SHAREHOLDERS MEETING Q&A
JUNE 16, 2003

IS IT APPROPRIATE FOR PROXY SOLICITATION FIRMS TO ASK SHAREHOLDERS HOW THEY HAVE VOTED IN CONNECTION WITH THE SHAREHOLDERS' MEETING?

It is typical for proxy solicitation firms to telephone shareholders to ask how they have voted in order to help the agency keep a running tally of the votes. Some shareholders openly tell the callers which side they are supporting. Others do not want to share that information. El Paso has instructed MacKenzie Partners, its proxy soliciting firm, not to pressure shareholders to reveal how they have voted.

CAUTIONARY STATEMENT REGARDING FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS

This release includes forward-looking statements and projections, made in reliance on the safe harbor provisions of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. The company has made every reasonable effort to ensure that the information and assumptions on which these statements and projections are based are current, reasonable, and complete. However, a variety of factors could cause actual results to differ materially from the projections, anticipated results or other expectations expressed in this release, including, without limitation, our ability to attract and retain qualified members of the Board of Directors; the successful recruitment and retention of a qualified CEO; the successful implementation of the 2003 operational and financial plan; the successful implementation of the settlement related to the Western Energy Crisis; material and adverse impacts from our proxy contest with Selim Zilkha/Oscar Wyatt; actions by the credit rating agencies; the successful close of financing transactions; our ability to successfully exit the energy trading business; our ability to divest of certain non-core assets; changes in commodity prices for oil, natural gas, and power; general economic and weather conditions in geographic regions or markets served by El Paso Corporation and its affiliates, or where operations of the company and its affiliates are located; the uncertainties associated with governmental regulation; political and currency risks associated with international operations of the company and its affiliates; inability to realize anticipated synergies and cost savings associated with restructurings and divestitures on a timely basis; difficulty in integration of the

While the company makes these statements and projections in good faith, neither the company nor its management can guarantee that anticipated future results will be achieved.
