PART II
RULE 12b-25 (b) AND (c)

If the subject report could not be filed without unreasonable effort or expense and the registrant seeks relief pursuant to Rule 12b-25(b), the following should be completed. (Check box if appropriate.)

- (a) The reasons described in reasonable detail in Part III of this form could not be eliminated without unreasonable effort or expense;
- (b) The subject annual report, semi-annual report, transition report on Form 10-K, Form 20-F, Form 11-K, Form N-SAR or Form N-CSR, or portion thereof, will be filed on or before the fifteenth calendar day following the prescribed due date; or the subject quarterly report or transition report on Form 10-Q, or subject distribution report on Form 10-D, or portion thereof, will be filed on or before the fifth calendar day following the prescribed due date; and
- (c) The accountant's statement or other exhibit required by Rule 12b-25(c) has been attached if applicable.

PART III
NARRATIVE

State below in reasonable detail the reasons why Form 10-K, 20-F, 11-K, 10-Q, 10-D, N-SAR, N-CSR, or the transition report or portion thereof could not be filed within the prescribed time period.

American Apparel, Inc. (the "Company") filed its Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2009 on March 31, 2010. The delay in this filing has caused, in part, the Company to be unable, without unreasonable effort and expense, to timely file its Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the quarter ended March 31, 2010 ("Form 10-Q") because the Company needs additional time to complete certain reviews and analyses with respect to the financial statements and related disclosures to be included in its Form 10-Q. The Company is working diligently to finalize its Form 10-Q.

PART IV
OTHER INFORMATION

- (1) Name and telephone number of person to contact in regard to this notification

(Name)	(Area Code)	(Telephone Number)

- (2) Have all other periodic reports required under Section 13 or 15(d) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 or Section 30 of the Investment Company Act of 1940 during the preceding 12 months or for such shorter period that the registrant was required to file such report(s) been filed? If the answer is no, identify report(s).

Yes  No

- (3) Is it anticipated that any significant change in results of operations from the corresponding period for the last fiscal year will be reflected by the earnings statements to be included in the subject report or portion thereof?
[X] Yes [ ] No

If so, attach an explanation of the anticipated change, both narratively and quantitatively, and, if appropriate, state the reasons why a reasonable estimate of the results cannot be made.

Net sales are expected to increase for the quarter ended March 31, 2010 compared to the quarter ended March 31, 2009, primarily as a result of an increase in net sales to the Company's wholesale customers, and also a result, although to a lesser extent, of an increase in net sales in the Company's retail business. The increase in retail sales was due to a larger number of retail store locations in operation in the first quarter of 2010 as compared to the first quarter of 2009. The Company operated 280 retail store locations as of March 31, 2010, as compared to 264 retail store locations as of March 31, 2009. The increase in retail net sales was partially offset by negative comparable retail store sales in the first quarter of 2010. The Company expects to report a larger net loss in the first quarter of 2010 as compared to the first quarter of 2009, primarily as a result of higher cost of sales due to increased manufacturing costs, and higher operating expenses related to the higher number of retail stores in operation in the first quarter of 2010 compared to the first quarter of 2009.

It is expected that gross margin will decrease for the quarter ended March 31, 2010 compared to the quarter ended March 31, 2009, primarily due to a change in the overall sales mix to a higher level of wholesale net sales which generate lower gross margins than the Company's retail net sales, and due to increased manufacturing costs. Additionally, compensation expense related to a stock grant to the Company's manufacturing employees in the first quarter of 2010 was also recorded in cost of sales for the quarter.

Operating expenses are expected to increase for the quarter ended March 31, 2010 compared to the quarter ended March 31, 2009. This increase is primarily as a result of the increase in the total number of retail store locations, which resulted in, among other things, higher occupancy, payroll, general and administrative and other store-related costs. Additionally, compensation expense related to a stock grant to the Company's retail and administrative employees in the first quarter of 2010 was recorded in operating expenses for the quarter.

Interest expense is expected to decrease for the quarter ended March 31, 2010 compared to the quarter ended March 31, 2009, primarily as a result of the reduction in the amortization of deferred financing costs incurred in connection with the extension of the Company's second lien credit facilities in December 2008 that were subsequently amortized during the three months ended March 31, 2009 in connection with the retirement of the related credit facilities in March 2009.

The Company is not able to definitively quantify the changes in net sales, net income, gross margin, operating expenses, or interest expense until the Company's preparation and review of the financial statements to be included in the Form 10-Q are completed.

Safe Harbor Statement

This Form 12b-25, and other statements that American Apparel, Inc. may make, may contain forward-looking statements within the meaning of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. Forward-looking statements are statements that are not historical facts and include statements regarding, among other things, the Company's future financial condition and results of operations and the Company's prospects and strategies for future growth. In some cases, you can identify forward-looking statements by words or phrases such as "trend," "potential," "opportunity," "believe," "comfortable," "expect," "anticipate,"

“current,” “intention,” “estimate,” “position,” “assume,” “outlook,” “continue,” “remain,” “maintain,” “sustain,” “seek,” “achieve,” and other similar expressions, or future or conditional verbs such as “will,” “would,” “should,” “could,” “may” and similar expressions.

Such forward-looking statements are based upon the current beliefs and expectations of American Apparel’s management, but are subject to risks and uncertainties, which could cause actual results and/or the timing of events to differ materially from those set forth in the forward-looking statements, including, among others: changes in the level of consumer spending or preferences or demand for the Company’s products; increasing competition; the Company’s ability to hire and retain key personnel and the Company’s relationship with the Company’s employees; suitable store locations and the Company’s ability to attract customers to the Company’s stores; effectively carrying out and managing the Company’s growth strategy; failure to maintain the value and image of the Company’s brand and protect the Company’s intellectual property rights; declines in comparable store sales; seasonality; consequences of the Company’s significant indebtedness, including the Company’s ability to comply with the Company’s debt agreements, generate cash flow to service the Company’s debt; costs of materials and labor; location of the Company’s facilities in the same geographic area; manufacturing, supply or distribution difficulties or disruptions; risks of financial nonperformance by customers; investigations, enforcement actions and litigation; compliance with or changes in laws and regulations; costs as a result of operating as a public company; material weaknesses in internal controls; interest rate and foreign currency risks; loss of U.S. import protections or changes in duties, tariffs and quotas and other risks associated with international business; the Company’s ability to upgrade the Company’s information technology infrastructure and other risks associated with the systems that operate the Company’s online retail operations; general economic and industry conditions, including worsening U.S. and foreign economic conditions and turmoil in the financial markets; and other risks detailed in the Company’s filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission, including the Company’s 2009 Annual Report on Form 10-K. The Company’s filings with the SEC are available at www.sec.gov. You are urged to consider these factors carefully in evaluating the forward-looking statements herein and are cautioned not to place undue reliance on such forward-looking statements, which are qualified in their entirety by this cautionary statement. The forward-looking statements speak only as of the date on which they are made and the Company undertakes no obligation to publicly update such forward-looking statements to reflect subsequent events or circumstances.
