PART III - NARRATIVE

State below in reasonable detail why Forms 10-K, 11-K, 10-Q, N-SAR or N-CSR, or the transition report or portion thereof, could not be filed within the prescribed time period.

The Registrant has delayed the filing of its annual report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2003, for purposes of (i) restating the Registrant's financial statements for the years ended December 31, 2001 and December 31, 2002 as a result of an internal investigation that concluded on March 12, 2004, and (ii) revising its financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2003 to reflect corrections of prior periods and the settlement of tax audits related to the Company's 2000 acquisition of Seagate Technology. The Registrant's Form 10-K could not be filed on March 15, 2004 because an internal investigation was only recently completed and additional time is necessary to complete the reaudit of the applicable financial statements.

The Registrant expects to restate its financial statements for the years ended December 31, 2001 and 2002, and adjust its previously announced financial results for the year ended December 31, 2003. On a preliminary basis, the restatement is expected to (i) decrease 2001 revenues in the range of $1 million to $5 million and decrease 2001 net loss in the range of $5 million to $10 million from previously reported results, and (ii) increase 2002 revenues in the range of $5 million to $10 million and decrease 2002 net income in the range of $5 million to $10 million from previously reported results. In addition, the Registrant expects that it will decrease 2003 revenues in the range of $10 million to $15 million and decrease 2003 net income in the range of $15 million to $20 million from previously announced results. The Registrant will also adjust its previously announced financial results for 2003 to reflect a settlement finalized by federal taxing authorities on March 15, 2004 of tax audits related to the Company's 2000 acquisition of Seagate Technology. The settlement is expected to result in an increase to 2003 net income of approximately $95 million. The combined impact of these adjustments is expected to increase 2003 net income in the range of $75 million to $80 million from previously announced results. The foregoing ranges and amounts represent preliminary estimates and there can be no assurance that further adjustments will not be required upon completion of the reaudit for these periods.
