Item 8.01 Other Events.

As previously announced by Zix Corporation (Nasdaq: ZIXI) (the Company) and described in its periodic filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission, the Company has agreed to settle certain pending purported securities class action lawsuits (the Class Actions) pending in the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of Texas, Dallas Division (the Federal Court). As part of the proposed settlement:

The defendants' insurer has agreed to pay an aggregate of $5.6 million, inclusive of claims of class members for damages and of attorney's fees and expenses for the plaintiffs' counsel for the Class Actions.

The settlement amount is well within the Company's liability insurance policy limits.

There is no payment of any monies by the Company or the individual defendants to the plaintiffs or their counsel in connection with the proposed settlement and there is no admission of any wrongdoing by the Company or the individual defendants.

The Company, throughout this litigation, has strenuously denied and continues to deny each of the allegations of wrongdoing and liability against it whatsoever. It decided to settle the Class Actions solely to avoid the burdens, risk, and substantial expense that would result from the continuation of these actions.

The proposed settlement has received the preliminary approval of the Federal Court, and consistent with the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, the class members will be provided notice of the proposed settlement and given the right to object or opt-out of the proposed settlement. The Court will hold a final approval hearing on June 16, 2008. Final settlement of the Class Actions is subject to final approval by the Federal Court.

More details about the proposed settlement can be obtained at www.zixsecuritiessettlement.com. This is a web site established by the third-party administrator that the Federal Court has appointed to administer the collection and payment of claims from class members who may be entitled to collect damages in the final settlement. The web site is not maintained or operated by the Company and the documents and information available through the web site are not part of this filing on Form 8-K and shall not be deemed incorporated herein by reference.
