Inc. (NYSE, TSX: ITP) today announced that an agreement has been reached with its bankers and the holders of its senior secured notes with respect to certain covenants in its bank indebtedness and credit facilities. The modifications take effect immediately and address fiscal 2003 and onwards.

Intertape Polymer Group (IPG) Chairman and CEO, Melbourne F. Yull, said the changes are a result of the Company's better than expected debt reduction performance. "Improvements made during the current year were highlighted in our annual reviews with our bankers and noteholders. The Company expects total debt reduction to reach approximately $70 million for fiscal 2002. As a result, our bankers and noteholders have rewarded the Company's efforts by agreeing to amend our financial covenants. These revised financial covenants afford the Company greater flexibility."

The credit agreements were originally concluded during the fourth quarter of 2001 and contain financial covenants including limitations on debt as a percentage of tangible net worth, maintenance of tangible net worth above predefined levels and fixed charge coverage ratios.

IPG's Chief Financial Officer, Andrew M. Archibald, C.A., indicated that enhanced balance sheet management throughout 2002 has resulted in reduced debt levels which were incurred in prior years to support heavy capital expenditures and acquisitions. "The Company's effective debt reduction program gave our bankers and noteholders the confidence to relax the financial covenant requirements. We have completed our capital expenditure programs and are now focused on maximizing all aspects of debt reduction and plant utilization. This will result in lower interest costs as the Company draws upon less costly bank facilities and reduces the various interest rate spreads over both prime and LIBOR. The $17 million cost reduction programs announced this past September are well underway. These programs should be completed by June 2003."

Mr. Yull further commented that the changes are a clear indication of the confidence of the Company's bankers and noteholders. "These modifications provide the Company with greater financial and operating flexibility to open up additional opportunities for Intertape Polymer Group. This is a positive message from the Company's bankers and noteholders."
