Citizens Communications Company Terminates Qwest Agreements Material Breaches Cited

Stamford, CT, July 23, 2001 -- Citizens Communications Company announced on Friday, July 20, 2001, its decision to terminate all pending acquisition agreements with Qwest Communications International, Inc., and today advised state utility regulatory commissions in nine states of that decision. Citizens and Qwest had entered into a series of agreements in June 1999 covering Citizens' acquisition of approximately 540,000 access lines in nine states for $1.7 billion.

Citizens told regulators that it terminated the agreements because Qwest materially breached certain representations and warranties with respect to the telephone exchanges Citizens was to acquire. Specifically, Citizens discovered that there is a material shortfall in the actual revenue coming from the exchanges it planned to acquire versus what Qwest had contractually represented. Citizens became aware of this shortfall through its acquisition from Qwest of approximately 17,000 access lines in North Dakota during the fourth quarter of 2000. While Citizens has negotiated with Qwest for some months to adjust the terms of the agreements to accommodate the revenue shortfall, no agreement was reached.

Citizens intends to seek all appropriate remedies available to it with respect to Qwest's breach of the terminated agreements, as well as remedies for claims arising out of the North Dakota acquisition that was closed last year.
