PRESS RELEASE

FOR IMMEDIATE PUBLICATION

Highway outsources applications management to CGI in a contract worth more than £6 million (CDN$15 million)

London, United Kingdom, November 21, 2002 CGI Group (Europe) Limited (CGI) (TSX: GIB.A; NYSE: GIB) has signed an applications management agreement worth over £6 million (CDN$15 million) with Highway Insurance Holdings Plc (Highway), the UK's eleventh largest motor insurer.

The eight year contract follows CGI's recent implementation of its renowned insurance administration system GIOS (Global Insurance Open Solution) at Highway. GIOS helps insurance providers speed up claim resolution, improve underwriting accuracy and significantly reduce red-tape through the electronic automation of administrative processes.

The new applications management contract will enable Highway to benefit from CGI's specialist support services based from its GIOS centre in Bristol. It will also enable Highway to benefit from CGI's remote Unix support services for its production and development servers. In addition, CGI will dedicate technical services to support and maintain Highway's database systems on Oracle.

Stuart Davies, general manager and claims director at Highway Insurance Holdings Plc, comments: "The GIOS solution which was designed and built by CGI, has also been tailored to meet Highway's very specific requirements. We were therefore confident, taking into account our existing relationship with CGI, that the management of the applications would best be placed in CGI's safe hands. One of the other advantages of working with CGI is that the company also provides a very flexible service, tailored to our ever-changing needs. Consequently, the new contract recognises our long term partnership with CGI and is expected to bring significant cost and efficiency savings over time."

Gavin Chapman, managing director of CGI Group (Europe) Ltd, adds: "Highway's initial licensing agreement for GIOS included some support services. However, this new agreement will ensure that Highway now has a dedicated and flexible team on hand to handle all of its GIOS application and infrastructure support needs in a highly cost-effective manner. We have had a very successful 17 year relationship with Highway and this new contract will ensure that it continues long into the future."
