ITEM 8.01. OTHER EVENTS.

On August 1, 2008, the US District Court for the Southern District of Texas (the “Court”) issued various orders and rulings in connection with the pending litigation between Quicksilver Resources, Inc. (“Quicksilver”) and Eagle Domestic Drilling Operations, LLC (“Eagle”), a wholly owned subsidiary of Blast Energy Services, Inc. (“Blast”), and a separate company, Eagle Drilling, LLC (“Eagle Drilling”).

The Court:

- approved Eagle’s motion for summary judgment on the issue of whether the three International Association of Drilling Contractors (“IADC”) drilling contracts, which are subject to the litigation, were properly assigned by Eagle Drilling finding that the contracts were properly assigned by Eagle Drilling to Eagle;
- denied Quicksilver’s motion for summary judgment contending that the substitution by Eagle of a Chinese manufactured derrick constituted a material breach of the IADC contract; and
- denied Eagle Drilling’s motion to transfer venue of the trial from the Southern District of Texas to the Western District of Oklahoma.

Additionally, on August 4, 2008, the Court approved an order granting a ninety (90) day continuance of the trial due to the illness of Quicksilver’s attorney and setting a new trial date for December 15, 2008.

Meanwhile, Reliance Oil and Gas has informed Blast that they are now expecting to deploy Blast’s AFJ rig #1 around mid-August to the Abilene location to begin conducting well stimulation services on the five well program.
