employee stock programs, the Deferred Equity Unit Plan (the DEU Plan) and the Deferred Compensation Plan (the DC Plan). Each of these plans were implemented in the year 2001 and subsequently terminated in July 2003. While awards are no longer being granted under these plans, as of December 31, 2005, an aggregate number of 122 and 27,953 deferred equity units, representing the right to acquire the same number of Class E shares or the economic equivalent thereof, had been granted to eligible employees of the Bank and were outstanding under the DEU Plan and the DC Plan, respectively. For additional information regarding Deferred Equity and Deferred Compensation Plans, see Note 14 to the Consolidated Financial Statements.

In 2000, the Board adopted a stock option plan (the Board Plan) for the non-employee directors of the Bank, which, was subsequently terminated in 2003. As of December 31, 2005, stock options with respect to 2,584 Class E shares had been granted by the Board under the Board Plan at an exercise price of $32.88 per Class E share. On February 2006, all of the stock options granted by the Board under the Board Plan expired, and none of the stock options granted were exercised. For additional information regarding the Board Plan, see Note 14 to the Consolidated Financial Statements.

Edgar Filing: LATIN AMERICAN EXPORT BANK - Form 20-F

On April 13, 2004, the Board approved an indexed stock option plan (the Indexed Stock Option Plan) for officers and directors, which, was subsequently terminated in April 2006. As of December 31, 2005, indexed options with respect to 32,480 and 304,440 Class E shares had been granted to directors and officers, respectively, by the Board under the Indexed Stock Option Plan. For additional information regarding the Indexed Stock Option Plan, see Note 14 to the Consolidated Financial Statements.

In 2003, the Board adopted the Board Restricted Stock Plan for the non-employee directors of the Bank. During 2005, 2004 and 2003 the Bank issued under this plan, 5,320, 6,242 and 9,547, Class E shares, respectively, and compensation expense charged against income was $95 thousand each year. C. Board Practices

Corporate Governance

The Board has decided not to constitute a corporate governance committee. Given the importance that corporate governance has for the Bank, the Board decided to address all matters related to corporate governance in plenary meetings of the Board. The Audit and Compliance Committee is responsible for promoting continued improvement in the Bank's corporate governance and to verify compliance with all applicable policies.

The Bank has included the information regarding its corporate governance practices necessary to comply with Section 303A of the New York Stock Exchange's Listed Company Manual/Corporate Governance Rules on its website (www.blx.com). Additionally, the Bank's website (under Corporate Governance) provides a summary of the significant differences between corporate governance practices commonly used by the Bank and other public companies in Panama and the NYSE Standards for U.S. domestic companies.

Stockholders, employees of the Bank, and other interested parties may communicate directly with the Board by corresponding to the address below. Correspondence will be discussed at the next scheduled meeting of the Board, or as indicated by the urgency of the matter.

Committees of the Board of Directors

The Board conducts its business through meetings of the Board and through its Committees. During the fiscal year ended December 31, 2005, the Board held twelve meetings. Each director attended approximately 89% of the total number of Board meetings held during the fiscal year ended December 31, 2005.

The following table sets forth the four Committees established by the Board, the current number of members of each Committee and the total number of meetings held by each Committee during the fiscal year ended December 31, 2005:

Committee	Number of members	Total number of meetings held
Audit and Compliance Committee	4	11
Credit Policy and Risk Assessment Committee	5	6
Assets and Liabilities Committee	5	6
Nomination and Compensation Committee	4	5

The Bank has included the charters of its four Committees established by the Board on its website www.blx.com.

Audit and Compliance Committee

The Audit and Compliance Committee is a standing Committee of the Board. According to its Charter, the Audit and Compliance Committee must be comprised of at least three directors. The current members of the Audit and Compliance Committee are Will C. Wood (Chairman of the Audit and Compliance Committee), Gonzalo Menéndez Duque, Santiago Perdomo and Maria da Graça França.

All members of the Audit and Compliance Committee are independent directors, as determined by the Board, and at least one director is a financial expert. No member of the Audit and Compliance Committee is an employee of the Bank.

The Audit and Compliance Committee meets at least six times a year, as required by the Superintendency of Banks of Panama, or more often if the circumstances so require.

The Audit and Compliance Committee reviewed and recommended to the Board that the audited consolidated financial statements of the Bank for the year ended December 31, 2005 be included in the Bank's Annual Report. The Audit and Compliance Committee also recommended to the Board that it retain KPMG as its external independent auditors for the fiscal year ending December 31, 2006. The Audit and Compliance Committee pre-approves all audit and non-audit services.

According to its Charter, the Audit and Compliance Committee's main oversight responsibilities include the following:

Review the quality of the accounting policies used in the preparation of the Bank's interim consolidated financial statements, the annual consolidated financial statements and the annual report on Form 20-F. Consider whether they are complete and consistent with the information known to Committee members, and appropriately reflect accounting principles.

Review the effect and impact of regulatory and professional pronouncements, as well as unusual or complex transactions and off balance sheet structures, on the Financial Statements.

Consider and review the effectiveness of the Bank's internal controls over interim and annual financial information, including data and information technology security and control.

Review and evaluate the performance of the External Auditors, determine their fees and give final approval for a recommendation to the stockholders on their renewal or replacement at the annual Stockholders' Meeting. Monitor the independence of the external auditors.

Review the effectiveness of the system established for monitoring compliance with laws and regulations (including policies and procedures against money laundering and terrorism finance), and the results of the investigations and follow-up (including disciplinary actions) made by Management in any instances of non-compliance.

Establish and maintain procedures for: (i) receipt, filing and handling of complaints received by the Bank regarding accounting, accounting internal controls or audit issues; and (ii) confidential and anonymous submission of concerns regarding questionable accounting or audit issues.

Review the Bank's compliance with its Code of Ethics.

Review and evaluate the adequacy of the work performed by the Bank's Controller, Chief Auditor, and Compliance Officer.

The Charter of the Audit and Compliance Committee requires an annual self-evaluation of the Committee's performance.

Nomination and Compensation Committee

The Nomination and Compensation Committee is a standing Committee of the Board. No member of the Nomination and Compensation Committee can be an employee of the Bank. The Board has determined that all members of the Nomination and Compensation Committee are independent. The current members of the Nomination and Compensation Committee are Santiago Perdomo (Chairman of the Committee), Mario Covo, Maria da Graça França, and William Hayes.

The Committee meets at least four times per year.

The Nomination and Compensation Committee's primary responsibilities are to assist the Board by identifying candidates to become Board members, and recommending nominees for the annual meetings of stockholders; by making recommendations to the Board concerning candidates for Chief Executive Officer and other senior management, and counseling on succession planning for senior management; by recommending compensation for Board members and Committee members, including cash and equity compensation; by recommending compensation for senior management and employees of the Bank, including cash and equity compensation, and policies for senior management and employee benefit programs and plans; and by reviewing and recommending changes to the Bank's Code of Ethics; and by advising senior management on issues related to the Bank's personnel.

The Charter of the Nomination and Compensation Committee requires an annual self-evaluation of the Committee's performance.

Advisory Council

The Advisory Council was created by the Board in April 2000 pursuant to the powers granted to the Board under the Bank's Articles of Incorporation. The duties of Advisory Council members consist primarily of providing advice to the Board with respect to the business of the Bank in their areas of expertise. Each member of the Advisory Council receives $5,000 for each Advisory Council meeting attended. The aggregate amount of fees paid by the Bank during the fiscal year ended December 31, 2005 for services rendered by the Advisory Council during 2005 was $20,000. During the fiscal year ended December 31, 2005, the Advisory Council met once. The Advisory Council meets when convened by the Board.

The following table sets forth the names, positions, countries of citizenship and ages of the members of the Advisory Council of the Bank.

B. Related Party Transactions

Edgar Filing: LATIN AMERICAN EXPORT BANK - Form 20-F

Certain directors of the Bank are executive officers and/or directors of banks and/or other financial institutions located in Latin America, the Caribbean and elsewhere. Some of these banks and/or other financial institutions own shares of the Bank's common stock and have entered into loan transactions with the Bank in the ordinary course of business. The terms and conditions of such loan transactions, including interest rates and collateral requirements, are substantially the same as the terms and conditions of comparable loan transactions entered into with other persons under similar market conditions. As a matter of policy, directors of the Bank do not participate in the approval process for credit facilities extended to institutions of which they are executive officers or directors nor do they participate with respect to decisions regarding country exposure limits in countries in which such institutions are domiciled.

At December 31, 2005, the Bank did not have any outstanding credit exposure with related parties as defined by the Panamanian Superintendency of Banks.

B. Plan of Distribution

Not required in this Annual Report.

C. Markets

The Bank's Class A shares and Class B shares were sold in private placements or sold in connection with the Bank's 2003 rights offering, are not listed on any exchange and are not publicly traded. The Bank's Class E shares, which constitute the only class of shares publicly traded (on the New York Stock Exchange), represent approximately 75% of the total shares of the Bank's common stock issued and outstanding at December 31, 2005. The Bank's Class B shares are convertible into Class E shares on a one to one basis.

D. Selling Shareholders

Not required in this Annual Report.

E. Dilution

Item 10. Additional InformationA. Share Capital

Not required in this Annual Report.

B. Memorandum and Articles of Association

The Amended and Restated Articles of Incorporation, filed as an exhibit to the Form 20-F for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2002 filed with the Commission on February 24, 2003, is referred to and incorporated by reference into this Item 10.B.

C. Material Contracts

The Bank has signed service agreements with certain vendors that provide services that are necessary for the ongoing operations of its business and mainly related to the implementation during 2005 and 2006, of a new technology platform and telecommunications services. The terms of these agreements are up to 8 years and some of these agreements can be re-negotiated for annual or semi-annual price adjustments, after the fifth year. These agreements also include maintenance and license payments, starting from 2007. During 2005 amounts paid under these agreements are $2 million. See Note 16 to the Consolidated Financial Statements.

D. Exchange Controls

Currently, there are no Panamanian restrictions on the export or import of capital, including foreign exchange controls, and no restrictions on the payment of dividends or interest, nor are there limitations on the rights of foreign stockholders to hold or vote stock.

E. Taxation

The following is a summary of certain U.S. federal and Panamanian tax matters that may be relevant with respect to the acquisition, ownership and disposition of Class E shares. Prospective purchasers of Class E shares should consult their own tax advisors as to the United States, Panamanian or other tax consequences of the acquisition, ownership and disposition of Class E shares.

This summary does not address the consequences of the acquisition, ownership or disposition of the Bank's Class A shares or Class B shares.

United States Taxes

This summary describes the principal U.S. federal income tax consequences of the ownership and disposition of the Class E shares, but does not purport to be a comprehensive description of all of the tax considerations that may be relevant to holders of Class E shares. This summary applies only to current holders that hold Class E shares as capital assets and does not address classes of holders that are subject to special treatment under the United States Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the Code), such as dealers in securities or currencies, financial institutions, tax-exempt entities, regulated investment companies, insurance companies, securities traders that elect mark-to-market tax accounting, persons subject to the alternative minimum tax, certain U.S. expatriates, persons holding Class E shares as part of a hedging, constructive ownership or conversion transaction or a straddle, holders whose functional currency is not the U.S. dollar, or a holder that owns 10% or more (directly, indirectly or constructively) of the voting shares of the Bank.

This summary is based upon the Code, existing, temporary and proposed regulations promulgated there under, judicial decisions and administrative pronouncements, as all in effect on the date of this Annual Report and which are subject to change (possibly on a retroactive basis) and to differing interpretations. Purchasers or holders of Class E shares should consult their own tax advisors as to the U.S. federal, state and local, and foreign tax consequences of the ownership and disposition of Class E shares in their particular circumstances.

As used herein, a U.S. Holder refers to a beneficial holder of Class E shares that is, for U.S. federal income tax purposes, (1) an individual citizen or resident of the United States, (2) a corporation, or an entity treated as a corporation, organized or created in or under the laws of the U.S. or any political subdivision thereof, (3) an estate the income of which is subject to U.S. federal income taxation without regard to the source of its income, (4) a trust, if both (A) a court within the United States is able to exercise primary supervision over the administration of the trust and (B) one or more U.S. persons (as defined in the Code) have the authority to control all substantial decisions of the trust, or a trust that has made a valid election under U.S. Treasury Regulations to be treated as a domestic trust, and (5) any holder otherwise subject to U.S. federal income taxation on a net income basis with respect to Class E shares (including a non-resident alien individual or foreign corporation that holds, or is deemed to hold, any Class E share in connection with the conduct of a U.S. trade or business). In the case of a holder of Class E shares that is a partnership for U.S. federal income tax purposes, each partner will take into account its allocable share of income, gain or loss from the Class E shares, and will take such income, gain or loss into account under the rules of taxation applicable to such partner, taking into account the activities of the partnership and the partner.

Taxation of Distributions

Subject to the Passive Foreign Investment Company Status discussion below, to the extent paid out of current or accumulated earnings and profits of the Bank as determined under U.S. federal income tax principles (earnings and profits), distributions made with respect to Class E shares (other than certain pro rata distributions of capital stock of the Bank or rights to subscribe for shares of capital stock of the Bank) will be includable in income of a U.S. Holder as ordinary dividend income in accordance with the U.S. Holder's regular method of accounting for U.S. federal income tax purposes whether paid in cash or Class E shares. To the extent that a distribution exceeds the Bank's earnings and profits, such distribution will be treated, first, as a nontaxable return of capital to the extent of the U.S. Holder's tax basis in the Class E shares and will reduce the U.S. Holder's tax basis in such shares, and thereafter as a capital gain from the sale or disposition of Class E shares. See Taxation - United States Taxes - Taxation of Capital Gains. The amount of the distribution will equal the gross amount of the distribution received by the U.S. Holder, including any Panamanian taxes withheld from such distribution.

Distributions made with respect to Class E shares out of earnings and profits generally will be treated as dividend income from sources outside the United States. U.S. Holders that are corporations will not be entitled to the dividends received deduction under Section 243 of the Code with respect to such dividends. Dividends may be eligible for the special 15% rate applicable to qualified dividend income received by an individual, provided, that (1) the Bank is not a passive foreign investment company in the year in which the dividend is paid and the immediately preceding year, (2) the class of stock with respect to which the dividend is paid is readily tradable on an established securities market in the U.S., and (3) the U.S. Holder held his shares for more than 60 days during the 121-day period beginning 60 days prior to the ex-dividend date and meets other holding period requirements. Subject to certain conditions and limitations, Panamanian tax withheld from dividends will be treated as a foreign income tax eligible for deduction from taxable income or as a credit against a U.S. Holder's U.S. federal income tax liability. Distributions of dividend income made with respect to Class E shares generally will be treated as passive income or, in the case of certain U.S. Holders, financial services income, for purposes of computing a U.S. Holder's U.S. foreign tax credit.

Less than 25 percent of the Bank's gross income is effectively connected with the conduct of a trade or business in the United States, and the Bank expects this to remain true. If this remains the case, a holder of Class E shares that is not a U.S. Holder (a non-U.S. Holder) generally will not be subject to U.S. federal income tax or withholding tax on distributions received on Class E shares that are treated as dividend income for U.S. federal income tax purposes. Special rules may apply in the case of non-U.S. Holders (1) that are engaged in a U.S. trade or business, (2) that are former citizens or long-term residents of the United States, controlled foreign corporations, corporations that accumulate earnings to avoid U.S. federal income tax, and certain foreign charitable organizations, each within the meaning of the Code, or (3) certain non-resident alien individuals who are present in the United States for 183 days or more during a taxable year. Such persons should consult their own tax advisors as to the U.S. federal income or other tax consequences of the ownership and disposition of Class E shares.

Taxation of Capital Gains

Gain or loss realized by a U.S. Holder on the sale or other disposition of Class E shares will be subject to U.S. federal income tax as capital gain or loss in an amount equal to the difference between the U.S. Holder's tax basis in the Class E shares and the amount realized on the disposition. Such gain will be treated as long-term capital gain if the Class E shares are held by the U.S. Holder for more than one year at the time of the sale or other disposition. Otherwise, the gain will be treated as a short-term capital gain. Gain realized by a U.S. Holder on the sale or other disposition of Class E shares generally will be treated as U.S. source income for U.S. foreign tax credit purposes, unless the gain is attributable to an office or fixed place of business maintained by the U.S. Holder outside the United States or is recognized by an individual whose tax home is outside the United States, and certain other conditions are met. For U.S. federal income tax purposes, capital losses are subject to limitations on deductibility. As a general rule, U.S. Holders that are corporations can use capital losses for a taxable year only to offset capital gains in that year. A corporation may be entitled to carry back unused capital losses to the three preceding tax years and to carry over losses to the five following tax years. In the case of non-corporate U.S. Holders, capital losses in a taxable year are deductible to the extent of any capital gains plus ordinary income of up to $3,000. Unused capital losses of non-corporate U.S. Holders may be carried over indefinitely.

A non-U.S. Holder of Class E shares will generally not be subject to U.S. federal income tax or withholding tax on gain realized on the sale or other disposition of Class E shares. Special rules may apply in the case of non-U.S. Holders (1) that are engaged in a U.S. trade or business, (2) that are former citizens or long-term residents of the United States, controlled foreign corporations, corporations which accumulate earnings to avoid U.S. federal income tax, and certain foreign charitable organizations, each within the meaning of the Code, or (3) certain non-resident alien individuals who are present in the United States for 183 days or more during a taxable year. Such persons should consult their own tax advisors as to the United States or other tax consequences of the purchase, ownership and disposition of the Class E shares.

Passive Foreign Investment Company Status

Under the Code, certain rules apply to an entity classified as a passive foreign investment company (PFIC). A PFIC is defined as any foreign (i.e., non-U.S.) corporation if either (1) 75% or more of its gross income for the taxable year is passive income (generally including, among other types of income, dividends, interest and gains from the sale of stock and securities) or (2) 50% or more of its assets (by value) produce, or are held for the production of, passive income. The Code provides an exception for foreign institutions in the active conduct of a banking business, provided the institution is licensed to do business in the United States. Under proposed regulations, the exception is for active banks licensed by federal or state regulatory authorities to do business as a bank in the United States, provided the foreign bank is not prohibited from taking deposits or making loans. Based on its current and intended method of operations as described herein, the Bank believes that it is not a PFIC under current U.S. federal income tax law because it is eligible for the exception available to U.S. licensed banks in the Code and the proposed regulations. The Bank intends to continue to operate in a manner that will entitle the Bank to rely upon that exception to avoid classification as a PFIC.

If the Bank were to become a PFIC for purposes of the Code, unless a U.S. Holder makes the election described below, a U.S. Holder generally will be subject to a special tax charge with respect to (a) any gain realized on the sale or other disposition of Class E shares and (b) any excess distribution by the Bank to the U.S. Holder (generally, any distributions including return of capital distributions, received by the U.S. Holder on the Class E shares in a taxable year that are greater than 125 percent of the average annual distributions received by the U.S. Holder in the three preceding taxable years, or, if shorter, the U.S. Holder's holding period). Under these rules (1) the gain or excess distribution would be allocated ratably over the U.S. Holder's holding period for the Class E shares, (2) the amount allocated to the current taxable year would be treated as ordinary income, (3) the amount allocated to each prior year would be subject to tax at the highest rate in effect for that year; and (4) an interest charge at the rate generally applicable to underpayments of tax would be imposed with respect to the resulting tax attributable to each such prior year. For purposes of the foregoing rules, a U.S. Holder of Class E shares that uses such stock as security for a loan will be treated as having disposed of such stock.

If the Bank were a PFIC, U.S. Holders of interests in a holder of Class E shares may be treated as indirect holders of their proportionate share of the Class E shares and may be taxed on their proportionate share of any excess distributions or gain attributable to the Class E shares. An indirect holder also must treat an appropriate portion of its gain on the sale or disposition of its interest in the actual holder as gain on the sale of Class E shares.

If the Bank were to become a PFIC, a U.S. Holder could make an election, provided the Bank complies with certain reporting requirements, to have the Bank treated, with respect to such U.S. Holder, as a qualified electing fund (hereinafter referred to as a QEF election), in which case, the electing U.S. Holder would be required to include annually in gross income the U.S. Holder's proportionate share of the Bank's ordinary earnings and net capital gains, whether or not such amounts are actually distributed. If the Bank were to become a PFIC, the Bank intends to so notify each U.S. Holder and to comply with all reporting requirements necessary for a U.S. Holder to make a QEF election and will provide to record U.S. Holders of Class E shares such information as may be required to make such QEF election.

Edgar Filing: LATIN AMERICAN EXPORT BANK - Form 20-F

If the Bank is a PFIC in any year, a U.S. Holder that beneficially owns Class E shares during such year must make an annual return on Internal Revenue Service Form 8621, which describes the income received (or deemed to be received if a QEF election is in effect) from the Bank. The Bank will, if applicable, provide all information necessary for a U.S. Holder of record to make an annual return on Form 8621.

A U.S. Holder that owns certain marketable stock in a PFIC may elect to mark-to-market such stock and, subject to certain exceptions, include in income any gain (increases in market value) or loss (decreases in market value to the extent of prior gains recognized) realized as ordinary income or loss to avoid the adverse consequences described above. U.S. Holders of Class E shares are urged to consult their own tax advisors as to the consequences of owning stock in a PFIC and whether such U.S. Holder would be eligible to make either of the aforementioned elections to mitigate the adverse effects of such consequences.

Information Reporting and Backup Withholding

Each U.S. payor making payments in respect of Class E shares will generally be required to provide the Internal Revenue Service (the IRS) with certain information, including the name, address and taxpayer identification number of the beneficial owner of Class E shares, and the aggregate amount of dividends paid to such beneficial owner during the calendar year. Under the backup withholding rules, a holder may be subject to backup withholding at a current rate of 28% with respect to proceeds received on the sale or exchange of Class E shares within the United States by non-corporate U.S. Holders and to dividends paid, unless such holder (1) is a corporation or comes within certain other exempt categories (including securities broker-dealers, other financial institutions, tax-exempt organizations, qualified pension and profit sharing trusts and individual retirement accounts), and, when required, demonstrates this fact or (2) provides a taxpayer identification number, certifies as to no loss of exemption and otherwise complies with the applicable requirements of the backup withholding rules. Non-U.S. Holders are generally exempt from information reporting and backup withholding, but may be required to provide a properly completed Form W-8BEN (or other similar form) or otherwise comply with applicable certification and identification procedures in order to prove their exemption. This backup withholding tax is not an additional tax and any amounts withheld from a payment to a holder of Class E shares will be refunded (or credited against such holder's U.S. federal income tax liability, if any) provided that the required information is furnished to the IRS.

There is no income tax treaty between Panama and the United States.

Panamanian Taxes

The following is a summary of the principal Panamanian tax consequences arising in connection with the ownership and disposition of the Bank's Class E shares. This summary is based upon the laws and regulations of Panama, as well as court precedents and interpretative rulings, in effect as of the date of this Annual Report, all of which are subject to prospective and retroactive change.

General Principle

The Bank is exempt from income tax in Panama under a special exemption granted to the Bank pursuant to Law 38 of July 25, 1978. In addition, under general rules of income tax in Panama, only income that is deemed to be Panama source income is subject to taxation in Panama. Accordingly, since the Bank's income is derived primarily from sources outside of Panama and is not deemed to be Panama source income, even in the absence of such a special exemption, the Bank would have limited income tax liability in Panama.

Taxation of Distributions

Dividends whether cash or in kind, paid by the Bank in respect of its shares are also exempt from dividend tax or other withholding under the aforementioned special legislation. If such special legislation did not exist, Panama would impose a 10% withholding tax on dividends or distributions paid in respect of the Bank's registered shares (20% in respect of the Bank's bearer shares), to the extent such dividends are paid from income derived by the Bank from Panamanian sources.

Taxation of Capital Gains

Inasmuch as almost all of the Bank's income derives from non-Panamanian sources, capital gains realized by an individual or a corporation, regardless of its nationality or residency, on the sale or other disposition outside of Panama of Class E shares should not be subject to taxation in Panama. However, there are no rules of income allocation currently in effect in Panama with respect to capital gains and it cannot be determined with certainty when the tax authorities would consider that a significant amount of the Bank's income derives from Panamanian sources, thus resulting in the taxation of capital gains realized on the sale or disposition of the Bank's Class E shares.

Item 11. Quantitative and Qualitative Disclosure About Market Risk

The Bank's risk management policies, as approved by the Board from time to time, are designed to identify and control the Bank's credit and market risks by establishing and monitoring appropriate limits on the Bank's credit and market exposures. Certain members of the Board constitute the Assets and Liabilities Committee, which meet on a regular basis and monitor and control the risks in each specific area. At the management level, the Bank has a Risk Management Department that measures and controls the credit and market exposure of the Bank.

The Bank's businesses are subject to market risk. The components of market risk are interest rate risk inherent in the Bank's balance sheet, price risk in the Bank's principal investing portfolio and market value risk in the Bank's trading portfolios. For quantitative information relating to the Bank's interest rate risk and information relating to the Bank's management of interest rate risk, see "Liquidity and Capital Resources", and Note 17 and Note 2(q) to the Consolidated Financial Statements.

For information regarding derivative financial instruments see Note 17 and Note 2 (q) to the Consolidated Financial Statements. For information regarding investment securities see "Information on the Company Business Overview Investment Securities" and Note 4 to the Consolidated Financial Statements.

Foreign Exchange Risk Management and Sensitivity

The Bank accepts deposits and raises funds principally in United States dollars, and makes loans mostly in United States dollars. At December 31, 2005, the Bank did not have non-dollar financial liabilities. Currency exchange risk arises when the Bank accepts deposits or raises funds in one currency and lends or invests the proceeds in another. Failure to adequately manage this risk could adversely affect the Bank's results of operations if the value of the currency in which the Bank borrows declines compared to the value of the currency in which it lends or invests. During 2005, the Bank managed this risk by not holding significant open foreign exchange positions. The Bank uses foreign exchange forward contracts as part of its management of currency risks. Foreign currency-denominated loans are funded with liability instruments denominated in the same currency. In the cases where these loans were funded in different currencies, forward foreign currency exchange or cross-currency swap contracts were used to fully hedge the risk resulting from this cross-currency funding.

Item 12. Description of Securities Other than Equity Securities

Not required in this Annual Report.

PART IIItem 13. Defaults, Dividend Arrearages and Delinquencies

None.

Item 14. Material Modifications to the Rights of Security Holders and Use of Proceeds

None.

Item 15. Controls and Procedures

Evaluation of Disclosure Controls and Procedures

The Bank maintains disclosure controls and procedures that are designed to ensure that information required to be disclosed in the reports it files under the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (the Exchange Act), is recorded, processed, summarized and reported within the time periods specified in the Commission's rules and forms. Such controls include those designed to ensure that information for disclosure is communicated to the members of the Board and management, including the Chief Executive Officer (the CEO), as appropriate to allow timely decisions regarding required disclosure.

The CEO and Chief Financial Officer (the CFO), with the participation of management, evaluated the effectiveness of the Bank's disclosure controls and procedures as of December 31, 2005. Based on such evaluation, the CEO and the CFO have concluded that, as of the end of such period, the Bank's disclosure controls and procedures are effective in recording, processing, summarizing and reporting, on a timely basis, information required to be disclosed by the Bank in the reports that it files or submits under the Exchange Act.

Changes in Internal Controls

There have not been any changes in the Bank's internal control over financial reporting (as such term is defined in Rules 13a-15(f) and 15d-15(f) under the Exchange Act) during the Bank's fiscal year ended December 31, 2005, that have materially affected, or are reasonably likely to materially affect, the Bank's internal control over financial reporting.

Item 16. Reserved

A. Audit and Compliance Committee Financial Expert

The Bank's Board has determined that the Bank has at least one audit and compliance committee financial expert serving on its Audit and Compliance Committee. The Audit and Compliance Committee financial expert is Mr. Gonzalo Menéndez Duque.

B. Code of Ethics

The Bank adopted a code of ethics that applies to the Bank's principal executive officer and principal financial and accounting officers. The Bank includes the information regarding its corporate governance practices necessary to comply with Section 303A of the New York Stock Exchange's Listed Company Manual/Corporate Governance Rules, including its code of ethics on its website (www.blx.com).

C. Principal Accountant Fees and Services

The following table sets forth the aggregate fees billed for each of the fiscal years ended December 31, 2004 and 2005 for professional services rendered by the Bank's independent auditors, KPMG:

	2004	2005
Audit Fees	$356,225	$336,674
Tax Fees	37,583	20,500
All Other Fees	79,741	797
Total	$473,549	$357,971

The following is a description of the type of services included within the categories listed above:

Audit Fees include aggregate fees billed for professional services rendered by KPMG for the audit of the Bank's annual financial statements or services that are normally provided by KPMG in connection with statutory and regulatory filings.

Tax Fees include aggregate fees billed for professional services rendered by KPMG to the Bank for tax compliance, tax advice and tax planning.

All Other Fees include aggregate fees billed for products and services provided by KPMG to the Bank, other than the services reported in the two preceding paragraphs.

Audit and Compliance Committee Pre-Approval Policies

The Audit and Compliance Committee pre-approves all audit and non-audit services to be provided to the Bank by the Bank's independent auditors.

D. Exemptions from the Listing Standards for Audit Committees

Not applicable.

E. Purchases of Equity Securities by the Issuer and Affiliated Purchasers

On August 5, 2004, the Bank announced a $50 million three-year open market stock repurchase program under which Bladex, may from time to time, repurchase its Class E shares of common stock, on the open market at the then prevailing market price. Repurchases under the program are made in accordance with applicable law, and subject to all required regulatory approvals. The repurchases are made using Bladex's cash resources, and the program may be suspended or discounted at any time without prior notice.

At December 31, 2005 the Bank has paid $21 million for 1,267,800 shares repurchased. The following table shows information about shares repurchased by the Bank in the open market:

REPORT OF INDEPENDENT REGISTERED PUBLIC ACCOUNTING FIRM

To the Board of Directors and Stockholders
Banco Latinoamericano de Exportaciones, S. A.

We have audited the accompanying consolidated balance sheets of Banco Latinoamericano de Exportaciones, S. A. and subsidiaries as of December 31, 2005 and 2004, and the related consolidated statements of operations, changes in stockholders equity and comprehensive income, and cash flows for each of the years in the three-year period ended December 31, 2005. These consolidated financial statements are the responsibility of the Bank's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these consolidated financial statements based on our audits.

We conducted our audits in accordance with the standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States). Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the consolidated financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Banco Latinoamericano de Exportaciones, S. A. and subsidiaries as of December 31, 2005 and 2004, and the results of their operations and their cash flows for each of the years in the three-year period ended December 31, 2005, in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles.

As further disclosed in Note 2(o) and 6 to the consolidated financial statements, the Bank changed its method of accounting for share-based compensation plan and its methodology for estimating generic allowances for credit losses in 2005.

BANCO LATINOAMERICANO DE EXPORTACIONES, S. A.
AND SUBSIDIARIES

Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements
December 31, 2005 and 2004

(1) Organization

Banco Latinoamericano de Exportaciones, S. A. (Bladex Head Office and together with its subsidiaries Bladex or the Bank), headquartered in Panama City, Republic of Panama is a specialized supranational bank established to finance trade in Latin America and the Caribbean (the Region). The Bank was established pursuant to a May 1975 proposal presented to the XX Assembly of Governors of Central Banks in the Region, which recommended the creation of a multinational organization to increase the foreign trade financing capacity of the Region. The Bank was organized in 1977, constituted in 1978 as a corporation pursuant to the laws of the Republic of Panama, and officially initiated operations on January 2, 1979.

The Bank operates under a general banking license issued by the National Banking Commission, predecessor of the Superintendency of Banks of Panama, and is subject to its supervision and inspection.

Bladex s subsidiaries are the following:

Bladex Holdings Inc. is a wholly owned subsidiary, incorporated under the laws of the State of Delaware, United States of America, on May 30, 2000 and continues to exist thereunder.

Bladex Representacao Ltda., incorporated under the laws of Brazil on January 7, 2000 and continues to exist there under, was established to act as the Bank s representative office in Brazil. Bladex Representacao Ltda. is 99.999% owned by Bladex Head Office and 0.001% owned by Bladex Holdings Inc.

The Bank has an agency in the United States of America (the New York Agency), which began operations on March 27, 1989. The New York Agency is principally engaged in obtaining inter-bank deposits and short-term borrowings to finance the Bank s short-term investments and foreign trade loans. The Bank also has representative offices in Buenos Aires, Argentina, and in Mexico City, D.F., Mexico.

In addition, Banco Latinoamericano de Exportaciones Limited, a wholly owned subsidiary, incorporated under the laws of the Cayman Islands (B.W.I.) ceased its banking operations on November 30, 2004 and was dissolved on 2005. All financial assets and liabilities were transferred to Bladex Head Office and recorded at their carrying amount.

(2) Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

(a) Basis of Presentation

The consolidated financial statements have been prepared under generally accepted accounting principles in the United States of America (U.S. GAAP). All amounts presented in the consolidated financial statements and notes are expressed in U.S. dollars.

(b) Principle of Consolidation

The consolidated financial statements include the accounts of Bladex (Head Office), its agencies and subsidiaries. All significant inter-company balances and transactions have been eliminated for consolidation purposes.

Certain amounts in prior years have been reclassified to conform to the current year s presentation.

(c) Use of Estimates

The preparation of the consolidated financial statements requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent liabilities at the date of the consolidated financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates. Material estimates that are particularly susceptible to significant change relate to the determination of the allowances for credit losses and impairment losses on securities.

(d) Cash Equivalents

For purposes of the consolidated statements of cash flows, cash equivalents consist of due from banks, interest-bearing deposits with banks with original maturities of three months or less, except certificates of deposit and banker s acceptances pledged.

(e) Repurchase and Resale Agreements

Repurchase and resale agreements are treated as collateralized financing transactions and are carried at the amounts at which the securities will be subsequently reacquired or resold, including accrued interest, as specified in the respective agreements. The Bank s policy is to take possession of securities purchased under agreements to resell and to relinquish possession of the securities sold under agreements to repurchase. The market value of securities to be repurchased and resold is monitored, and additional collateral is obtained where appropriate, to protect against credit exposure.

(f) Investment Securities

Securities are classified at the date of purchase based on the ability and intent to sell or hold them as investments. These securities consist of debt securities such as: negotiable commercial paper, banker s acceptances, bonds and floating rate notes and equity securities.

1) Trading Securities

Securities classified as trading have been bought and held principally for the purpose of selling them in the near term and are carried at fair value, which is determined based upon quoted prices when available, or if quoted market prices are not available, on discounted expected cash flows using market rates commensurate with the credit quality and maturity of the security. Changes in the fair value are recorded in earnings.

2) Securities Available for Sale

These securities consist of mostly debt instruments that the Bank buys with the intention of selling them prior to maturity, and are subject to the same approval criteria as the rest of the credit portfolio. These securities are carried at fair value, based on quoted market prices when available, or if quoted market prices are not available, on discounted expected cash flows using market rates commensurate with the credit quality and maturity of the security. Unrealized gains and losses are reported as net increase or decreases to accumulated other comprehensive income (loss) until they are realized.

3) Securities Held to Maturity

Securities classified as held to maturity represent securities that the Bank has the ability and the intent to hold until maturity and are carried at amortized cost and are subject to the same approval criteria as the rest of the credit portfolio.

Interests on securities are recognized based on the interest method. Amortization of premiums and accretion of discounts, are included in interest income as an adjustment to the yield. Realized gains and losses from the sales of securities, which are included in net gains on sales of securities, are determined using the specific identification method.

Declines in fair value that are determined to be other than temporary are charged to earnings. Accrual of income is suspended on fixed maturities that are in default, or on which it is likely that future interest payments will not be made as scheduled.

(g) Other Investments

An investment in a fund and other equity investments are reported at cost and are included in other assets.

(h) Loans

Loans are reported at their principal amounts outstanding net of unearned income, and deferred loan fees and allowance for loan losses. Interest income is recognized using the interest method. The amortization of net unearned income and deferred loan fees are recognized as an adjustment to the related loan yield over the term of the loan by a method that approximates the interest method.

Loans are identified as impaired and placed on a cash (non-accrual) basis when it is determined that the payment of interest or principal is doubtful when interest or principal is past due for 90 days or more, or before if the Bank's management determines that the ultimate collection of principal or interest is doubtful. Any interest receivable that was accrued during the current period is reversed and any interest accrued in prior periods is charged-off against earnings. Interest on non-accrual loans is only recorded as earned when collected. Cash basis loans are returned to an accrual status when (1) all contractual principal and interest amounts are reasonably assured of repayment (2) there is a sustained period of repayment performance in accordance with the contractual terms of at least six months, which is the minimum required by the Superintendency of Banks of Panama; and (3) if in the Bank's Management's opinion the loan is fully collectible. When current events or available information confirms that specific impaired loans or portions thereof are uncollectible, these credit losses are deducted from the allowance for loan losses. Factors considered by the Bank's management in determining impairment include collection status, collateral value, the probability of collecting scheduled principal and interest payment when due, and economic conditions in the borrowing country.

A loan is classified as a troubled debt restructuring if a significant concession in amount, maturity or interest rate is granted to the borrower due to the deterioration in its financial condition. Securities received in exchange for loan claims in debt restructurings are initially recorded at fair value, with any gain or loss recorded as recovery to the allowance, and are subsequently accounted for as securities available for sale.

Transfers of financial assets, primarily loans, are accounted for as sales when control over the assets has been surrendered. Control over transferred assets is deemed to be surrendered when: (1) the assets have been isolated from the Bank; (2) the transferee obtains the right (free of conditions that constrain it from taking advantage of that right) to pledge or exchange the transferred assets; and (3) the Bank does not maintain effective control over the transferred assets through an agreement to repurchase them before their maturity. Upon completion of a transfer of assets that satisfies the conditions described above to be accounted for as a sale, the Bank recognizes the assets as sold and records in earnings any gain or loss on the sale.

(i) Allowance for Credit Losses

The allowance for credit losses is provided for risk on losses, derived from the credit extension process, inherent in the loan portfolio and off-balance sheet financial instruments, using the reserve method of providing for credit losses. Additions to the allowance for credit losses are made by charges to earnings. Credit losses are deducted from the allowance, and subsequent recoveries are added. The allowance is also decreased by reversals of the allowance back to earnings.

Bladex's management estimate losses on impaired loans, on a loan-by-loan basis. This estimate considers all available evidence including, as appropriate, the present value of expected future cash flows discounted at the loan's contractual effective rate, the secondary market value of the loan, the fair value of the collateral, and other factors.

Bladex's management estimates probable credit losses on the rest of its credit portfolio using an expected loss forecast model, which considers historical loss experience, internal ratings, as well as country, client and risk elements. The model establishes guidelines for the application of management's qualitative judgment to complement the statistical estimate of losses. These guidelines take into consideration the potential impact of portfolio concentrations, the absence of a lender of last resort in a dollarized economy, such as Panama, model imprecision, and external economic factors.

The allowance attributable to loans is reported as a deduction of loans and the allowance for off-balance sheet credit risk, such as: letters of credit and guarantees, is reported as liabilities.

(j) Fair Value of Guarantees Including Indirect Indebtedness of Others

The Bank recognizes a liability for the fair value of all the obligations undertaken such as: stand-by letters of credit and guarantees. Fair value is calculated based on the present value of the premium to be received or an specific off-balance sheet allowance based on FAS 5 is established, whichever is greater.

(k) Commission Income

Loan origination fees, net of direct loan origination costs are deferred and the net amount is recognized over the contractual term of the loans as an adjustment to the yield. These fees, net of direct loan origination costs, are not recognized during periods in which interest income on loans is suspended because of concerns about the realization of loan principal or interest.

Fees received in connection with a modification of terms of a troubled debt restructuring are applied as a reduction of the recorded investment in the loan. All related costs, including direct loan origination costs, are charged to expense as incurred. Fees earned on letters of credit, guarantees and commitments are amortized over the life of such instruments.

(l) Premises and Equipment

Premises and equipment are carried at cost less accumulated depreciation, except land, which is carried at cost. Depreciation is charged to operations using the straight-line method, and is provided over the estimated useful life of the related asset. The estimated original useful life for building is 40 years and for furniture and equipment is 3 to 5 years.

(m) Capitalized Internal Use Software Costs

The Bank capitalizes the cost of internal-use software that has a useful life in excess of one year in accordance with SOP 98-1, Accounting for the Costs of Computer Software Developed or Obtained for Internal Use. These costs consist of payments made to third parties related to the use of licenses and installation of both, software and hardware, and other related costs. Subsequent additions, modifications or upgrades to internal-use software are capitalized only to the extent that they allow the software to perform a task it previously did not perform. Software maintenance and training costs are expensed in the period in which they are incurred. Capitalized internal use software costs will be amortized using the straight-line method over their estimated useful lives, generally consisting of 3 to 7 years.

During the year 2005, the Bank disbursed US$2,445 thousand related to a project to install a software package obtained for internal-use. The Bank's management estimates that the project will be completed during 2006.

(n) Capital Reserves

According to Panamanian banking regulations, capital reserves are established by the Bank as a carve-out of retained earnings and are, as such, a form of retained earnings. Reductions of these capital reserves require the approval of the Bank's Board of Directors and the Superintendency of Banks of Panama.

(o) Cash and Stock Based Compensation Plan

During the fourth quarter of 2005, the Bank chose to make an early adoption of the Statement of Financial Accounting No.123(R) Share-Based Payment which established the use of the fair-value-based method, considered the preferable accounting method, of accounting for stock-based employee compensation. As prescribed in this standard, the Bank elected to use the modified prospective application for new and previously granted awards that are not fully vested on the effective date. Compensation cost is based on the fair value of the awards granted and is recognized over the requisite service period of the award. The fair value of each option is estimated at the grant date using the Black-Scholes option-pricing model. The Bank has the policy of re-issuing shares from treasury shares. As a result of the early adoption of this rule, a compensation cost of US$555 thousand was recorded during 2005. The adjustment of US$150 thousand to apply retroactively the new method is included in income of 2005. The pro forma amounts shown on the income statement have been adjusted for the effect of retroactive application of compensation cost, which would have been applied, had the new method been in effect.

Historically, the Bank applied the intrinsic method as provided in Accounting Principles Board Opinion No.25 (APB 25), Accounting for Stock Issued to Employees and related interpretations and accordingly, no compensation cost had been recognized for stock options in prior years.

(p) Redeemable Preferred Stock

The Bank accounts as liabilities all financial instruments that embody an obligation to the issuer. The accrual of interest payable is charged to interest expense.

(q) Derivative Financial Instruments

The Bank makes use of derivative financial instruments, primarily interest rate swaps, as part of its management of interest rate risks.

Interest rate swaps are the most common type of derivative contract used to modify exposure to interest rate risk, converting fixed-rate assets and liabilities to a floating rate. These financial instruments are used to manage interest rate risk through the exchange of interest payments based on a predetermined notional principal amount. The underlying principal balances are not affected. All amounts are included in earnings consistent with the classification of related interest of the hedged item.

The accounting for changes in value of a derivative depends on whether the contract is for trading purposes or has been designated and qualifies for hedge accounting. In order to qualify for hedge accounting, a derivative must be considered highly effective at reducing the risk associated with the exposure being hedged. Each derivative must be designated as a hedge, with documentation of the risk management objective and strategy, including identification of the hedging instrument, the hedged item and the risk exposure, as well as how effectiveness will be assessed prospectively and retrospectively. The extent to which a hedging instrument is effective at achieving offsetting changes in fair value or cash flows must be assessed at least quarterly. Any ineffectiveness must be reported in current-period earnings.

The Bank carries all derivatives in the balance sheets at fair value. For qualifying fair value hedges, all changes in the fair value of the derivative and the fair value of the item for the risk being hedged are recognized in earnings. If the hedge relationship is terminated, then the fair value adjustment to the hedge item continues to be reported as part of the basis of the item and is amortized to earnings as a yield adjustment. For qualifying cash flow hedges, the effective portion of the change in the fair value of the derivative is recorded in other comprehensive income and recognized in the income statement when the hedged cash flows affect earnings. If the hedge relationship is terminated, then the change in fair value of the derivative recorded in other comprehensive income is recognized when the cash flows that were hedged occurs.

(r) Foreign Currency Transactions

Assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies are re-measured into U.S. dollar equivalents using period-end spot foreign exchange rates. The effects of re-measuring assets and liabilities into the U.S. dollar as the functional currency are included in other income (expense) and recorded as gains (losses) on foreign currency exchange.

(s) Income Taxes

Bladex Head Office is exempt from the payment of income taxes. Bladex Representacao Ltda., in Brazil, is subject to income taxes. The New York Agency and Bladex's subsidiary incorporated in the United States of America are subject to United States of America federal and local taxation based on the portion of income that is effectively connected with its operations in that country. Such amounts have been immaterial to date.

(t) Earnings Per Share

Earnings per share (EPS) are computed by dividing income available to common stockholders (the numerator) by the average number of common shares outstanding (the denominator) during the year.

Diluted EPS measures performance incorporating the effect that potential common shares, such as stock options outstanding during the same period, would have on EPS. The computation is similar to the computation of EPS, except that the denominator is increased to include the number of additional common shares using the treasury stock method that would have been outstanding if the diluted potential common shares had been issued.

(3) Cash and Cash Equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents are as follows:

(In US$thousands)

	December 31,

Impairment is evaluated considering numerous factors, and their relative significance varies case to case. Factors considered include the length of time and extent to which the market value has been less than cost, the financial condition and near-term prospects of the issuer and the intent and ability to retain the security in order to allow for an anticipated recovery in market value. If, based on the analysis, it is determined that the impairment is other-than-temporary, the security is written down to fair value, and a loss is recognized through earnings.

The unrealized losses are due to overall increases in market interest rates and not due to underlying credit concerns of the issuers. At December 31, 2005 and 2004, the Bank believes that none of the securities in its investment portfolio are other-than-temporarily impaired.

At December 31, 2005 and 2004, securities available for sale with a carrying value of US$119.3 million and US$62.4 million, respectively, were pledged to secure borrowings for securities sold under repurchase agreements.

During 2005, the Bank collected Argentine impaired securities for US$10.7 million which had been written-off and charged to earnings in prior years. This recovery was recorded in earnings as recoveries (impairment) on securities. During the year, an impaired security with a net carrying value of US$469 thousand was written-off and charged to earnings.

The following table presents the realized components of investment securities transactions attributable to securities available for sale:

(In US$ thousands)

	December 31,

In the normal course of business, at December 31, 2005 and 2004, the Bank has credit activity transactions with 22% and 23%, respectively of its Class A and B stockholders (See Note 12). All transactions are made based on arm's-length terms and subject to prevailing commercial criteria and market rates and are subject to all of the Bank's Corporate Governance and control procedures. At December 31, 2005 and 2004, approximately 40% and 49%, respectively, of the outstanding loan portfolio is placed with the Bank's Class A and B stockholders and their related parties. At December 31, 2005, the Bank was not directly or indirectly owned or controlled by another corporation or any foreign government, and no Class A or B shareholder was the registered owner of more than 3.5% of the total outstanding shares of the voting capital stock of the Bank.

(6) Allowance for Credit Losses

The allowance for credit losses is available to absorb estimated probable credit losses existing in the credit portfolio at the date of the consolidated balance sheets.

During the third quarter of 2005, Bladex implemented a new methodology for estimating generic allowances for credit losses. The new methodology incorporates eight years of statistical data on Bladex's historical loss performance in the calculation of expected loss and loss given default ratios replacing the use of general probability of default information from rating agencies in the former model. The Bank believes that this new methodology provide a more adequate level of allowance for credit losses.

The effect of the change in methodology for 2005 decreased the net income by US$10 million (or US$0.26 per share). The adjustment of US$2.7 million to apply retroactively (to December 31, 2004) the new methodology is included in income of 2005. The pro forma amounts shown on the income statement have been adjusted for the effect of retroactive application of credit loss reserve, which would have been applied, had the new methodology been in effect.

The Bank classifies the allowance for credit losses into two components:

a) Allowance for Loan Losses:

		December 31,
		2005	2004	2003
Balance at beginning of the year	US$	106,352	224,347	429,720

The Bank's funding activities include a Euro-Medium-Term Note program (EMTN Program), which, in October 1997, was increased to a maximum of US$2.3 billion. The program may be used to issue notes with maturities from 90 days up to a maximum of 30 years, at fixed, floating interest rates, or at discount, and in various currencies. The notes are generally sold in bearer or registered form through one or more authorized financial institutions. During 2005 and 2004, the Bank issued notes for US$15 million and US$10 million, respectively, under this program.

Early Extinguishment of Debt

During the first quarter of 2004, the Bank repurchased in the market at discount, notes issued under its EMTN program, with a face value of US$5 million and due in 2004 which resulted in realized gains of US$6 thousand.

(11) Redeemable Preferred Stock

The redeemable preferred stock is non-voting. If the Bank fails to pay the minimum dividend of 8% for three years, and certain other conditions were not complied with, the preferred stockholders have the right to elect a Director. In case of a liquidation of the Bank, the preferred stockholders are entitled to receive a liquidation preference of US$10 per share, plus accrued and unpaid dividends. The Bank is required to redeem preferred stock at its par value by means of a sinking fund designed to retire 20% of the aggregate par value of the preferred stock outstanding as of March 15, 2002, and on March 15 of each of the subsequent years up to 2006. On May 16, 2005, the Bank redeemed 304,639 outstanding shares, chosen by lot on March 23, 2005. At December 31, 2005 and 2004, the Bank had 202,633 and 169,719 preferred stocks, respectively, redeemed but not claimed by preferred shareholders. During the 2005, the Bank repurchased 630 preferred shares.

Edgar Filing: LATIN AMERICAN EXPORT BANK - Form 20-F

Preferred stockholders have the right to receive an interest on their preferred stock equivalent to the same percentage as the common stockholders (excluding from the calculation any common stock issued as stock dividend).

(12) Common Stock

The Bank's common stock is divided into three categories:

- 1) Class A ; shares may only be issued to Latin American Central Banks or banks in which the state or other government agency is the majority shareholder.
- 2) Class B ; shares may only be issued to banks or financial institutions.
- 3) Class E ; shares may be issued to any person whether a natural person or a legal entity.

The holders of Class B shares have the right to convert or exchange their Class B shares, at any time, and without restriction, for Class E shares, at a rate of one to one.

The following table provides detailed information on the Bank's common stock activity per class for each of the years in the three-year period ended December 31, 2005:

(13) Capital Issuance and Related Costs

During 2003, the Bank increased its paid-in capital by US$147 million through a stock rights offering. At December 31, 2003, the accumulated direct costs provided by the financial advisors as well as legal and others were US$11.9 million, which was recorded as a deduction from additional paid-in capital.

(14) Cash and Stock Based Compensation Plans

The Bank established equity compensation plans under which it administers restricted stock and stock options plans to attract, retain and motivate Directors, and key employees to compensate them for their contributions to the growth and profits of the Bank.

a) Restricted Stock Directors

During 2003, the Board of Directors approved a restricted stock award program for non-employee Directors of the Bank. Restricted stock may be sourced from treasury stock, or authorized un-issued shares. On a yearly basis, the Bank's Board of Directors may grant Class E shares for each Director worth US$10 thousand, and to the Chairman of the Board worth US$15 thousand, all based on Bladex's closing price in the NYSE at the last trading date preceding the grant. The restricted stocks have a cliff vesting after five years. During 2005, 2004 and 2003, the Bank issued under this plan, 5,320, 6,242 and 9,547, Class E common shares respectively, and related compensation costs charged against income was US$95 thousand for each year.

b) Indexed Stock Option Plan 2003 Directors and Key Employees

During 2003, the Board of Directors approved an indexed stock option plan for non-employee Directors and key employees of the Bank. On annual basis, the plan allows Directors to receive options to purchase Class E shares from treasury shares already held, for an equivalent amount of US$10 thousand, and for the Chairman of the Board, an equivalent amount of US$15 thousand. The number of options granted for key employees is determined by the Board of Directors based on the target of each eligible position and the value of the option at grant date.

Edgar Filing: LATIN AMERICAN EXPORT BANK - Form 20-F

The indexed stock options expire in seven years with a cliff-vesting period of four years. The exercise price is adjusted based on the change in a customized Latin America general market index.

A summary of the status of the share options granted under the indexed stock option plans is presented below:

	December 31,

As of December 31, 2005, the Bank had an unrecognized compensation cost of US$1.1 million related to non-vested options granted under the Plan, which will be recognized over a period of 3.08 years.

The fair value of each option granted is estimated at the grant date using the Black-Scholes option-pricing model, based on the following factors:

	December 31,
	2005	2004
Weighted average fair value option	5.25	6.62
Weighted average expected term	6.17 years	5.37 years
Expected volatility	51.37 %	51.37 %
Risk-free rate	3 %	3 %
Expected dividends	6.70 %	6.70 %

c) Stock Option Plan - Directors and Employees

During 2000, the Board of Directors approved a stock option plan for non-employee Directors of the Bank. The exercise price of each option must equal 100% of the market value of the stock at the grant date and becomes 100% exercisable one year after the grant date and expire on the fifth year after the grant date.

Edgar Filing: LATIN AMERICAN EXPORT BANK - Form 20-F

During 1995 and 1999, the Board of Directors approved two stock option plans for employees (the 1995 and 1999 Stock Option Plan). For 1995 and 1999, stock option plans, the stock options were granted at a purchase price equal to the average market value of the common stock at the grant date; one third of the options may be exercised on each successive year and two years, respectively, after the grant date and expire on the tenth anniversary after the grant date.

On July 19, 2003, the Board of Directors approved discontinuing these plans therefore, no additional stock options have been granted.

A summary of the status of the stock options granted to Directors and employees is presented below:

d) Other Employee Plans

Expatriate officers plan:

The Bank sponsors a defined contribution plan for its expatriate top executives. The Bank's contributions are determined as a percentage of the eligible officers' annual salary, with each officer contributing an additional amount withheld from his salary and deposited in a saving account, at market interest rates. During the years 2005, 2004 and 2003, the Bank charged to salaries expense, US$165 thousand, US$179 thousand, and US$140 thousand, respectively. As of December 31, 2005, 2004 and 2003, the accumulated liability payable amounted to US$484 thousand, US$356 thousand and US$572 thousand, respectively.

Deferred equity unit plan (the DEU Plan):

The DEU Plan allowed eligible employees to invest up to 25% of their annual profit sharing in Class E shares. The employee received a grant of one DEU for every two participating shares. Every DEU represented the right to receive a Class E share. On July 19, 2003, the Bank's Board of Directors approved discontinuing this plan and consequently, no additional options were granted. During December 2005, 2004, and 2003, the Bank recorded as expense the market value of the related Class E shares of US$0.2 thousand, US$0.2 thousand and US$1.9 thousand, respectively corresponding to 122 DEU to be exercisable in February 2006.

Deferred compensation plan (the DC Plan):

The DC Plan has two separate features. Under the first component, the Bank may grant to each eligible employee a number of DEU equal to an amount equivalent to a percentage, not to exceed 3%, of the employee's compensation, divided by the market value of a Class E share. Eligible employees will vest the DEU after three years of service. Distributions are made in respect of DEU on the later of (i) the date the vested DEU are credited to an employee's account and (ii) ten years after the employee is first credited with DEU under the DC Plan. Participating employees receive dividends, and receive additional deferred equity units in lieu of a dividend with respect to their unvested deferred equity units. The second component allows employees who are not citizens or residents of the United States to defer a percentage of their compensation, and receive discretionary matching cash contribution. In no event shall the value of (i) the discretionary matching cash contribution made on behalf of an employee and (ii) the grant of deferred equity units made to such employees exceed 6% of the employee's annual base compensation. On July 19, 2003, the Board of Directors approved discontinuing this plan; consequently, no additional options have been granted.

A summary of the status of the DC Plan is presented below:

	December, 31
	2005	2004	2003
Outstanding at the beginning of the year	28,351	28,890	9,114

As of December 31, 2005, 2004 and 2003, expenses recorded were US$67 thousand, US$32 thousand and US$59 thousand, respectively.

(16) Financial Instruments with Off-Balance Sheet Credit Risk

In the normal course of business, to meet the financing needs of its customers, the Bank is party to financial instruments with off-balance sheet credit risk. These financial instruments involve, to varying degrees, elements of credit and market risk in excess of the amount recognized in the consolidated balance sheets. Credit risk represents the possibility of loss resulting from the failure of a customer to perform in accordance with the terms of a contract.

The Bank's outstanding financial instruments with off-balance sheet credit risk, were as follows:

(In US$ thousands)

		December 31,
		2005	2004

Letters of Credit and Guarantees

The Bank, on behalf of its institutional client base, advises and confirms letters of credit to facilitate foreign trade transactions. When confirming letters of credit, the Bank adds its own unqualified assurance that the issuing bank will pay and that if the issuing bank does not honor drafts drawn on the credit, the Bank will.

The Bank provides stand-by letters of credit and guarantees (including country risk coverage), which are issued on behalf of institutional customers in connection with financing between the customers and third parties. The Bank applies the same credit policies used in its lending process and, once issued, the commitment is irrevocable and remains valid until its expiration. Credit risk arises from the Bank's obligation to make payment in the event of a customer's contractual default to a third party. Risks associated with stand-by letters of credit and guarantees are included in the evaluation of overall credit risk.

The Bank issues stand-by letters of credit and guarantees to provide coverage for country risk arising from the risk of convertibility and transferability of local currency of countries in the Region into hard currency and to provide coverage for country risk arising from political risks, such as expropriation, nationalization, war and/or civil disturbances.

Credit Commitments

Commitments to extend credit are a combination of either non-binding or legal agreements to lend to a customer. Commitments generally have fixed expiration dates or other termination clauses and may require payment of a fee to the Bank. As some commitments expire without being drawn down, the total commitment amounts do not necessarily represent future cash requirements.

Other Commitments

Private Investment Fund and Other Investments

The Bank is committed to invest US$5 million in an investment fund whose main objective is investing in the Mexican export industry and its supply chain. Additionally, the Bank has an equity investment in a company specialized in digital identity solutions. These investments are recorded as other assets and are carried at cost. At December 31, 2005 and 2004, these investments totaled US$2.7 and US$1.3 million, respectively.

At December 31, 2005, the Bank did not estimate the fair value of these investments and has not identified any events or changes in their financial conditions that may have had a significant adverse effect on the fair value of these investments. The Bank does not consider these investments to be other-than-temporary impaired.

Purchase Agreements

The Bank has signed service agreements with certain vendors that provide services that are necessary for the ongoing operations of its business and mainly related to the implementation during 2005 and 2006, of a new technology platform and telecommunications services. The terms of these agreements are up to 8 years and some of these agreements can be re-negotiated for annual or semi-annual price adjustments, after the fifth year. These agreements also include maintenance and license payments, starting from 2007. During 2005 amounts paid under these agreements are US$2 million.

Under the terms of these agreements, the Bank has committed to contractually specified minimums payments over the contractual periods. The contractual minimums payments are:

(In US$ thousands)
2006	US$	5,498
2007		699
2008		699
2009		644
2010 and all years thereafter		3,388
		3,388
	US$	10,928

A certain portion of these payments will be amortized over the estimated useful lives of the assets.

To the extent that the Bank does not purchase the contractual minimum amount of services, the Bank must pay the shortfall to the vendors. The Bank believes that it will meet the contractual minimums payments through the normal course of business.

(17) Derivative Financial Instruments

The Bank records financial instruments that are considered to be derivatives on the consolidated balance sheets at their fair value. For control purposes, these financial instruments are recorded at their nominal amount (notional amount) on the memorandum accounts.

In the normal course of business, the Bank uses interest rate and foreign exchange derivatives primarily for hedging purposes in its consolidated balance sheet management activities. Interest rate swaps are made either in a single currency or cross-currency for a prescribed period to exchange a series of interest rate flows, which involve fixed for floating interest payment or vice-versa. The Bank also engages in some foreign exchange trades to serve customers' transaction needs. All positions are hedged with an offsetting contract for the same currency. The Bank manages and controls the risks on these foreign exchange trades by establishing counter party credit limits by client, and by adopting policies that do not allow for open positions.

Types of Derivative and Foreign Exchange Instruments

Derivative and foreign exchange instruments negotiated by the Bank are executed mainly over-the-counter (OTC). These contracts are executed between two counter parties that negotiate specific agreement terms, including notional amount, exercise price and maturity.

For purposes of asset/liability activities, the Bank uses the following instruments:

Interest rate swaps are contracts in which a series of interest rate flows in a single currency are exchanged over a prescribed period. The Bank has designated these derivative instruments as fair value hedges, cash flow hedges and freestanding derivatives.

Cross-currency swaps are contracts that generally involve the exchange of both interest and principal amounts in two different currencies. The Bank has designated these derivative instruments as fair value hedges.

Forward foreign exchange contract represents an agreement to purchase or sell foreign currency on a future date at agreed-upon terms. The Bank has not designated a hedging relationship to these derivative instruments.

As of December 31, 2005, the Bank had interest rate swaps for a notional amount of US$114.7 million and a recorded fair value of US$0.1 million. During 2005, the Bank settled prior to maturity certain hedge relationships accounted for as fair value hedges, and recorded US$2.1 million in other income derivative and hedging activities. These interest rate swaps were considered highly effective at reducing the interest rate risk associated to available for sale securities. As of December 31, 2005, the fair value hedge ineffective net gain of US$84 thousand was reported in earnings. There were no derivative financial instruments outstanding at December 31, 2004.

(18) Accumulated Other Comprehensive Income (Loss)

As of December 31, 2005, 2004 and 2003 the breakdown of accumulated other comprehensive income (loss) related to investment securities and derivatives was as follows:

(In US$ thousands)

		Investment Securities	Derivatives Financial Instruments	Total
Balance as of December 31, 2002	US$	3,001	(3,119)	(118)
Unrealized gains (losses) arising from the year		29,470	2,735	32,205

Reclassification adjustment for gains included in net income ⁽¹⁾		(206)	0	(206)
Balance as of December 31, 2005	US$	619	0	619

(19) Fair Value Disclosure of Financial Instruments

The following disclosures represent the Bank's best estimate of the fair value of on-and-off-balance financial instruments. The following assumptions were used by management in estimating the fair values of each type of financial instruments:

- (a) Financial instruments with carrying value equal to fair value
The carrying value of certain financial assets, including cash and due from banks, interest-bearing deposits with banks, securities purchased under agreements to resell, accrued interest receivable, customers' liabilities under acceptances and certain financial liabilities including, interest, other liabilities and acceptances outstanding, as a result of their short-term nature, is considered to be equal to fair value.
- (b) Investment securities
The fair value of investment securities has been based upon current market quotations, where available. If quoted market prices are not available, fair value has been estimated based upon quoted price of similar instruments.
- (c) Loans
The fair value of the performing loan portfolio has been determined principally based upon a discounted analysis of anticipated cash flows adjusted for expected credit losses. The loans have been grouped to the extent possible, into homogeneous pools, segregated by maturity and the weighted average maturity of the loans within each pool. Depending upon the type of loan involved, maturity assumptions have been based on either contractual or expected maturity.

Credit risk has been factored into the present value analysis of cash flows associated with each loan type, by allocating allowances for loan losses. The allocated portion of the allowance, adjusted by a present value factor based upon the timing of expected losses, has been deducted from the gross cash flows prior to calculating the present value. The fair value of the non-performing loans has been determined net of related allowance for loan losses.

(d) Deposits

The fair value of demand deposits is equal to the amount payable on demand at the reporting date. For time deposits, fair value has been estimated based upon interest rates currently being offered on deposits with similar characteristics and maturities.

(e) Short-term borrowings

The fair value of short-term borrowings is estimated using discounted cash flow analysis based on the current incremental borrowing rates for similar types of borrowing arrangements, and the carrying value approximates fair value because of the relative short period of time between their origination and expected realization.

(f) Medium and long-term borrowings and placements

The fair value of medium and long-term borrowings and placements is estimated using discounted cash flow analysis based on the current incremental borrowing rates for similar types of borrowing arrangements.

(g) Derivative financial instruments

The fair value of derivatives financial instruments and options is based upon quoted market prices.

(h) Commitments to extend credit, stand-by letters of credit, and financial guarantees written

The fair value of commitments is estimated using the fees currently charged to enter into similar agreements, taking into account the remaining terms of the agreements and the present creditworthiness of the counter parties. For fixed-rate loan commitments, fair value also considers the difference between current levels of interest rates and the committed rates. The fair value of guarantees and letters of credit is based on fees currently charged for similar agreements or on the estimated cost to terminate them or otherwise settle the obligations with the counterparts at the reporting date.

Fair values have been determined based on applicable requirements and do not necessarily represent the amount that would be realized upon liquidation. The following table provides information on the carrying value and fair value of the Bank's financial instruments:

(20) Business Segment Information

The Bank's businesses are grouped into three segments for management reporting and analysis purposes: Securities, short-term loans, medium-term loans, acceptances and contingencies (letters of credit, guarantees and other fee generating businesses). These segments are based upon products and services offered and are identified in a manner consistent with the requirements outlined on Statement of Financial Accounting Standard No. 131 (SFAS 131), Disclosures about Segments of an Enterprise and Related Information. The segment results show the financial performance of the major lines of business. These results are determined based on the Bank's management accounting process, which assigns consolidated balance sheets, revenue and expense items to each reportable line of business on a systematic basis.

The short-term loans (original term of up to 365 days) represent the Bank's principal activity, and constitute mostly short-term trade related financing to its stockholders banks and other selected commercial banks in the Region, which then on-lend to businesses engaged in foreign trade, as well as to state owned export institutions, and to private entities.

Medium-term loans (original term of over one to five years, and exceptionally more than five years) were mainly granted to selected commercial banks and corporations in the Region, to support the medium-term financing needs of the Bank's clients.

The contingencies constitute mainly guarantees and stand-by or commercial letters of credit covering commercial and country risk. This business segment is the primary component of fee income generation. Additional components of other income are commissions earned on loan origination. The following table presents certain information regarding the Bank's continuing operations by segment:
