„ Overview

Alberto Weisser, Bunge’s Chairman and Chief Executive Officer stated, “The second quarter was characterized by good demand and strong margins. Bunge’s outstanding performance is a reflection of our skilled team and the value of our global and integrated network of operations.

“The quarter saw the announcement of our agreement to combine with Corn Products. The transaction, which we expect to close in the fourth quarter, will expand our operations into the highly complementary corn wet milling value chain. It will provide new opportunities for growth and a more diverse revenue stream by broadening Bunge’s product portfolio and by providing access to new geographic markets.

“Over the past several years, crop production has not kept pace with overall demand, which is driven primarily by the steady trends of global population growth and rising living standards in developing economies. Current agricultural commodity prices reflect this fact, as well as the higher cost of energy. The world needs a greater supply of grains and oilseeds, and in the near term crop prices should remain at levels that provide an incentive to farmers to produce larger harvests. This should lead to strong demand for fertilizer in regions with the greatest potential for agricultural expansion, such as Brazil. At the same time, a high price, volatile environment will require disciplined use of working capital and effective risk management.

“Meeting the long-term challenge of supplying a growing world with ample supplies of affordable food will require not only greater crop production, but efficient distribution and processing. As the world consumes greater volumes of agricultural commodities and food products, the value of these services should increase. Providing them is Bunge’s role, and we will continue to invest to meet that responsibility effectively and profitably.

“The billions of dollars we reinvest in our operations, whether in the form of working capital to buy farmers’ crops or in new assets, such as port terminals, processing plants, fertilizer mines and milling facilities, creates economic benefits for Bunge and the food production chain in general.

“We recently announced plans for significant new investments in the Brazilian fertilizer industry. Along with Fosfertil, Bunge will invest approximately $2 billion in coming years to expand our local production of phosphate rock and intermediate fertilizer products. This will increase Bunge’s internal supply and reduce Brazil’s need to import fertilizer raw materials.

., Second Quarter Results

Agribusiness

During the quarter, oilseed processing, grain origination and distribution results benefited from higher margins around the world. Risk management strategies worked well during a volatile period.

Second quarter results included a $117 million credit resulting from a favorable ruling related to certain transactional taxes in Brazil.

Fertilizer

The excellent performance in fertilizer was due to strong farmer demand and margins. Retail volumes were higher in the quarter due to product sales for soybean and corn plantings, which historically are purchased in the second half of the year. Soybean and corn farmers accelerated purchases because of favorable agricultural commodity prices and concerns about increasing crop input costs. Fosfertil volumes were lower compared to a strong period last year when it benefited from the retail industry restocking inventories. Minority interest increased in the quarter due to higher results at Fosfertil.

Edible Oil Products

Excluding a $14 million land sale, results declined primarily due to high raw material costs in Europe. Equity in earnings of affiliates decreased in the quarter due to lower results at Saipol, our French packaged oil joint-venture.

Milling Products

Stronger results were largely due to improved margins in wheat milling.

Second quarter results included an $11 million credit resulting from a favorable ruling related to certain transactional taxes in Brazil.

Financial Costs

Interest expense increased due to higher average borrowings, mostly resulting from the higher prices of agricultural commodity inventories which drove higher average working capital levels.

Foreign exchange gains, incurred primarily on the net U.S. dollar-denominated monetary liability positions of Bunge's Brazilian and Argentine subsidiaries, were $258 million in the second quarter of 2008. These gains largely offset the negative impact of foreign exchange on the valuation of inventories included in gross profit.

Income Taxes

The effective tax rate for the six months ended June 30, 2008 was 28% compared to 25% for the same period in 2007. The increase in the effective tax rate was primarily due to increases in operating earnings in higher tax jurisdictions.

Cash Flow

Cash used by operations in the second quarter of 2008 was $130 million compared to cash used by operations in the same period last year of $594 million. For the six months ended June 30, 2008, cash used by operations was $483 million compared to cash used by operations in the same period last year of $776 million. Improved year-over-year performance, despite the significant rise in commodity prices, reflects higher earnings and actions taken to increase the efficiency of working capital management.

„Outlook

Jacquelyn Fouse, Chief Financial Officer, stated, “Looking to the second half of the year, fertilizer fundamentals should remain strong. While growth in demand for some agricultural products may soften slightly due to the sustained period of high prices, agribusiness margins should be solid. Edible oils should improve from its performance in this quarter. In consideration of this outlook, we are increasing our 2008 full-year earnings guidance from $9.35 to $9.65 per share to $11.60 to $11.90 per share. This guidance assumes an effective tax rate range of 24-28%. This fully diluted per share guidance is based on an estimated weighted average of 138 million shares outstanding, which includes assumed dilution relating to our convertible preference shares.”

Reconciliation of Non-GAAP Measures

This earnings release contains total segment earnings before interest and tax, net financial debt and net financial debt less readily marketable inventories, which are “non-GAAP financial measures” as this term is defined in Regulation G of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. In accordance with Regulation G, Bunge has reconciled these non-GAAP financial measures to the most directly comparable U.S. GAAP measures.

Total segment earnings before interest and tax

Total segment earnings before interest and tax (“EBIT”) is Bunge’s consolidated net income that excludes interest income and expense and income tax attributable to each segment.

Total segment EBIT is a non-GAAP financial measure and is not intended to replace net income, the most directly comparable GAAP financial measure. Total segment EBIT is an operating performance measure used by Bunge’s management to evaluate its segments’ operating activities. Bunge believes EBIT is a useful measure of its segments’ operating profitability, since the measure reflects equity in earnings of affiliates and minority interest and excludes income tax. Income tax is excluded as management believes income tax is not material to the operating performance of its segments. Interest income and expense have become less meaningful to the segments’ operating activities as Bunge is financing more of its working capital with equity rather than debt. In addition, EBIT is a financial measure that is widely used by analysts and investors in Bunge’s industries. Total segment EBIT is not a measure of consolidated operating results under U.S. GAAP and should not be considered as an alternative to net income or any other measure of consolidated operating results under U.S. GAAP.

Net Financial Debt

Net financial debt is the sum of short-term debt, current maturities of long-term debt and long-term debt, less cash and cash equivalents and marketable securities. Net financial debt is presented because management believes it represents a meaningful measure of Bunge’s leverage capacity and solvency. Net financial debt is not a measure of solvency under U.S. GAAP and should not be considered as an alternative to total debt as a measure of solvency.

Net financial debt less readily marketable inventories (RMI), or net financial debt less RMI, is the sum of short-term debt, current maturities of long-term debt and long-term debt, less cash and cash equivalents, marketable securities and readily marketable inventories. Net financial debt less RMI is presented because management believes it represents a more complete picture of Bunge’s leverage capacity and solvency since it adjusts for readily marketable inventories. Readily marketable inventories are agricultural inventories that are readily convertible to cash because of their commodity characteristics, widely available markets and international pricing mechanisms. Net financial debt less RMI is not a measure of leverage capacity and solvency under U.S. GAAP and should not be considered as an alternative to total debt as a measure of solvency.
